KELLOGG ANTIWAR PACT RATIFIED BY 85-TO-1 VOTE

Senate Acts When Borah Permits Interpretation by Committee; Peace Aided, Coolidge Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—America's adherence to the Kellogg multilateral treaty pledging the nations of the world to renounce war was voted today by the Senate, 85 to 1.

Applause of the women-filled galleries echoed the announcement of the overwhelming vote. Mumblings and some hisses from the galleries greeted the reading by the Senate clerk of the name of Senator Blaine, Republican, of Wisconsin, as the only one recorded in the negative.

A vote was made possible when Senator Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee in charge of the treaty two weeks' journey through the Senate acceded to the demand for the submission of an interpretative report by his committee. He made the report with the stipulation that it is not to be considered as changing the treaty in any way or as demanding any reservation of it.

REPORT NOT ACTED ON

The report reiterated the previously expressed views of Senator Borah that the treaty does not curtail America's right of self-defense or that the Monroe Doctrine is a part of this country's system of national defense. The report was not before the Senate but not acted upon.

Last-minute attacks on the treaty were made by Senators Johnson, Republican, of California, and Glass, Democrat, of Virginia. Glass described it as "nothingness" not worth the price of a postage stamp." This resulted in Senator Borah rising in defense of the treaty, which was signed last summer at Paris by the representatives of the leading powers of the world. The single-worded instrument negotiated by Secretary Kellogg has been accepted by sixty of the sixty-four independent nations of the world.

BORAH DEFENDS IT

"When you come to analyze what is behind this treaty," roared Senator Borah to the crowded chamber as it came to vote, "and consider what there is behind all the other nations of the world, why should it be considered as impractical or as to lead beyond the power of man to attain?

"In the honor or good faith of the nations signatory to this treaty is there less than the honor or good faith of the nations behind all the other nations? After all, there is only the same honor and good faith behind any treaty.

"I say we have a better right to be suspicious of the motives behind war than the motives for peace. I challenge the statement that the most searching, profound and profound passion in the human breast today is the passion for peace. If it is organized it will control in international affairs."

COOLIDGE PLEASED

While Senate leaders were still talking about the agreement as the solution of the controversy over the application of the pact it was made known at the White House that President Coolidge believes the treaty will do more to stabilize conditions, give expression to the sentiment of the world and increase

RAINFALL PROBABLE FOR TODAY

Weather Bureau Forecasts Fair Weather Tomorrow After Intermittent Showers

With the arrival of a brisk rainstorm shortly before 10 o'clock last night, the local Weather Bureau forecast further unsettled weather and a probable continuation of the precipitation today. The Bureau indicates, however, the storm will pass quickly and leave clearer skies and moderate temperatures tomorrow.

As the low-pressure area is traveling southeastward, according to the Weather Bureau, with a fairly strong wind, the first visitation of the rain resulted in a generous drenching. With probable continuation today the rainfall is expected to come in intermittent showers.

During yesterday the temperature steadily stood between 52 and 55 deg. The rainfall for the season to date, exclusive of the present, is 4.68 inches. On the same date last season the measure was 5.76 inches. Normal for this time of year is 5.77 inches.

STORM AHEAD OF SCHEDULE IN MONTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Obliging the Weather Bureau by arriving not only on scheduled time but ahead of it, a low-pressure area swept into California from the Pacific Northwest today with rain and snow. In the valleys, the precipitation served to send the mercury up the tube, although in a few isolated cases cold weather continued. This caused snow where rain had been expected, principally at Chico and at Williams, Arbuckle and Maxwell in Colusa county.

Rain was general elsewhere in Northern California with the exception of Santa Rosa. The storm, the Weather Bureau said, is passing south and east, meaning clear weather tomorrow. Snow, however, is predicted for the high Sierras.

At Summit, the temperature rose to 30 deg., with indications that the present snow level of eighteen inches will be augmented tomorrow.

DAM BATTLE LAUNCHED

Arizona Acts to Halt Project

Utah Governor Urges That Ratification be Held Up; Wyoming Hesitates

The State of Arizona yesterday took the first step to block actual construction of Boulder Canyon dam, under the terms of the bill as passed at this session of Congress, when the Arizona-Colorado River Commission formally authorized Atty.-Gen. K. Berry Peterson to file suit in the Supreme Court of the United States against the measure.

The action, which defined the course of the State, where the strongest fight has been made against the terms of the project, was a sudden answer to hints in the past fortnight that the State might eventually decide to ratify the pact.

The Arizona action was coupled with other activities in States concerned in the project. Gov. Dern of Utah urged the Legislature of his State in his annual message to withhold action until Arizona should reach a decision. A more or less unofficial movement got under way in Wyoming to withdraw ratification, and a California conference between Gov. Young and officials in the southern part of the State was reported as having reached an agreement whereby Southern California communities will have a vested right in Colorado River water, brought through an aqueduct from the dam to the southern part of the State.

PHOENIX, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Arizona-Colorado River Commission this afternoon authorized Atty.-Gen. K. Berry Peterson to file suit in the United States Supreme Court to "prevent enactment of the Boulder Canyon dam project and to effectually stop the proposed construction of the dam," it was announced by Mulford Winsor, secretary of the commission.

The meeting of the commission was attended by the Attorney-General and plans for the suit were definitely decided on, with the full co-operation and advice of Atty.-Gen. Peterson, Secretary Winsor said.

WILL PICK COUNSEL

The commission has before it the names of "eminent counsel" both from the local bar and from the ranks of legal talent in Washington, D. C., from which attorneys will be selected to be associated in the fight before the Supreme Court "to prevent the unfair Boulder Canyon dam from being foisted on Arizona," Secretary Winsor said.

Suit in the high court will be filed immediately and steps are already under way to set the necessary legal machinery in motion, Winsor stated.

Recommending a program that, according to legislative gossip, is satisfactory to the most ardent supporters of "fight to the limit" on the Colorado River, Gov. Phillips today delivered his message to the Ninth Arizona Legislature, appearing in person before the Senate and House in joint session.

A vigorous policy in defending Arizona's rights in the Colorado River was the outstanding appeal of the executive's message.

TEXT OF SPEECH

The Governor said:

"The Colorado River problem remains to be solved. This question has been considered by three legislatures and six commissions of this State. Congress, after having the subject before it for seven years, has finally passed the Swing-Johnson bill. While this bill was modified in some respects before its final passage, as to the quantity of water required for our needs, it gives our State less water from the main stream than was allowed by the governors of the Upper Basin States at the Denver Conference. It does not allow to our State the water of all of the tributaries of the Colorado River within our borders, which California has frequently indicated a willingness to concede to us, and I believe it is not sufficiently clear and specific to assure us of the waters of the Gila River and to protect us against claims for water that may be made by Mexico.

"The bill does not make adequate provision to secure to our State the revenue we should derive from our resources used chiefly for the benefit of people living in another State. The City of Los Angeles pays taxes on property the city owns outside of

FOUR MORE PERISH OF COLD

Midwest Promised Respite from Severest Blizzard in Years, But Snow Also Due

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—A general respite from the numbing cold but more snow is in prospect tomorrow for the Middle West, which for eight days has suffered intensely from the extreme weather with resultant loss of life, property damage and disrupted transportation.

Temperatures rose gradually in the five States in this zone today. Early morning subzero marks in Chicago gave way later in the day to a temperature of 9 deg. above zero. Tonight's minimum was 6 deg.

COLDEST IN YEARS

Comparison of Sunday and Monday's mean temperatures with past records reveals that the cold snap was the longest and most intense Chicago has experienced in seventeen years. The mean temperature for the twenty-four-hour period ending at 7 p.m. Sunday was 4 deg. and for the same interval Monday, zero, leaving the average mean temperature for the forty-eight-hour period at 2 deg. above zero. This record for intense, prolonged cold has not been exceeded since January 3, 1912, when for forty-eight hours the thermometer maintained a mean of 8 deg. below.

The newest cold wave, which reached a maximum severity of 4 deg. below at 8 a.m., today contributed to four more deaths in Chicago. Two railroad workers, their senses numbed by the cold, were run down by trains. Two other men were found frozen to death in different sections of the city.

Numerous cases of limbs frozen in the cold snap or broken on icy pavements were reported at the County Hospital.

ANIMALS SUFFER

Animals as well as human beings have suffered from the intense cold of the past few days. Twenty horses, legs broken by falls on the ice, had to be killed. Hundreds of dogs and cats have been reported to the humane agencies of the city and taken in for care and shelter. Even some sparrows and pigeons were unable to withstand the weather and had to be brought inside for warmth and food.

Twin Cancer Specialists, Baffled by Poverty, in Despair Commit Suicide

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Twin brothers, who had been inseparable and who already had won recognition by their studies of cancer, were found dead today with a message pinned to the door of their flat, reading: "Life is not worth living." They were Dr. Arthur B. Smith and Dr. Sydney McKendrick Smith, the sons of an Edinburgh practitioner. They were 29 years of age.

The note pinned to the door read in full: "We have given our lives to cancer research. We have reduced ourselves to a state of poverty. Life is not worth living."

The young men had died from razor cuts in their throats, although one of them apparently had taken poison also.

They were members of various medical societies and had written and published joint papers on their researches, including a book on cancer. They had been educated together and had attended medical schools in Paris, Stockholm and Brussels.

FORD STOCK SKYROCKETS ON RUMORS

Canada Shares Soar to $890 and Drop to $710 Within Few Minutes

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The common stock of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., buoyed up by an assortment of wild rumors, soared $160 a share on the New York curb market today, only to tumble $180 within a few minutes when the rumors were laid to rest officially.

The stock, which sold as low as $510 a share last year, closed yesterday at $730, opened this morning at $825, and quickly rose to $890, the highest price in its history. It then broke to $710, but rallied to $735 at the close, recording a net gain of $5 for the day.

Rumors have been circulated about Wall street that the management of the company planned a 100-for-1 stock split-up; that the Ford interests were seeking to buy up all of the stock, and that the company earned about $5,000,000 last year. W. R. Campbell, vice-president of the company, issued a statement denying these rumors, and adding that the indicated earnings for 1928 show a deficit of about $4,000,000.

"This trading is due to the spread of fictitious stories concerning the company's operations," declared Mr. Campbell, "and I cannot say too strongly how much we oppose this sort of thing."

WOMEN TELL KEYES JURY OF $27,000 HOME DEAL

Exchange of Money During Asserted Bribe Period Gets in Record; Berman Ends Long Ordeal

Former Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes offered to pay $27,000 in cash for a home in Beverly Hills during the period that the State asserts he was accepting bribes from defendants in the Julian conspiracy cases.

Such was the testimony produced in Superior Judge Butler's court, where Keyes and five others are on trial for conspiracy to bribe, late yesterday afternoon when the prosecution placed on the stand Leatrice Vaughn, the first woman witness of the trial.

The witness, who gave her address as 1726 North Kenmore avenue, testified she was a saleswoman for Barton Brothers, Beverly Hills real-estate dealers, and that during March, 1928, Keyes and Mrs. Keyes began negotiations with her for the purchase of the house Keyes now occupies at 470 South Rodeo Drive, Beverly Hills.

PRICED AT $32,000

The house was originally priced at $32,000, the real-estate woman declared, but after a week's negotiations, Keyes, on March 26, 1928, offered to pay $27,000 cash for it and on the same day gave a check for $2500 to bind the deal. A deposit receipt signed by Keyes was offered in evidence.

On cross-examination by Attorneys Rush and Beirne for Keyes, Mrs. Vaughn declared that the property at the time the deal was made was encumbered with a $12,000 mortgage and that she later learned that Keyes had assumed that mortgage.

The real estate saleswoman was followed on the witness stand by Frances L. Crofts, escrow clerk of the Beverly Hills branch of the Security Trust and Savings Bank. This witness testified that on March 20, 1928, Keyes came into the bank and signed original and amended escrow instructions. At the same time, she asserted, he wrote a check on the Union Bank and Trust Company for $4000, another check on the Merchants' Trust and Savings Bank, Sixth and Main street office, for $3500 and produced $100 in cash, all of which money was in connection with the purchase of the house.

Mrs. Crofts was still on the stand when court adjourned. She will resume this morning, when she will be subject to cross-examination.

Counsel for the State went through the afternoon session of court without Special Prosecutor Clark, whose physician ordered him to rest at his home because of a slight cold. He will possibly be able to resume his place at the trial today.

WAS DRY SESSION

The testimony of the two women relieved what was probably the least exciting session of the court since the trial began, most of the afternoon having been used by Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart in reading into the records of the present case the closing argument made by Keyes to the jury that acquitted the outstanding defendants in the Julian conspiracy trials held in the early part of 1928.

The introduction of the Keyes argument was taken as a prosecution move that they might argue to the jury in the present case that Keyes "laid down" in his argument to the jury at that time so that the defendants might be acquitted. Jacob Berman, star State's witness for the prosecution in the present case and "the bright young man" of the Julian fiasco, has already testified he thought Keyes might have "crucified" him in the argument had he wished.

Keyes's argument to the Julian case jury took about an hour to present, although counsel for the other side had taken days for their exhortations, and other deputy district attorneys had argued at length. Moreover, in his talk to the jury Keyes stated that he did not think E. H. Rosenberg, one of the defendants, was guilty. Berman has testified in the present case that Rosenberg told him that he paid $125,000 to Keyes in an attempt to have the charges against him dismissed.

FINALLY EXCUSED

Berman was still on the stand for cross-examination when court convened yesterday afternoon, the defense attorneys using all their legal artillery in an attempt to break

CRISIS DUE FOR FOCH

Turn Fearfully Awaited

Personal Physician Spends Night by Bedside of Marshal

Stimulant Administered as Heart Again Falters; Clemenceau Ill

PARIS, Jan. 15. (Wednesday) (AP)—The Petit Parisien today says that the slight improvement in the condition of Marshal Ferdinand Foch noticed yesterday has increased early this morning.

PARIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—A crisis in the critical illness of Marshal Ferdinand Foch is fearfully expected early tomorrow morning upon his awakening from the sleep into which he fell late tonight. His physicians remained absolutely silent on the case, but this was learned from persons close to them.

Dr. Davenieres, personal physician to the former commander-in-chief of the Allied armies, was spending the night with his patient. It was the first time that he had done so since the marshal took to his sick bed and it was interpreted as a disquieting sign.

It was understood that caffeine had been administered as a stimulant in the early evening for the second time today. The marshal was understood to have gone to sleep at 11 p.m., which was several hours earlier than last night.

DEMANDS PAPERS

Marshal Foch awoke this morning late, but quite refreshed, having fallen asleep at 5 o'clock in the morning for four hours of sound rest. He immediately demanded the newspapers, which the doctors had forbidden him. Despite the protests of his wife, he insisted on having the papers and smiled broadly when he saw his own picture prominently displayed on the front pages.

"Am I as sick as all this?" he asked Commandant L'Hospital, his favorite aide-de-camp, who, with Gen. Weygand, the marshal's former chief-of-staff, had been permitted to see him today.

GEN. PAU BARRED

"All I can say is that I am cheered by the great fight which the marshal is putting up as always, fighting to the bitter end," said Gen. Weygand.

A sad scene was enacted in the large courtyard where Gen. Pau, one-armed veteran of the War of 1870, tearfully begged to be admitted to the presence of the marshal. Confronted with the doctors' orders that the marshal must see no one, Gen. Pau said: "I am an old soldier and I must obey orders."

Uremia, developing from a kidney infection after the marshal's original heart attack, is what the doctors attending him now fear most. In order to watch the kidney complication more closely, Prof.

Miss Wills's Parents Announce Engagement of Tennis Star to Bay City Realty Man

BERKELEY, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Formal announcement of the engagement of Helen Wills, tennis star, to Fred S. Moody, Jr., San Francisco real-estate dealer, was made by Miss Wills's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Wills, today. The announcement, in the form of a brief notice to the press, confirms reports that have been prevalent for the last two years and which partly were denied and partly admitted by Miss Wills less than a week ago.

At that time, she declared, there was "no foundation" to the reports whatever, and in the next breath said any announcement to be made would have to come from her parents.

HELEN WILLS

The date of the marriage has not been decided on, Mrs. Wills replied to a query. "It is indefinite," she said.

The romance is believed to have had its inception on the Riviera in the spring of 1926, when Moody, with his father and mother, was touring Europe. Moody was so much in the company of Miss Wills when she was playing tennis that rumors of their engagement got abroad at that time, but confirmation was refused.

Moody is 24 years of age, and in business with his father. The latter, in addition to being a realty dealer, formerly was a member of the State Harbor Commission. During the World War Moody shipped in the forecastle of a Shipping Board freighter and qualified for mate's papers when he attained his majority.

Miss Wills, when not winning tennis championships, has devoted considerable time to art and literature. She is a graduate of the University of California, has studied in Switzerland, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society.

Julian Case Argument of Prosecutor Read

Berman Ends Long Ordeal on Witness Stand

down his testimony. When he was finally excused just before Stewart began reading the Keyes argument he had been on the stand almost continuously for more than thirteen hours.

The final thrust on the part of the defense was an attempt by Defense Attorney Le Compte Davis to show that Berman still owed E. H. Rosenberg $9170.12, a debt that was incurred some time in December, 1927. Davis was provided with photostatic copies of an escrow agreement purporting to show the existence of the debt, but Berman asserted he had paid it off in less than thirty days from the time it had been entered into.

"Do you mean to say you paid this debt and haven't got a receipt or anything else to show for it?" demanded the lawyer.

"I do," snapped back the witness. "I paid him off a few thousand dollars at a time, some of the payments being witnessed by Rosenberg's brother, at his request. I didn't ask any receipt for it because I can safely say that millions of dollars changed hands between Rosenberg and myself without a thing to show for it; that was the way we did business."

YELLOW SLIPS

Some little yellow slips were more or less prominently mentioned throughout Berman's examination yesterday. The witness asserted that a large number of these slips, showing the disposition of money used by him in manipulating Julian stock on the market, were taken to the District Attorney's office before the Julian trials, but when they were returned to the receivers for the defunct corporation 106 were missing and never were located.

Among the same line of testimony, Bennett, badgered to rage by cross-examining attorneys, fairly shouted that he knew where the Julian money went and that he had made written statements of the facts to the former Chief Deputy District-Attorney Harold L. Davis in San Francisco directly after his return to California in 1927, and another statement to the District Attorney's office when he arrived in Los Angeles shortly thereafter.

Under questioning by Prosecutor Stewart, Berman asserted that neither of these assertedly revealing statements was placed in evidence at the Julian trials, although he contended that he made them voluntarily and entered no agreement that they were not to be used unless he turned State's evidence in those cases.

The guns of the defense legal battery again bombarded Berman with bitter cross-examination all yesterday morning without visibly denting that "bright young man's" apparently impregnable testimony.

Questions and answers shot back and forth between witness stand and counsel table so fast that at times the voices grew to the pitch of a fury; indeed, so acrimonious became the debate that Judge Butler was forced to interpose.

DEMANDS CALM

"Let us calm ourselves, there is no need for such a tempest," asserted the judge, his remarks somewhat quieting what had been a rising scale of retort between Berman and Defense Attorney McDonald.

Specifically, the witness was cross-examined on practically every bit of direct testimony he gave as a State's witness and again exhaustively grilled as to his motives for becoming a State's witness ,the defendants' counsel obviously seeking to force an admission that he was promised immunity by Dist.-Atty. Fitts. Argument on the latter angle grew so heated at one point that Fitts interposed.

"I'm willing to take the stand and explain for the gentlemen," he said.

Keyes resumed his cross-examination of Berman when court convened. The former District-Attorney tried to get admissions from the witness that he once went to the then Chief Deputy District-Attorney Davis and told Davis that he had been promised complete immunity in the Julian conspiracy cases by his attorneys, and that Davis told Berman that no such agreement had been made; that it had been agreed, however, that if Berman would turn State's evidence he would be allowed to plead guilty to the first count of the indictment and take his chances of getting a light sentence.

DENIES CONVERSATION

Berman denied that any such conversation took place.

Attorney McDonald then took up the questioning. He began interrogating the witness on his acquaintances with Lucien Wheeler, former deputy Department of Justice agent here and now chief of the District Attorney's bureau of investigation. Berman had previously testified that he retained Wheeler in an advisory capacity after Wheeler resigned from the Federal service and before he became identified in the county service, and that later Wheeler advised him to make a true statement to Fitts and the grand jury on the bribery conspiracy charges.

On cross-examination yesterday Attorney McDonald apparently sought to show that Berman retained Wheeler that the latter might use his influence in Berman's behalf in connection with the Federal charges against Berman, and the clash between himself and the witness grew bitter.

"I retained Mr. Wheeler in some personal family affairs that I do not wish to bring up here, but if counsel wish to go into personalities with me I will be glad to go through this entire case dealing in personalities with the rest of the defendants, including myself," snapped Berman.

DEAL ARRANGED

Berman contended that after he had retained Wheeler on other matters the latter suggested that he (Wheeler) see U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb and that later Wheeler saw Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart and arranged for the interview that led to him turning State's evidence in the present case. He repeatedly denied that he asked for or was offered any immunity for making his statement to the grand jury.

Berman admitted, in response to further questioning, that in spite of his confession he later pleaded not guilty to the charges placed against him.

"What was your reason, then, for entering the plea of not guilty at that time if you made up your mind to get it all over with and make a clean breast of it?" asked McDonald.

"Not hearing from the District Attorney what to do, or not being told what to do, I told my lawyers to plead not guilty with the rest of the defendants until the trial was being called," answered Berman.

"Do you want to know another reason why?" he snappe da little later after being heckled further by his questioner.

Judge Butler told him to give all the reasons he had.

"The reason I did not plead guilty, liberty looked awfully good to me, and the longer I could stall and plead not guilty I was going to do it," said Berman.

"Liberty still looks good to you, does it not?" he then was asked.

"It does."

ASK ABOUT FORGERY CASE

"Do you expect that you are going to be prosecuted on the forgery case that is now pending against you?"

Objections were raised to this question, but finally Berman asked to make the answer in his own way. He said:

"According to Mr. Keyes's own statement and others that it (the forgery and embezzlement complaint) was returned only for extraditional purposes, knowing I didn't forge anything or embezzle any money, and if anyone wants to know if I embezzled any money, I will ask them to go to Mr. Scott and Mr. Carnahan (receivers for the defunct Julian Petroleum Corporation) and ask for all the yellow slips of all the money I handled, and they will find every dollar accounted for except 106 slips that were missing out of the District Attorney's office after they were delivered to Loeb, Walker & Loeb and then turned back to the receivers and found to be missing, and the record of every dollar I ever handled is in the hands of the receivers, Scott and Carnahan, now. If you want to know who got the money, I made the statement in San Francisco and will go before the grand jury.

Mr. McDonald: Wait a minute.

ANOTHER CLASH

An element of what will probably be a part of the defense of at least two of the defendants came to light a short time later. Berman was asked if he recalled a note for $180,000, which represented money that was invested in Julian stock through him and his brother, Louis Berman. The prosecution objected to the question asserting that it was an attempt under guise of cross-examination to introduce defensive matter.

Defense Attorney Davis then spoke:

"He (Berman) said Ben Getzoff never had any interest in that stock. It is wholly responsive to a question that Mr. McDonald asked him, in which he said that Getzoff said to him if he presented this check (a check Berman testified he gave the tailor to make a payment on an automobile) that he was going to say that he had lost it on Julian stock, and the witness said that he knew he didn't have a dollar's worth of Julian stock.

"Now, we intend to show here that he knew he had, that there was a note given for $180,000, that his brother, Louis Berman, put in $20,000 on that note out of the witness' money, and Getzoff put in other monies, and it was made up to a total of $180,000 and this is in direct rebuttal."

Berman was permitted to answer:

"I knew there was a note, yes, but it was made out to E. H. Rosenberg."

"Isn't it a fact that that $20,000 was, in fact, your money?"

"It was not."

GETZOFF'S LOSSES

Defense counsel asked if Berman did not know that Getzoff had complained "bitterly" to Federal authorities and others about his losses in the Julian stock deals, supposedly amounting to about $25,000.

"Getzoff never said a word to me in all my connection with him about him ever investing a 5-cent piece or losing a dollar," replied the witness.

"Didn't he tell you that you had guaranteed Rosenberg against the entire loss and a part of it belonged to him?"

"He did not."

Defense Attorney Davis, representing E. H. (Ed) Rosenberg and Jack Rosenberg, was the next of counsel to cross-examine Berman.

Producing a long sheet of typewritten manuscript, the lawyer propounded a lengthy hypothetical question in which he asked if it were not true that Berman, after he had made his statement to Fitts and others, had not visited Ed Rosenberg in the latter's office, arranged to have Rosenberg meet Wheeler and tried to have Rosenberg also turn State's evidence.

Berman admitted he had visited Rosenberg and arranged a meeting with Wheeler, acting, he said, on Wheeler's suggestion, but denied that he had tried to influence Rosenberg to turn State's evidence. Berman said that in some manner unknown to him that Rosenberg knew that he had made a statement to the future District Attorney and grand jurors, and that Rosenberg accepted the invitation to meet Wheeler.

Dictaphones were frequently mentioned in this part of the testimony. It appeared that there was a telephone dictaphone in Rosenberg's office, and that later Rosenberg suspected that Wheeler was using a similar instrument when he talked to Rosenberg later the same day. Just what part the instruments played was not developed.

They Arranged Deal on New Home

Passing of Checks Explained

BANK EMBEZZLERS WILL BE SENTENCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Knudt Hoegsberg pleaded guilty to embezzlement here this afternoon, and will be sentenced tomorrow with Arthur Scott and Owen Sullivan, co-defendants, who had previously pleaded guilty. The three admitted embezzlement of $600,000 from the Anglo London Paris National Bank.

QUOTA LAWS FOR MEXICO ATTACKED

Foreign Secretary Says Legal Barriers Alone No Way to Stop Influx

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15. (AP)—Commenting on emigration of Mexican labor to the United States, Foreign Secretary Estrada said today that the quota under the Harris bill, which is now before the United States Congress, is impracticable. It will neither relieve conditions at the present nor in the future but will rather increase clandestine traffic across the border, he insisted.

The Foreign Minister added that his government had been conducting a widespread campaign to restrict the flow of workers across the northern border but doubted whether this had been successful. He sympathized with any effort made by the United States if it were in accord with equity and justice.

Senor Estrada is of the opinion that there is no relief to be found in legislative measures, the condition being an economic one. His view is that Mexican workers driven by economic distress will continue crossing the border even though in doing so they violate the laws.

British Papers Near Pact With Broadcasters

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—A settlement seemed near today of the dispute between newspaper interests and the British Broadcasting Corporation over publication by the corporation of a second weekly journal. The broadcasting corporation is prepared to receive representations from existing publications.

The new paper will appear this week but it is not to contain more than 10 per cent original contributed matter unconnected with broadcasting. The remainder will consist of reprints of talks which have been broadcast and comment thereon; articles relating to radio programs and news of the service generally.

The corporation says it has no intention of publishing further papers and will not accept more advertisements than are necessary, with the paper's other revenue, to cover the actual cost of publication.

Prison Control Inquiry Sought

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—A demand that the Committee on Prisons and Reformatories take immediate action on a resolution providing for investigation of California prison and prison-camp control methods is to be made by San Francisco Assemblymen tomorrow.

James L. Quigley, San Francisco Assemblyman, declared today that as soon as the Lower House Committee on Prisons and Reformatories is named tomorrow he and the other members of his delegation would appear before the committeemen and urge that his resolution be taken up at once.

Woodmen Leader Freed of Fraud

OMAHA, Jan. 15. (AP)—Without deciding the legal questions involved, District Judge Hastings today found that W. F. Fiter, sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Association, and other association officials were not guilty of fraud in connection with the sale of the Woodmen Building here in 1926 for approximately $1,600,000.

Suit to set aside the sale of the building, the lease on which was purchased by the H. M. Byllesby Company of Chicago, was instituted by W. B. Price and others, members of the Woodmen of the World.

BERMAN QUIZZED ON ROSENBERG

Deal for Confession and Asserted Attempt to Bring Defendant Into State's Camp Cause Bitter Attack on Story of Witness

Conversations purported to have taken place between Jacob Berman alias Jack Bennett, principal State's witness, and Ed Rosenberg, one of the defendants in the present Keyes bribery case, occupied most of the time of defense counsel yesterday afternoon in the cross-examination of Berman which began two days ago.

During the cross-examination attorneys for the defendants attempted to show a close connection between Berman and Lucien Wheeler who heads Dist.-Atty. Fitts's bureau of investigation. Also efforts were made during the questioning to show that Berman, after having confessed his part in the asserted bribery plot, attempted to bolster his story with a confession from Rosenberg.

Q.: By Mr. Davis: Then I will take up the specific matter. Did Mr. Rosenberg at that conversation tell you, "I know Lucien Wheeler. Do you remember I did him a favor a while ago by making an affidavit contradicting somebody?"

A.: Yes, he did tell me that.

Q.: Did you dial up the telephone as stated here, as I have asked you?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Did you say over that telephone to Mr. Lucien Wheeler exactly what I have asked you? Did you say as follows: "Hello, Lucien. This is Jack. That party will be up this afternoon at half past three."

A.: I said that he would be there at 3:30, yes.

Q.: And did you say, "yes, I have told him everything"

A.: No, sir.

Q.: Now that brings us down then to the conversation that occurred between you and Ed Rosenberg when you went back by appointment after he had seen Mr. Lucien Wheeler. Will you tell now to the jury just exactly what was said by you and Mr. Rosenberg at that time?

A.: The following day I saw Rosenberg and I asked him if he had been there and he said "yes," and I said, "what happened?" and he told me that nothing happened, that he told Mr. Wheeler that he knew nothing, that he had done nothing wrong, and therefore that he would not talk and he says, "I think he had a dictaphone there."

FEARED DICTAPHONE

Q.: He said he thought that he had a dictaphone there?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Did he tell you that Mr. Wheeler said to him at that time that he was not talking for Mr. Fitts?

A.: I related the conversation Mr. Davis as it took place.

Q.: That is as you remember it?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: But now I am refreshing your memory. Did he say that Mr. Wheeler said to him at that time that he was not talking for Mr. Fitts?

A.: He didn't tell me that.

Q.: He didn't tell you that at all?

A.: No, sir.

Q.: Do you mean to say you did not go into any of the particulars of the conversation then between himself and Lucien Wheeler?

A.: Exactly.

Q.: And didn't Mr. Rosenberg tell you at that same conversation that I have just referred to last as follows: didn't the following part of the conversation occur, "Did you see Lucien?" and didn't Ed reply, "Yes, yesterday afternoon," and did you not say, "Well, what have you decided to do? Did you find out what I said is true?" and did he not reply, "Jack, I will fight this indictment. I will not swear away the lives of men just to avoid the fight?"

A.: I said, "What are you going to do about Lucien Wheeler and his talk to you?" He said, "Nothing." He said, "I am going through." He says, "You know, after all that Ace really did try to help us and I am not going to turn on him at this time."

JUST REMEMBERED

Q.: Well, why didn't you tell us that a while ago?

A.: Because I just remember it according to your conversation there.

Q.: And did I not say as follows: "Well, Jack, you have your life to live and you must make the decision for yourself, but if you are going to do what you say you are, just tell the truth, and nothing else. However, I am warning you that if you attempt to implicate me in any way by lies I will never let up on you," and did you not reply, "Do not worry; I will be your best witness"?

A.: I said at that time—pardon me: Rosenberg didn't say anything about me not telling the truth. He says, "I will—" — I am trying to think of the conversation as it happened. He says, "If you can better yourself by going up there and being a State witness," he says, "I don't blame you a bit, but," he says, "stick to the truth," and I says, "I will."

Q.: And did you not say, "Don't worry; I will be your best witness"?

A.: No, sir.

TALK TO GETZOFF

Q.: Now, we will come down to another conversation that you had, you say, with Mr. Getzoff. Do you remember the conversation that you say you had with him with reference to paying him $5000 for his own services?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And that you went and talked with Ed Rosenberg thereafter with reference to that $5000?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And Rosenberg, you say, said to you that when this whole matter was over he intended to pay him $5000 for his services? Is that correct?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Now, all the services that he could render that you know of were rendered when the motion was made by Keyes to dismiss his case, wasn't it?

A.: That was not my understanding.

Q.: What services could Mr. Keyes render to Mr. Rosenberg except to induce the court to dismiss that case?

A.: I thought you were talking about my $5000.

Q.: No, I'm talking about Ed Rosenberg.

A.: I don't know what services he could render to Ed Rosenberg. That was none of my business.

Q.: So far as you knew, all the services that Mr. Keyes or Mr. Getzoff could render to Mr. Rosenberg had been rendered when the motion was made to dismiss the case that Mr. Rosenberg might become a witness in the case, wasn't it?

A.: No, sir. I would like to explain that.

The court: You may do so.

A.: In the conversation I had with Mr. Getzoff he told me Ed Rosenberg was going to pay him a certain amount of money for his services, for what he was doing for the Rosenbergs. Mr. Getzoff also told me if it was not for him that Jack Rosenberg would have been indicted by the grand jury, and it was his influence that was brought to bear upon Asa Keyes that prevented that indictment being brought on account of Jack Rosenberg being sick and afraid if he was getting on the stand he would spill the beans, as he expressed it.

"SERVICES RENDERED"

Q.: By Mr. Davis: Well, that was long before the beginning of the year that he had done that for Ed Rosenberg, wasn't it?

A.: Yes, but Rosenberg was giving him money right along.

Q.: That is what I am trying to get at. He paid him $125,000, and Mr. Getzoff had rendered all the services that he could for him, and Asa Keyes had rendered all the services that he could for him. What did you understand Mr. Rosenberg to mean when he said, "When this is all over I will pay him $5000"?

A.: That was for Mr. Getzoff personally, and Asa Keyes got all the rest of the money is what Mr. Getzoff said.

Q.: I will now ask you, Mr. Bennett, if you did on September 21, 1927, owe Mr. Rosenberg the sum of $9170.12?

A.: I did.

Q.: And you continued to owe him that amount down until some time in July, 1928?

A.: I did not.

Q.: How much did you owe him?

Q.: When did you pay off to Mr. Rohe this $9170?

A.: I did not pay it to Mr. Rohe.

Q.: When did you pay it to Mr. Rosenberg?

A.: Within a period of less than thirty days after that document was signed.

A.: Have you a receipt for it?

A.: No, sir.

Q.: Why didn't you pay it to the party that held this escrow agreement if you paid it to anybody?

A.: Because I paid it in parts over a period of time less than thirty days, two or three thousand dollars at a time.

Q.: Did you pay it to him by check?

A.: No, by cash.

NAMES BROTHER

Q.: Have you any one that you know of that ever saw you pay Mr. Rosenberg one cent of that $9,170.12?

A.: Yes: his brother.

Q.: Anybody else?

A.: Not that I know of.

Q.: Now, can you remember where you made him any single one of these payments, and where?

A.: In his office.

Q.: And Mr. Jack Rosenberg was present every time, was he?

A.: Not every time, no.

Q.: And can you tell any single amount that you paid?

A.: I don't believe I can.

Q.: Why didn't you pay it to Mr. Rohe, who was instructed to deliver you certain instruments upon the payment of that?

A.: Because I didn't have all the money at one time and Ed Rosenberg asked me to pay it as I could.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

Q. By Mr. Stewart: Mr. Berman, I understood you to say in response to Mr. Davis's question relative to the owing of $9170.12 to Ed Rosenberg that you had paid it in cash; is that correct?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And in connection with that, you stated that you had paid large sums of cash to Ed Rosenberg and not taken receipts, including the amounts so referred to in Mr. Davis's question?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: In the examination conducted by Mr. McDonald, reference was made to the failure of the District Attorney's office to return certain papers which had theretofore been delivered to the District Attorney in connection with the Julian case, and I understood you to say on your cross-examination that a large number of those papers had not been returned. Is that correct? Do I so understand?

A.: Not returned to me?

Q.: Yes.

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Are you able to state at this time how many of those papers were not returned to you?

A.: They were never returned to me at any time, or any part of them. They were returned to the receivers and an audit made immediately of them, and there were 106 slips missing.

The Court: Don't volunteer anything. Merely respond to the question and stop.

Q. (By Mr. Stewart:) How many were missing?

A.: One hundred and six were missing.

Q.: What were they?

"GIVEN TO KEYES"

Q.: And do I understand you to say that the missing slips were therefore delivered into the possession of the District Attorney, one of the defendants in this case?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: I now ask you to what those yellow slips referred, whether moneys, stock, or both?

A.: To moneys.

Q.: I will ask you, Mr. Berman, referring to the cross-examination of Mr. Keyes, wherein reference was made to your being in New York, Europe and elsewhere, whether you were ever arrested, placed in custody under a warrant of extradition issued from Los Angeles county, California"

A.: I was not.

LONG STATEMENT

Q.: Referring to the transcript on page 1042, for reference by counsel, I notice that you stated in your cross-examination to Mr. Keyes that you made a statement to Harold Davis, chief deputy District Attorney, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Donnelly, on the date stated of a 175 pages or more in length. Did you make such a statement?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Was that statement in writing?

A.: Yes, sir: I beg your pardon, it was taken down in shorthand but put into a document such as you hold in your hand.

Q.: Do you know who had possession of the statement after you made it?

A.: The District Attorney's office.

Q.: Did you make any other statement at that time and place or did you make any other statement about seventy-five pages upon your return to Los Angeles?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: How was that taken?

A.: The same way.

Q.: And to whom was it given?

Q.: The District Attorney's office?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: Now I will ask you to tell this court and jury if those statements or either of them were offered in evidence or introduced in evidence in the trial of the case No. 31043, in the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, at any time during that trial?

A.: They were not.

RE-CROSS-EXAMINATION

By Mr. Davis: Q.: Was there any promise on the part of Mr. Davis, Buddy Davis, that took that, that it would not be used unless you went on the stand?

A.: He mentioned nothing about it.

Q.: Nothing about it. Now you state here that you asked for a guard at the time that you were examined at the Biltmore Hotel. Who did you ask for a guard at that time?

A.: One of the gentlemen, I don't remember which, somebody that was there.

Q.: Had you ever had a conversation with those gentlemen before that, Mr. Fitts or any of the gentlemen who were there?

A.: No, sir.

Q.: Then will you explain to this jury how in the world, when you asked for that guard, did it seem to you that Ed Rosenberg knew all about it, when that was your first statement?

A.: Knew all about what?

Q.: Right there, just tell us—that is your reason you say that you asked for it because it seemed that Ed Rosenberg knew all about your statement?

A.: That wasn't the reason that I asked for a guard.

Q.: Well, now, just see if that is not it.

MR. SIMPSON: Read the record; it is in the court reporter's notes.

Mr. Davis: Well, that was your statement, was it not?

A.: No, sir, not the way I understood it.

Q.: Well, then, who else knew anything about your statement?

A.: I figured that if Ed Rosenberg knew it why other people could know it. It wouldn't be a secret.

COULDN'T FIND OUT

Q.: How did you figure that Ed Rosenberg knew what you were right then stating, and that being the first statement you ever made to any of those men?

A.: I tried to find out how he knew, but I couldn't find out.

Q.: How did you know he knew it?

A.: He told me two days later or the next day.

Q.: He told you two days later after you asked for the guard?

A.: I asked for the guard regardless of that because I knew that if I made a statement and I was to be a witness that it wouldn't be long before somebody got wise to it and I wasn't taking chances.

Q.: Then your first statement was not right?

A.: It was right.

Mr. Davis: Well, we will leave the record the way it is and that is all I want to ask you about.

Session's First Measures Signed

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—The signature of Gov. Young was affixed today to the first two bills to receive passage by both houses of the Legislature.

The bills were urgency measures having to do with routine printing of the State and carried appropriations totaling $73,153 to make up deficiencies in the State Printing Office budget.

WIDOW WINS FIGHT ON ACCIDENT POLICY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—The State District Court of Appeal ruled here today that Mrs. Mary Marderosian, widow of Parsiag Marderosian of Fresno, is entitled to $1200 on an accident policy issued to her husband by the Fresno Bee four hours before he died. The policy was applied for by Marderosian January 17, 1918. On June 19 the policy was mailed to the applicant about noon, according to records. Four hours later Marderosian was killed by an automobile on the highway.

Girls, don't worry about middle age

Lots to recommend it, if you keep fit

"I'll a sensible woman of 50 that I do looks like the older sister rather than the mother of her children, and she just laughs at you.

"In middle-aged," she'll declare, "and not trying to hide the fact. Why should I? Middle age has a lot in it for—that is, if you're well at today. I've done a good job of bring my family and now I can for myself. Do a lot of things I've always wanted to do.

"And Never had a doctor in my life except when my babies came. Never had the habit of dosing myself with pills and medicines, either. I just eat Nujol—all the time my babies were coming, and in between times, too. Probably I'll always depend on Nujol.

"For the healthiest woman is liable to be off by taking Nujol—especially at times when her system is apt to be thrown off balance and her regular functions upset. This pure product keeps your system functioning normally and naturally even under abnormal conditions. It not only prevents an excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal. It's these poisons that age people prematurely. Makes them feel old and tired and useless."

Nujol isn't a medicine or drug. For this reason it can't possibly disagree with you or upset you. It is simply a pure natural product. It works effectively without being drastic. This is important to women particularly on the occasions when they cannot afford to be upset.

Start Nujol now—whether you're in your teens or approaching middle age. Keep it up for three months. At the end of that time you'll wonder how you ever got along without it. Worth a try, isn't it? You'll find Nujol at all druggistores. In sealed packages only.

No Woman Will be Selected, Leaders Believe

Mrs. Hert Withdraws Name as Likely Contender

Hoover Will Not Leave for Florida for Few Days

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—There will be no woman member in the Cabinet appointed by President-elect Hoover. This is the interpretation Washington Republican leaders put on the formal statement issued by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, today in which she thanks those who have mentioned her name for high political place but practically declines an honor that has not been officially tendered by President-elect Hoover to any one in the Republican party of either sex.

Mrs. Hert's statement is brief and to the point and is regarded as issued to end all further suggestion in her behalf or of any other woman for a place in the Cabinet. It came almost at the same time that National Committeeman Matt Chilton of Kentucky was in conference with President-elect Hoover specifically urging the advisability of placing Mrs. Hert in the Cabinet.

SHREWDNESS SIGHTED

By many Republican leaders there is a feeling that Mrs. Hert had received positive information that no woman would be included in the Cabinet which is to be sworn in March 4, next. Her few words were construed as an effort to end the continual mention of any woman for a place in the Cabinet and those that carefully scrutinized the statement see that Mrs. Hert has been shrewd enough to step out of the picture with no damage to her prestige and with the added advantage of a lot of national publicity.

MRS. HERT'S STATEMENT

Mrs. Hert today made the following statement:

"There has been so much unfounded comment on my supposed candidacy for a place in the Cabinet that I believe it is only just to myself and others to say that I do not wish or expect any government post whatever.

"The discussion of my name in connection with a Cabinet post originated with the Republican leaders of my home State of Kentucky without suggestion or stimulation by me, and I appreciate the compliment they have paid me by this unanimous suggestion.

"My interest is in the work in which I have been engaged for four and a half years as head of the women's work of the Republican National Committee.

"It is often assumed that party service is given always with a view to some reward, but I am glad to say that there are many thousands of Republican women workers who find a full reward for their efforts in the thought that they are accomplishing something in behalf of the principles and ideals in which they believe. This was truer of the last campaign than of any other within my recollection.

"The women voters of the country helped to elect Mr. Hoover President and their chief interest now is in supporting him in the great task he has undertaken."

President-elect Hoover does not now expect to leave for Florida until Saturday or Sunday night and reports are that if his presence in Washington is needed he will return here about the middle of February and remain in Washington until he takes the oath of office when he will be installed formally in the White House with his family. Two of his principal callers today were Gen. Pershing, who may be offered the place of Secretary of War, and Gen. Crowder, former Ambassador of the United States to Cuba.

HOOVER'S CALLERS

President-elect Hoover had lunch today with George Lockwood of Indiana, who was in charge of his preconvention campaign in Washington. Whether Lockwood suggested the retention of Postmaster-General New in the new Cabinet is a matter of discussion. Tomorrow Hoover will receive several Senators and Congressman and former Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey.

Several members of the Republican National Committee called to discuss party matters with President-elect Hoover today, and more are expected to confer with him before he leaves for Florida. Among those calling today was Clarence Hamlin, national committeeman from Colorado, who is said to favor a Utah engineer for head of the Interior Department.

WESTERNER MAY BE NAMED TO CABINET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—President-elect Hoover was represented today by some of those who have called at his headquarters as having about made up his mind to appoint some outstanding far westerner as Secretary of the Interior and William J. Donovan of New York as Attorney-General.

Mr. Hoover himself is having nothing to say publicly about Cabinet appointments, and those who have made recommendations to him have reported almost invariably that he merely listened to their suggestions without giving the slightest indication as to his own views.

Appointment of Louis S. Cates of Utah as Interior Secretary was urged upon him again today, this time by Clarence Hamlin, Republican national committeeman for Colorado. Mr. Cates has the support of party leaders from a number of the Rocky Mountain States and in addition is a personal friend of the President-elect.

HOOVER TO DELAY WEST INDIES VISIT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—President-elect Hoover today informed callers that he will be unable to make his contemplated goodwill tour of Cuba and the West Indies before March 4.

Hugo Hartenstein and Luis Machado of the American Chamber of Commerce in Cuba say that when they urged the President-elect to visit Havana at an early date he replied that he will be unable to find the time for such a journey before his inauguration.

They added that he indicated that after his inauguration he probably will tour the West Indies in the course of a regular vacation. Mr. Hoover also is known to desire to visit Mexico City and at the same time to accept pressing invitations to go into Texas, one of the Southern States which returned a majority for him last November.

Film Capital Dentist Holds Candy and Tobacco Not Bad for Teeth

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Dr. John P. Buckley of Hollywood, authority on pyorrhea, at the annual convention of the Chicago Dental Society today suggested a Constitutional amendment which would prohibit eating of certain foods, but would permit smoking and eating of candy. He said, contrary to generally accepted opinion, neither good quality tobacco nor candy will harm the teeth to any great extent.

Dr. Buckley said in smoking the nicotine goes into the air in the form of gas and not into the mouth of the smoker. It stains the teeth but does not harm them, he said.

ACTION ON RATES GIVEN IN REPORT

Railroad Commission Lists Changes Ordered in Costs of Public Utilities

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Of fifty-five rate actions filed with the California Railroad Commission during 1928, involving utilities of all types, reductions were ordered in twenty-five instances, increases were granted in twenty-four and increases were denied in the remaining six, according to the summary compiled for the first time as an annual practice.

The report aggregates total reductions at $3,847,277 and increases of $628,580, or a net saving to consumers of $2,958,697.

In addition the commission lists reductions in the form of lower transportation rates and refunds or reparations to shippers, which amounted to the equivalent of $500,000 on an annual basis. A similar amount is listed as refunds to agriculturists on power.

Both the Los Angeles Railway Corporation and the Pacific Electric suffered in the matter of financial returns sought from the commission, according to the report.

The yellow lines applied for rates estimated to produce an annual revenue of $16,585,483 against a present revenue of $13,879,916. The commission refused any increases whatever, but when the case was taken to the Federal courts, the commission granted the increase asked on a temporary basis, pending settlement of the litigation.

The report shows that the red lines sought rates that would produce $13,515,000 in revenue annually, in place of which the commission ordered reductions which clip $1,406,000 from the revenue sought.

Exhibit Hall's Upkeep May End

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Discontinuance of the California Exposition Building at San Diego, which was used at the Panama-California exposition in 1916 and has been maintained since by the State, today appeared likely on the strength of an opinion handed to A. R. Heron, State Director of Finance, by Atty.-Gen. Webb.

The State made appropriations totaling $150,000 toward the building prior to 1916 and every Legislature since has provided money toward its maintenance. Heron advised the Attorney-General that the citizens of San Diego proposed to lease the ground on which the building stands to the State. The park site is owned by the city.

But Webb points out there is no statute authorizing the continued use of the building for State purposes and furthermore neither the Park Department of San Diego or the State Finance Department can legally enter into a lease relative to the property.

Opinion Raps Practitioners

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Attendance of an osteopath or a chiropractor in case of illness or accident need not be recognized by California insurance companies as proof of disability in applications for payment of health or accident insurance, in the opinion of Atty.-Gen. Webb.

In a ruling today handed to Insurance Commissioner Detrick, the Attorney-General says that a study of the law convinces him that a physician must be in attendance to justify the policyholder's claim for liability payment.

Osteopaths and chropractors, he continues, are not to be considered physicians under the terms of the law.

Mexico Murder Blamed on Cuba

COLOGNE (Germany) Jan. 15. (AP)—The executive committee of the league against imperialism and for national independence opened special sessions here today. Most European countries were represented, including for the first time, four Russians representing 11,000,000 soviet workers.

The delegates recorded a protest against the "dastardly murder of Julio Antonio Mella, a member of the council and co-founder of the league," charging that his shooting in Mexico City was the responsibility of the Cuban government.

TRACK CLEARED FOR FENN BILL

Vandenberg Predicts Senate Will Pass Measure

He Expects to Obtain Vote Before Session End

Report of Committee Shows Wrong to Millions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, announced today that he is working with Senate leaders on a legislative program which holds every promise of assuring a Senate vote on the Fenn reapportionment bill "well in advance of the March 4 adjournment."

The naval cruisers' bill, which is now the unfinished business of the Senate and faces a battle which may develop into a filibuster, is now the chief obstacle in the way of Senate action on a redistribution of House seats, and Vandenberg conceded there was no chance of crowding in ahead of the cruisers.

"But the general outlook is favorable," he said, "and I am quite confident we will be able to agree upon a program which will make a vote on reapportionment certain."

BILL WILL PASS

He reiterated the bill will pass if it is put to a test.

The Michigan Senator is continuing to hold up the bill providing for the taking of the 1930 census, and to which he intends attaching the reapportionment bill in the form of an amendment if the Fenn measure is blocked.

Mr. Vandenberg filed the report of the Senate Commerce Committee on the Fenn bill today and in doing so took the Senate sharply to task for its share of the failure to enact reapportionment legislation in the last eight years. As the result of Congress' refusal to perform its constitutional duty he declared 31,000,000 people in the United States are without the representation to which they are entitled.

MILLIONS WRONGED

"Failure ever since the completion of the 1920 census to make it the basis of a new apportionment has for the first time broken not only a constitutional rule, but also a time-honored tradition," the report declared. "It also has practically disfranchised millions of Americans who deserve the relief which this bill promises. Any perpetuation of this situation could be fraught with serious consequences. The chief purpose of this bill is to prevent such a possibility.

"The last reapportionment was made on the basis of the 1910 census which counted 91,641,197 people. The 1920 census counted 105,271,200. It is estimated that the 1930 census will count 122,537,000. The difference between the former and latter figure counts approximately 31,000,000, and approximately this number are without the Congressional representation which the Constitution guarantees."

SHIP BIDS CARRY PLANE PROGRAM

Atlantic Airlines Proposed to Speed Schedules

Offer of $6,782,000 Made for Leviathan

Highest Tender, $16,082,000, for Two Lines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Shipping Board received bids today for the purchase of two of its largest lines — the United States Lines and the American Merchant Line, and heard a proposal by one of the bidding firms to construct airships and airplanes for use in trans-Atlantic commerce.

The airship and airplane suggestion was included in the bid of Gibbs Brothers, Inc., and J. H. Winchester, Inc., both New York firms, which said it was their intention to construct airplanes and airships for use in conjunction with steamships. The airships would be used for regular trans-Atlantic flights and would eventually make bi-weekly crossings. The planes would be used for ship to shore and shore to ship service with steamers.

HIGHEST BID

The largest bid was that of P. W. Chapman, Inc., of New York, which offered $16,082,000 for all ships of both lines, and of this amount $6,782,000 was for the Leviathan, premier ship of the United States Lines.

This company also offered $460,000 each for the five ships of the American Merchant Line.

Sale of either or both of the lines is desired by the Shipping Board as another step toward the transfer of the government's merchant fleet to private operation.

T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the board, expressed gratification with the bids received.

DOLLAR OFFER

In their airship proposal the Gibbs and Winchester firms suggested that it would be best to carry only mail and express until the project had been thoroughly tried out and perfected, and it was considered safe to enter the passenger business.

The Dollar Steamship Company offered $505,000 for each of the five vessels of the Merchant Line. The Roosevelt Steamship Company of New York bid $455,000 for each of the same five ships.

The American Lines Steamship Company offered $6,000,000 for the United States Lines, offering to construct or purchase two new vessels to add to them. The bid proposed to pay 25 per cent cash and the balance over a period of five years. The same company also bid $300,000 each for the ships of the American Merchant Line.

SENATE VOTES FOR PEACE PACT

Blaine of Wisconsin Alone Opposes Treaty

Women in Galleries Cheer Blow at Wars

Interpretation Held Not to be Reservation

the probabilities of permanent peace than any other factor within his knowledge.

True to their promise Senators Reed, Democrat, of Missouri; Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, and Bingham, Republican, of Connecticut, who have held against the treaty for an interpretation, voted for ratification after Chairman Borah had reported the Foreign Relations Committee's interpretation.

ABSENTEES FOR TREATY

Of the nine Senators absent, it was announced that all would have voted for ratification had they been present. Senator Blaine, the lone opponent, had offered a resolution declaring that the Senate did not consider the correspondence of the other powers in connection with the treaty negotiations as granting them any reservation under the treaty. Senator Borah insisted this was not necessary and without a record vote Blaine's resolution was rejected overwhelmingly.

The name of Great Britain was drawn into the discussion in the closing debate just at the time Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, entered the diplomatic gallery. He became a very attentive listener.

Women who had marched to the Capitol earlier in the day from the conferences on the causes and cure of war to plead for approval of the treaty crowded the galleries during the afternoon. In the member gallery, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth heard Senator Glass declare that her father—President Roosevelt—had not been "fooled" by "these pious proposals of brotherly love."

GLASS SKEPTICAL

Announcing that he was voting for the treaty because he felt its defeat would be a "bad thing psychologically," Senator Glass said he did not want any one in his State to think he is "simple enough to believe that the treaty is worth any more than the price of a postage stamp in obtaining permanent peace."

Senator Johnson announced he also was voting for the treaty "under no delusions at all." He said it had been analyzed by its proponents "practically into disintegration."

As the Senate was about to vote and Senator Borah presented the controversial committee report, Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, wanted to know if Senator Borah had the consent of Secretary Kellogg to the submission of the report.

"I am acting on my own responsibility," Borah firmly replied.

"I have been trying to follow the Senator's leadership and that of the Secretary but I have gotten lost trying to keep up with their meanderings," Harrison continued.

"Well, the Senator has only to follow me and he will go right," Borah countered.

BREAK COMES SUDDENLY

The break in the deadlock over an interpretation of the treaty developed suddenly today after those demanding an interpretation of some kind yesterday had refused to yield even to White House pressure.

Chairman Borah, after a long opposition to such proposal, today agreed to submit a report from the Foreign Relations Committee with the understanding that it contain a paragraph stating that the report is not to be considered as a reservation.

With that understanding Senator Reed and others who had been demanding either an interpretative resolution or report, abandoned a prospective move to have the Senate adopt a resolution calling upon the Foreign Relations Committee to submit the report already drafted by Senator Borah.

While these negotiations were moving swiftly along, Senators Walsh, Democrat, Montana, and King, Democrat, Utah, held the floor in the delivery of lengthy addresses eulogizing the treaty. During the afternoon Senator Borah polled the committee on his report and with dramatic suddenness announced the decision to submit the document and a final vote was reached.

KELLOGG PLEASED

Secretary Kellogg, who negotiated the treaty with foreign governments, upon hearing of the Senate action, said:

"I am very much pleased that the Senate has given its advice and consent to the ratification of the general pact for the renunciation of war, without any reservations, amendments, or conditions."

Later the Secretary announced that notification of the unqualified ratification of the treaty by the Senate has been sent to all American embassies and legations abroad so that diplomatic representatives might advise the sixty-three other nations who signed the treaty on August 27, last, or were later invited to adhere to it.

The treaty will not become effective until the other fourteen original signatory nations have deposited their instruments of ratification at Washington. Five of the forty-nine nations invited to adhere to the treaty already have deposited in Washington the instruments of adherence. All but three of the forty-nine have officially indicated their intention to adhere. Those three are Argentina, Brazil and Colombia.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The report of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Kellogg treaty to renounce war, reads:

"Your committee on foreign relations reports favorably the treaty signed at Paris, August 27, 1928, popularly called the multilateral or Kellogg-Briand Treaty.

"The treaty in brief pledges the nations bound by the same not to resort to war in the settlement of their international controversies save in bona fide self-defense and never to seek settlement of such controversies except through pacific means. It is hoped and believed that the treaty will serve to bring about a sincere effort on the part of the nations to put aside war and to employ peaceful methods in their dealings with each other.

"The committee reports the above treaty with the understanding that the right of self-defense is in no way curtailed or impaired by the terms or conditions of the treaty. Each nation is free at all times and regardless of the treaty provisions to defend itself and is the sole judge of what constitutes the right of self-defense and the necessity and extent of the same.

MONROE DOCTRINE

"The United States regards the Monroe Doctrine as a part of its national security and defense under the right of self-defense allowed by the treaty must necessarily be included the right to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, which is a part of our system of national defense. Bearing upon this question and as to the true interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine as it has always been maintained and interpreted by the United States we incorporate the following:

(The committee here inserts quotations construing the Monroe Doctrine from the message of President Monroe on December 2, 1823, from the message of President Cleveland on December 17, 1895, from a speech by Elihu Root, July, 1914, and from a statement by Prof. Theodore Woolsey, June, 1914.)

"The committe further understands that the treaty does not provide sanction, express or implied. Should any signatory to the treaty or any nations adhering to the treaty, violate the terms of the same, there is no obligation, or commitment, express or implied, upon the part of any of the other signers of the treaty to engage in punitive or coercive measures as against the nation violating the treaty. The effect of the violation of the treaty is to relieve the other signers of the treaty from any obligation under it with the nation thus violating the same.

USE OF FORCE

"In other words, the treaty does not, either expressly or impliedly, contemplate the use of force or coercive measures for its enforcement as against any nation violating it. It is a voluntary pledge upon the part of each nation that it will not have recourse to war, except in self-defense, and that it will not seek settlement of its international controversies except through pacific means. And if a nation sees proper to disregard the treaty and violate the same, the effect of such action is to take it from under the benefits of the treaty and to relieve the other nations from any treaty relationship with the said power.

"This treaty in no respect changes or qualifies our present position or relation to any pact or treaty existing between other nations or governments.

"This report is made solely for the purpose of putting upon record what your committee understands to be the true interpretation of the treaty and not in any sense for the purpose or with the design of modifying or changing the treaty in any way or effectuating a reservation, or reservations, to the same."

ANTIWAR CONFERENCE CHEERS SENATE'S ACTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Announcement of the Senate's ratification of the Kellogg antiwar treaty was greeted late today with cheers and applause by the 1000 delegates at the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War.

The delegates during the morning had presented to Senators 10,000 resolutions of women's organizations indorsing the treaty. Following the announcement of the Senate's acceptance of the pact Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, presiding over the conference, declared that she regards "the vote taken by the Senate as the greatest triumph the world has ever known," adding that the treaty's supporters "cannot be too grateful to Secretary Kellogg and Senator Borah for their splendid leadership."

Tonight the conference engaged in an open forum discussion on the questions of the military and naval construction programs of the six leading world powers and the maintenance of their war establishments despite their signing of the Kellogg treaty.

CO-AUTHOR PUSHES TREATY IN FRENCH SENATE

PARIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister of France, and joint author with Secretary Kellogg of the multilateral pact for the renunciation of war, championed that treaty in the French Senate today. He said it is a great step toward universal peace.

"Adversaries of the pact in the American Senate said it would place the foreign policy of the United States under the dependency of the League of Nations, while opponents of the treaty in this French Senate assert that it would endanger the prestige of the League," said M. Briand.

"Let us strike a happy medium and say that the pact interferes with neither. It is simply a magnificent demonstration of the sincere desire of fifteen nations to outlaw war."

While the Senate was discussing the peace pact, the lower chamber passed an appropriation for the construction of one cruiser, six destroyers, six torpedo boats, six first-class submarines and one submarine mine layer. This constitutes the French 1929 naval program under

TREATY MOVE IN HOUSE BALKED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—By a tie vote the House Foreign Affairs Committee today failed to report the Fish resolution to put the House on record in favor of the Kellogg antiwar pact. The vote came after Chairman Porter had ruled that consideration of the resolution was not in order under the rules of the House.

TEXT OF KELLOGG TREATY FOR RENUNCIATION OF WAR

ARTICLE I. The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

ARTICLE II. The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means.

ARTICLE III. The present treaty shall be ratified by the high contracting parties named in the preamble in accordance with their respective constitutional requirements, and shall take effect as between them as soon as all their several instruments of ratification shall have been deposited at Washington.

This treaty shall, when it has come into effect as prescribed in the preceding paragraph, remain open as long as may be necessary for adherence by all the other powers of the world. Every instrument evidencing the adherence of a power shall be deposited at Washington, and the treaty shall immediately upon such deposit become effective as between the power thus adhering and the other powers parties hereto.

It shall be the duty of the government of the United States to furnish each government named in the preamble and every government subsequently adhering to this treaty with a certified copy of the treaty, and of every instrument of ratification or adherence. It shall also be the duty of the government of the United States telegraphically to notify such governments immediately upon the deposit with it of each instrument of ratification or adherence.

In faith whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty in the French and English languages, both texts having equal force, and hereunto affix their seals.

ARMY BILL PASSED ON TO SENATE

House Adds $10,000,000 for Inland Waterways in Approving Supply Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—With its figures altered to include a $10,000,000 appropriation for the Inland Waterways Corporation, the War Department supply bill was was passed today by the House. The $448,000,000 measure now goes to the Senate.

With the exception of the waterways amendment, the measure came through the House virtually unchanged. It is the seventh of the eleven annual supply measures to be passed by the House. Of the $10,000,000 the bill carries for inland waterways, $6,000,000 will not become available until the years 1931 and 1932.

The bill, covering the wide range of activities of the War Department, includes among its major items, $133,550,000 for the pay of the army, $88,788,000 for its various supplies, $33,359,000 for the Air Corps, $26,836,000 for National Guard activities, $50,000,000 for maintenance and improvement of existing river and harbor works; $30,000,000 for Mississippi River flood control work; $1,000,000 for Sacramento River flood control, and $10,000,000 for the Panama Canal.

SUMS FOR HARBOR AND SAWTELLE HOME INCLUDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—The War Department appropriation bill passed today carries $230,000 for dredging and maintenance of Los Angeles Harbor.

Other items include an allotment of $1,231,000 for the Pacific Branch Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, representing $70,000 for improvements and the regular annual funds for operation and maintenance; $123,000 for deepening the upper channel at San Pablo Bay and Mare Island; $240,500 for extending the breakwater at Crescent City Harbor; $350,000 for obtaining levee rights along the San Joaquin River, and $1,000,000 for flood-control works on the Sacramento River. This last item represents an increase of $600,000 over the amount provided annually heretofore and the start of a new apportionment under which the government is to stand one-third of the cost of the project instead of one-sixth as in past years. As an adjustment fund the measure also provides $4,370,000 in refunds to the State of California and local communities.

An appropriation of $150,000 is provided for construction of noncommissioned officers' quarters at March Field, Riverside. Other air corps items include $15,000 for an addition to the utilities building at Alcatraz, and $40,000 for completing the Presidio at San Francisco.

TRI-STATE COMPACT

"The solution of the entire controversy is by entering into a tri-State compact with California and Nevada, covering the division of water and of income from the use of our natural resources.

"Our State should stand ready to enter into an agreement with California and Nevada which will give us the quantity of water we require to reasonably satisfy our future needs, and which will clearly and specifically protect such water supply against the claims of Mexico and California. This agreement also should provide us with a guarantee of revenue from that portion of the power produced that is used for the benefit of the people of other States at least equal to what we would receive from taxation of dams, reservoirs and other works situated in our State and producing such power, if such dams, reservoirs and other works had been constructed by private capital.

GO TO COURTS

"If an agreement is not reached with California and Nevada which our State can accept, we must, of course, maintain our rights in the courts. In order that the commission may function effectively it will be necessary for you to make a proper appropriation for that purpose, including an adequate fund for the retention of the highest grade legal talent obtainable. It is for the Legislature to make proper provisions to protect the rights of the State in the respects I have mentioned.

"The term of the present Colorado River Commission expires in March. I suggest your immediate consideration of the creation of a new commission to take charge of the interests of the State in the Colorado River consisting of the Governor and six other members to be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Other declarations in Gov. Phillips's message included praise for work done on the new State code, a plea for "legislation to facilitate and encourage consolidation of rural schools" and for a retirement law for teachers, advocacy of an institution for the care of the mentally defective, a pledge to work for "the interests and preserve the rights of those who toil with their hands" and a demand for a careful consideration of taxing problems based on the reports of the State Treasurer and State Tax Commission. He specifically recommended "the elimination of certain interest charges, new methods of raising revenue and the collection of delinquent taxes."

WYOMING'S WITHDRAWAL MAY SOON BE DEMANDED

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Jan. 15. (AP) Withdrawal of Wyoming's ratification of the six or seven-State Colorado River compact may shortly be advocated in the State Legislature as a means of compelling an "adequate protection" of Wyoming's water rights.

As the Boulder dam bill as signed by President Coolidge allows six months for seven-State ratification and provides that construction of the dam may begin with six-State ratification after that time, the bill would not be in force if the Wyoming withdrawal proposal is successful, and Arizona and Utah continue to withhold ratification.

The withdrawal of ratification has been proposed here during a series of conferences called under the direction of the Casper Chamber of Commerce and attended by members of the Natrona county legislative delegation and a score of prominent citizens of the State, including two former governors.

BOULDER DAM AQUEDUCT PROPOSAL FINDS FAVOR

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Southern California communities each will have a vested right in Colorado River water brought through an aqueduct proposed to be constructed from Boulder Canyon dam to the southern part of the State.

At least, that is the text of a tentative agreement reached following a conference here between Gov. Young, John Bacon of the Colorado River Commission, H. N. Savage, hydraulic engineer of San Diego, and Senator Edwin Mueller of El Cajon, announced yesterday.

There is being contemplated legislation calling for a bond issue sufficient to construct an aqueduct to bring into Southern California a portion of the Boulder Canyon dam water. Should such action be taken San Diego wishes to participate, Mueller stated and the conference was arranged with the view of protecting that city's right to a fair proportion of the water to be brought through the proposed aqueduct.

The temperature there at dawn, 1 deg. above zero, was the coldest of the season. Continued cold and possibly snow, followed by another drop in temperature was predicted by the Weather Bureau.

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Traffic in Trafalgar Square was held up today by a crowd outside St. Martin's Church in which took place the wedding of Viscount Dunwich, eldest son of the Earl of Stradbroke, and Miss Barbara Grosvenor. The church itself was crowded with 600 guests.

DERN ASKS UTAH TO STAND ALOOF

Would Await Arizona Action on River Pact

Says Approval May Defeat Seven-State Pact

Act Reviewed in Message to Legislature

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—A definite proposal that Utah defer action on the ratification of the Boulder dam pact until after Arizona has acted, but qualified with the forecast that "Arizona will ratify the compact," was made by Gov. Dern in his annual message to the Utah Legislature today. The address sets a record for length, consisting of virtually 30,000 words.

Gov. Dern emphasized the position of Arizona today as regards the seven-State pact, taking an unequivocal stand that Utah shall await Arizona action before making a move toward the six-State pact ratification.

His concluding words are: "While there is an irreconcilable group in Arizona, yet there have been some political changes in the State and new developments have resulted which undoubtedly affect the attitude of the people of Arizona toward the question of ratifying the compact. In view of the situation I hope, and, indeed, believe, Arizona will ratify the compact, in which event no further action by Utah will be necessary.

GOOD OFFICES

"I, therefore, think it would be unwise for us to do anything until we see what Arizona's attitude is going to be. If she displays a disposition to enter into fair and reasonable negotiations with Nevada and California for a tri-State compact it will be clearly to Utah's interest to stand aloof until the outcome of such negotiations are known. If we rush back into the six-State pact, California will lose all interest in a tri-State agreement and the chances for seven-State ratification will be gone. We are, therefore, just as much interested in watching California's attitude as we are in watching Arizona's.

"We shall continue to extend our friendly offices to bring our two good neighbors into agreement, and I think I have sufficient reasons for feeling optimistic about the probable outcome."

DEMANDS LISTED

(1.) Seven-State ratification of the Santa Fe compact.

(2.) A treaty with Mexico preserving to the United States the rights to any water of the Colorado made available through development in the States, including equitable rights to the natural flow.

(3.) Acknowledgment that water within the State is the property of the State.

(4.) Acknowledgment that the State of Utah is the owner of that portion of the bed of the Colorado River which lies within its borders.

(5.) Full acknowledgment that the States have the rights to demand and receive compensation for the use of their lands and waters.

The Governor, discussing the measure as passed, indicates the acceptability of the law as it now stands as far as Utah is concerned.

POINTS WON

"Without going into any lengthy analysis of the bill at this time I will say that the second, third, sixth and seventh points in my memorandum were substantially incorporated into the bill, the last two embracing Commissioner William R. Wallace's plan for a comprehensive development of the Colorado River. The second point was to the effect that the four upper States should join forces to bring about the six-State pact if the lower pact plan failed. Point three contended for extension of the embargo on licenses by the Federal Power Commission until the seven States had ratified. The fourth point, relative to Mexico being told she could not share in any water development by a Federal government built dam, was not inserted in the explicit manner that was desired, on account of objections of the Department of State, but I am told that the point is fairly well covered. As for the fifth point there is doubt in my mind about the recognition of the principle of State ownership of water."

He continues: "At any rate, our efforts in the past three or four years have brought about marked improvement in the bill. We are now confronted with the necessity of deciding what Utah shall do next.

SHOULD DO NOTHING

"In my judgment, we should not do anything, at least for the present. Utah has consistently held out for seven-State ratification of the Santa Fe compact and even today the most ardent supporter of the Swing-Johnson bill will admit that, notwithstanding all the amendments that have been obtained, our rights will be better insured under complete seven-State ratification than under the six-State plan.

"The amendments that were forced into the bill were not all for the benefit of the States of the upper basin. Several exceedingly important ones were for the benefit of Arizona, and the Arizona Senators achieved a great deal in behalf of their State. For example, Arizona is now guaranteed practically the quantity of water that she agreed to accept at the Denver conference, and she also obtained a signal victory in the matter of the Gila River.

"Unquestionably, the final bill must be far less objectionable to Arizona than was the original bill."

There was no indication at the opening of the Legislature that any action in the way of introduction of a six-State ratification bill will be taken immediately.

Simplicity of cooling system is a feature of the new Ford

The purpose of this water plant is to keep the engine cooled to a temperature that will make it efficient in operation. If it were not for this, the cylinder walls would overheat and the pistons would refuse to operate.

The cooling system of the new Ford is particularly interesting because it is so simple and reliable.

When the radiator is full of water, the engine of the new Ford will not overheat under the hardest driving. Yet the action of the water is so regulated that it will not impair engine operation by running too cold in winter.

The cooling surface of the Ford radiator is large and there are four rows of tubes, set in staggered position so that each receives the full benefit of the incoming air.

The fan is of the airplane-propeller type and draws air through the radiator at the rapid rate of 850 cubic feet per minute at 1000 revolutions per minute of the motor.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The radiator should be kept full of water, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

As owner and manager of this important water plant, you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

The hose connections may also need replacement after long, continuous service. For these little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a competent job at a fair price.

MELLON LISTS DRY FUND AIMS

Details of His Opposition to Increase Listed

Added $25,000,000 Said to Be Unnecessary Now

Harris's Project Assailed as "Extravagant" One

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Secretary Mellon's objections to the proposal to make an additional $25,000,000 immediately available for prohibition enforcement are based on his opinion that it would "result in the extravagant use of public funds" unless the money could be allocated to specific uses.

His disapproval of the proposal, put forth by Senator Harris of Georgia, is detailed in a letter to Chairman Warren of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and made public today. Mr. Mellon wrote that while part of the money could be used to increase the border patrol of the Customs Service and other phases of the enforcement activities he does not "believe that any such large sum as is provided for in the present deficiency bill should be appropriated," until certain surveys he suggested have been completed and until it can be determined how any increased amounts could be "most wisely and effectively expended."

OTHER FACTORS

"The problem of prohibition enforcement has many ramifications and its successful solution depends not only on ample appropriations for the Bureau of Prohibition but on the activities and situation of other departments and bureaus of the government," the Secretary wrote. "The question, therefore, of whether an increase of $25,000,000 in the amount appropriated for the Bureau of Prohibition will accomplish the results desired by the Congress and this department, is not one that can be answered without a thoroughgoing survey of the entire field, for I assume, of course, that if any such large sum is to be appropriated, the Congress will desire it to be used with the utmost effectiveness and in a way calculated to bring about the greatest results.

"For instance, one of the major difficulties encountered in making the prohibition laws truly effective is the congestion in the United States courts occasioned in large part by numerous pending prohibition cases. It would seem desirable, therefore, if Congress deems it advisable to appropriate an additional sum of $25,000,000 for this general purpose that some consideration should be given to whether a part of this sum at least should not be allocated to the Department of Justice. As to the needs of the Department of Justice I am, of course, not in a position to express an opinion.

SMUGGLING PROBLEM

"The problem of smuggling is an important one. Its prevention is largely dependent, in so far as our seacoast is concerned, on the adequacy of the fleet maintained by the Coast Guard and in part on adequate customs force at our various ports; and in so far as our land borders are concerned, on an effective patrol of the borders. On account of our failure thus far to secure a satisfatory agreement with Canada, which in my opinion, would materially reduce the liquor traffic coming over the Canadian border, the necessity of a thoroughgoing survey as to the best means of increasing the effectiveness of our border patrol is apparent. This the department has recently undertaken.

"In so far as the Coast Guard is concerned, some time ago I instructed Admiral Billard to submit a report as to the adequacy of the present Coast Guard fleet, together with an estimate of the Coast Guard building needs over the period of the next five years.

"The problem of securing the necessary personnel under provisions of existing law applying the civil service to the Bureau of Prohibition and customs border patrol must likewise be taken into consideration. Up to the present time, it has been possible to make permanent appointments for only a portion of the service and it is anticipated that many months will elapse before provisions of the Civil Service Act can be fully applied through the furnishing of adequate eligible registers for the present positions.

USES POINTED OUT

"In so far as the Bureau of Prohibition itself is concerned, some additional funds could be advantageously used at the present time in increased investigational activities and in a well-considered educational program. Looking to the future, it will no doubt be advantageous to provide additional funds for increased border patrol of the customs service and an increased customs force at some of the principal ports of entry, and increased equipment for the Coast Guard.

"The Department desires, of course, to see every reasonable provision made for the adequate enforcement of the law, but I do not believe that any such large sum as is provided for in the present deficiency bill should be appropriated until the surveys above suggested have been completed and until it can be determined how any increased amount can be most wisely and effectively expended. In other words, I am not prepared to say that prohibition enforcement cannot be made more effective by the expenditure of increased amounts for this purpose, but I do frel that no such appropriations should be made until they can be definitely allocated to certain specific purposes, and that any other method of procedure will necessarily result in the extravagant use of the public funds."

Coal Operators Object to Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Senate bill drawn to stabilize the bituminous coal industry and which has the support of the United Mine Workers was described as "unsound economically" by William P. Belden, an official of the Ohio Coal Operators' Association, who testified before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Furthermore, Belden said the bill was objectionable because a commission which would be created under it to supervise the production and transportation of coal would interfere with the administrative rights of the operators.

CALDWELL SAYS RADIO PLAN BAD

Holds Commission System Not Effective

Return to Federal Experts Advocated

Would Retain Board as Appellate Body

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—O. H. Caldwell, member of the Federal Radio Commission, told the House Merchant Marine Committee today that the commission system is "illy adapted" for the government's administration of radio because it is not "suited to administer constructively, efficiently or competently a great advancing scientific art like radio."

Testifying on the White bill to extend the life of the commission for a year, Caldwell, however, said that "a commission of five may serve as an appellate body to pass on radio controversies" but that "certainly it has been demonstrated that a commission organization is not suited to administer" the industry. He added that the hearings of the committee have shown that the administration of radio deals with problems for engineers to study and handle.

MANNED BY EXPERTS

"The radio division of the Department of Commerce, which, as the law now stands," Caldwell said, "will automatically take back radio administration March 15, is manned with competent radio experts and engineers. It has an organization spread over the country where it is needed, equipped with splendid monitory and measuring apparatus, it has skilled men and the instruments to put radio into proper operation conditions."

If the law is left as it now stands, he contended, the administration of radio will return "to the expert hands of the Department of Commerce while the Radio Commission will continue to be available on call as an appellate court to see that radio justice is dispensed and that the rights of all applicants and of the public are safeguarded."

REALLOCATION DEFENDED

Caldwell defended the commission's reallocations to radio broadcasting stations last November, and the clearing of forty channels for use by high-powered stations. He declared that the commission had to make a complete revision of assignments because to make one change would have disrupted service on a third of the wave lengths.

The allocations were divided equally, he said, among five zones, and that these had been divided so that distant listeners and farmers can get the benefit of radio. He added that in making the allocations, the commission had taken away from cities and had given to rural sections some radio facilities.

High-power stations and clear channels were necessary to give satisfactory radio reception to all the listeners, Caldwell declared.

TAX BILLS MEET NEW OBSTACLES

Legislators Nervous as Quitting Time Nears

Resolution Adopted for Joint-House Hearing

Only Seventeen Days More Left for Session

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Representative

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Drafting of the tax bills of intangibles and banks and corporations, with only seventeen legislative days left in which to pass them, continues today to be the measure of major importance before the Legislature. These bills, of supreme moment to the taxpayers of the State, have not been distributed, even in tentative form, to date, and the legislators scheduled to adjourn for thirty days on Friday, are becoming nervous.

Another stumbling block in the way of their adoption appeared today when it was learned that the clause granting exemption from the 4 per cent net income tax to realty corporations must be eliminated, subjecting this industry to full taxation.

Efforts are being made however, to work out some middle-of-the-road scheme which will grant the real estate concerns partial relief.

The assembly today adopted the Senate's resolution calling for a hearing before both houses of the tax bills. This is not in line with the administration's plan, but it is believed Gov. Young must yield to a demand arising with unanimity from both wings of the Capitol.

DISSENTION CREATED

The State Tax Commission conducted hearings during the entire afternoon and evening, and other difficulties arose. The question of delegating powers to the bureau chief who will administer the income tax created dissension.

The report of the board of equalization released today, warns against hasty action and, by inference, condemns the commission's presumptive intention to abandon the gross-receipts tax on public utilities.

The legislative committee of the County Assessors' Association indorsed the tax plan of County Assessor Hopkins of Los Angeles, and intends to present a bill on intangibles to the commission tomorrow calling for a tax rate of 3 mills per $1 on these securities. It is likely, however, that the bill presented to the Legislature will fix this rate at 2 mills.

BANKS RAISE OBJECTIONS

Shortly after assembling this morning the Senate resolution, sponsored by Senator Merriam of Long Beach, was called up. Yesterday afternoon Assemblyman West, administration leader, declined to bring it on the floor contending that the more orderly manner was for Dr. Robert Haig, the commission's tax expert, to appear before the revenue and taxation committees of both houses. But the members are anxious to hear what the mysterious bill contains and it was intimated that adjournment this week will not be voted if some information on the bill is not forthcoming at once.

In the face of this determined attitude the administration leaders wilted, and the resolution was adopted. It is probable Dr. Haig will speak before a joint session Thursday.

The banking interests of the State, it is understood, will not agree to the real estate corporation exemption, because a tax suit might prove it to be "discrimination," the rock upon which the tax laws of the State have been pounding for two years. Assessor Hopkins some months ago worked out a schedule showing that if a 25 per cent offset on real estate taxes paid locally is allowed corporations, the same offset may be permitted the banks, with the loss of revenue negligible when contrasted with a biennial budget of $240,000,000. This straw may be seized by the administration before it succumbs in the welter of tax laws.

RUMOR GAINS CURRENCY

A rumor gained currency during the day that the commission is in such a quandary over the bill that no measure may be introduced until the Legislature reconvenes late in February, with March 4 the last day to adopt it. This plan is extremely unlikely, however, as it will insure the defeat of the legislation by members whose tempers are at the breaking point, particularly when they remember the injudicious haste of the administration in the tax program of two years ago. Practically every interest in the State is hoping for the success of the tax bill, but naturally all wish to see what form the measure is taking before it is approved.

The tax commission is expected to bring out a voluminous report during the recess period recommending that the method of taxing public utilities by gross receipts be discarded and the property of these corporations turned back to the counties for taxable purposes.

This supposed plan was hit by the equalization board report in the following terms:

"Whil it is true that economic changes may induce modification of methods of raising funds for public expenditure, it must be observed that radical revision of taxation should be had only in case of extreme urgency.

"The present revenue system has provided ample funds for State expenditures and has yielded a surplus which probably will exceed $20,000,000 at the end of the current biennium. These facts are not to be discarded lightly."

Discretion May Set Speed Limit

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—A motorist driving along the California highways will be guided by his discretion rather than a speed limit of forty miles an hour maximum if the Legislature adopts a measure introduced by Assemblyman Keaton of Long Beach.

Keaton's measure would abolish the forty-mile speed limit and let the driver decide whether he is driving safely or recklessly. If he is caught doing the latter the penalty will be quite clearly specified.

LION HUNTER'S TROPHY HUGE

Eight-foot Catamount Slain in Glenn County Deemed Largest in Years

WILLOWS, Jan. 15. (AP)—Bill Byce today showed the pelt of a 200-pound mountain lion killed on Bowman Ridge. The beast measured eight feet one inch from tip to tip—the largest killed in Glenn county's mountains in years.

NEW SWING BILL AIMED AT LOBBYING

Measure Planned to Curb Activities in Legislative Halls Goes to Committee

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—A bill that would promote "purity of legislation" was introduced in the upper house during the afternoon by Senator Swing of San Bernardino.

The proposed measure is aimed at lobbyists without naming them as such. Senator Swing refers to them as "advocates" and to lobbying as "advocating" in the language of the bill.

"Advocates" under the provisions of the measure are defined and any persons engaged in "influencing or attempting to influence or to prevent" legislation by the Legislature would be required to register as prescribed in the purity-of-both houses and would be required to file a written statement setting forth the names of the persons, companies, associations or corporations by which he is employed.

Lobbyists would be placed on the same plane with candidates for office as prescribed in the Purity-of-elections law and under terms of Swing's bill would be required to file with the Secretary of State monthly statements of their expenditures in "advocating" legislation.

The failure of an "advocate" to comply with this provision of the bill would make the lobbyist guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $300 or imprisonment in the County Jail for six months or both.

Senator Swing, after a short debate, succeeded in having his "advocate" bill referred to the judiciary committee.

GOLD MEDAL PAYS HONOR TO MATHER

Scenic Society Makes Its Year's Awards for Service to National Parks

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Announcement of three awards for distinguished park service was made tonight at the annual meeting of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society.

The awards are: Gold medal, Stephen T. Mather, director of National Park Service; silver medal, Duncan MacDuffie, San Francisco, chairman of the California State Parks Council; bronze medal, Mrs. Beatrice Ward Nelson, Charlottesville, Va., executive secretary of the National Conference of State Parks.

Dr. George F. Kunz, president of the society, announced that a fund has been established by Chester D. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y., to provide for the Hon. Cornelius Amory Pugsley medal which is to be awarded annually by the society for the most important park service in the United States.

Election Law Bills Entered

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Perpetual registration of voters would be provided by a measure introduced in the State Senate today by Senator Weller of Glendale, who submitted several bills also amending the primary election law.

Under the provisions of the perpetual registration bill, failure of an elector to vote at a general election would invalidate registration, as would a change of residence, and would require that the voter re-register.

Three Men Die When Gas Blast Blows Up Home

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.) Jan. 15. (AP)—Three persons were killed and several others seriously injured late today when an explosion of gas in the basement of a "rescue home" wrecked the three-story building and buried eight persons beneath debris.

F. D. Sherman, Oak Park (Ill.) bond salesman, who was standing on the street in front of the building, was struck by a large pile of rocks and killed. Habeeb Nasher, a Syrian grocer, whose store was next to the mission, died in a hospital from shock. Alex Lloyd, 55 years of age, laborer, was caught by falling walls and crushed to death.

Coal thrown into the basement is said to have broken a gas pipe, and the escaping gas was ignited by a stove.

Miss Pinchot Has Baby Boy

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) Miss Rosamond Pinchot, in private life Mrs. William G. Gaston, is the mother of a baby boy, it was revealed at her home here today.

The baby was born Saturday. Both he and his mother are "doing splendidly," it was said in the Gaston home. Miss Pinchot played the part of the nun in "The Miracle."

GOVERNOR WINS IN UPPER HOUSE

Committee Assignments Held Victory for Young

Fight Looms for Assembly Leadership Today

Los Angeles Men Slighted in Senate Division

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Safe and secure, so far as Senate committees are concerned, the Young administration is prepared to control and direct legislation in at least one brnach of the Legislature. The committee assignments, announced today by Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan of Los Angeles, indicate that the administration looks forward to hard sledding at this session.

Tomorrow the committee assignments in the Assembly are to be announced, and, according to reliable information, will balance the administration strength in Senate committees. Speaker Levey is from San Francisco and is understood to be in accord with Boss Finn's plan to discipline the Young administration. There is considerable doubt, however, as to whether the administration can control the body of the Senate, despite the so-called stacked committees.

In the Senate there are forty members and forty committees, so each Senator gets a chairmanship. Therefore, each of the eight Los Angeles members is given a chairmanship. It is common knowledge that each of the eight is generally in opposition to Young's policies.

The Los Angeles chairmanships are as follows: Weller, banking; Evans, conservation; Carter, contingent expenses; McKinley, corporations; Merriam, elections; Rochester, manufactures; Lyon, municipal corporations; Pedrotti, prisons and reformatories.

A comparison with the assignments given two years ago by Buron Fitts, then Lieutenant-Governor, reveals that the Los Angeles delegation has been relegated toward obscurity. Four assignments remain the same, namely, conservation, corporations, municipal corporations and prisons and reformatories. But two years ago the other four Los Angeles Senators were chairmen of constitutional amendments, fish and game, commerce and navigation, reapportionment. These committees, all of great importance, go to other counties, while in their place Los Angeles gets banking, a good assignment, but the other three are contingent expenses, elections and manufactures.

While Los Angeles has three new members in the Senate, they are all legislative veterans. Carter has been in the Senate before and has served in nine legislatures; Merriam was twice Speaker of the Assembly and Rochester was an Assemblyman last session.

Insurgents in Mexico Active in Three Areas

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15. (AP)—El Universal said today that eight insurgents had been killed in attempting to ambush Federal forces near Poncitlan, State of Jalisco.

Twenty-three insurgents surrendered to the government at Pochutla, State of Oaxaca. It was expected that others in the region would soon lay down their arms.

An insurgent chieftain at Frias, State of Guanajuato, demanded 50,000 pesos ($25,000) ransom for the Mexican millionaire Ugalde Vargas of Queretaro who was captured recently. Federal troops are pursuing the kidnapers in attempt to rescue their prisoner.

Ducks Favored, Quail Reverse

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Ducks and quail had their day in the State Legislature today with the introduction in the upper house of two bills by Senator Swing of San Bernardino on ducks and one by Senator Cassidy of Auburn regulating the season on mountain quail.

Senator Swing would reduce the wild duck limit from twenty-five birds to fifteen in one proposed measure, and in another would limit the hunting days during open season to three a week.

Change of the opening date of the mountain-quail season from December 1 to November 1 is sought by Senator Cassidy in his bill.

Why, you'll recognize them at a glance as the type of garments which sell everywhere for $35 to $40. Most probably you've PAID that much yourself for them... And here are the same sterling fabrics of national fame, the same splendidly designed models, the same quality of fine hand-tailoring—at just $22.50!

Tilton's cuts your clothing bill through a dynamic system

Today, America's biggest businesses say: "To cut costs, we must specialize, we must manufacture in tremendous volume and distribute economically." That's the success secret of America's industrial and commercial giants. It is likewise the secret of Tilton's huge success,—the reason why behind Tilton's wonder values. Here are money-saving methods which Tilton's uses to bring you finer clothes for less money:

1. The Factory-to-you System... It saves many middlemen's profits, traveling salesmen's expenses and commissions. 2. One Price Specialization... $22.50 only. Concentrating all our efforts on this one price cuts waste, reduces manufacturing costs, multiplies volume. 3. Chain Store Operation... This multiplies volume again for Tilton factories and also reduces retail operating costs through centralized control. 4. Cash Business Only... A policy which eliminates costly charge account systems and unavoidable credit losses. 5. Upstairs Location... This is an important item because it saves thousands of dollars in rent and extravagances.

New Spring Models & Colors

OIL WAR SHIFTS TO WALL STREET

Large Number of Shares in Standard Sold

Rockefeller and Stewart Forces Seek Votes

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) The battle of proxies between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Col. Robert W. Stewart moved into the open today as the scene of the conflict shifted from Chicago to Wall street. Standard Oil of Indiana stock shot up nearly $9 a share on the curb market to within a fraction of 100, and 70,800 shares changed hands.

A statement was issued on behalf of Mr. Rockefeller, who is en route to Egypt, by Thomas M. Debevoise, an associate, reiterating the Rockefeller opposition to Col. Stewart remaining as chairman of the board of the Indiana company and stating that Col. Stewart has twice promised to resign.

Every floating share of stock that could be bought was taken at rising prices and at the close Standard of Indiana was bubbling at 97 with a net gain of 5 7-8 points on the day. The stock rose from an opening of 92 to 99 3-4 before noon, an advance of about 9 points from its previous close and a gain of more than 10 points for two days.

VOTES SOUGHT

The financial district is confident that the market activity represents competitive buying by opposing sides in order to get votes for the annual meeting of March 7, next.

While Standard of Indiana was climbing on the curb there were reports current in the financial district that Mr. Rockefeller had cabled from Naples for his associates to increase his holdings in the Indiana company by buying in the open market. This report along with another that Mr. Rockefeller might seek an entirely new board of directors at the March 7 meeting went through the day without confirmation other than what the stock's action on the curb offered.

So far Col. Stewart's forces, on the surface appear to have the edge in competitive buying. In the opinion of brokers who have found themselves projected into the thick of the fight the present collection of proxies is being made by friends of Col. Stewart. No organized canvass, so far as could be learned, has been undertaken on behalf of Mr. Rockefeller.

PROXIES SOLICITED

The Stewart forces are openly soliciting proxies for their leader but they insist they are buying for themselves without any suggestion from him.

Nevertheless, brokers predicted this afternoon that when the dust of battle clears away it will be discovered that a large part of the floating supply has been stowed away for Mr. Rockefeller.

There was some outside buying by traders, who believe the price will climb daily as the fight grows hotter. They are dreaming of fancy prices for the Standard of Indiana stock just before the March meeting.

Some of today's transactions were small, being in lots of 100, 200 and 300 shares. However, the opening sale at 92 was in a lot of 1000 shares and as the demand increased and the price move up the lots increased in size to 700, 800 and 1000 shares.

BROKERS NEUTRAL

In stock exchange houses it was said the brokers are leaving the matter entirely up to shareholders to designate which side they prefer their proxy to go. The procedure for some houses carrying Indiana stock is to send a letter to shareholders explaining the differences between Mr. Rockefeller and Col. Stewart and then ask the shareholders to designate how he wants his proxy voted. This is considered favorable to the Rockefeller side.

When Mr. Debevoise issued the statement in behalf of Mr. Rockefeller he was asked to comment on the statement by Edward G. Seubert, president of the Indiana company, in which he announced himself and other directors as flatly in favor of re-election of Col. Stewart.

"We have nothing to say about Mr. Seubert's attitude at the present time," said the Rockefeller associate.

Wall street believes the lining up of directors for Col. Stewart has seriously complicated the Rockefeller side of the controversy for Mr. Rockefeller in his letter seeking proxies to vote against Col. Stewart lauded the ability of Mr. Seubert as president and gave every indication of the Rockefeller proxies being voted for the president and other directors.

The Debevoise statement reads:

HIS STATEMENT

"In the statement issued last Saturday by Col. Stewart the following reference was made to Mr. Rockefeller's request for Col. Stewart's resignation: 'Mr. Rockefeller says that several months ago he requested my resignation as a director of this company, affirming that I told him that such resignation would be forthcoming when it was requested by the stockholders of this company. I cannot recognize Mr. Rockefeller's right to speak for all the 58,000 stockholders.'

"This does not describe in word or substance Mr. Rockefeller's letter of April 27, 1928, requesting Col. Stewart's resignation. The letter read as follows: 'Your recent testimony before the Senate committee leaves me no alternative other than to make good the promise you voluntarily gave me some weeks ago, that you would resign at my request. That request I now make.'

HEARD BY DEBEVOISE

"The promise referred to by Mr. Rockefeller was made by Col. Stewart during a conversation Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Debevoise had with him shortly after Col. Stewart's first appearance before the Senate committee.

"This promise was repeated under the following circumstances:

"Early in 1928 Mr. Rockefeller, thinking that the true story of the Continental Trading Company transaction would soon be known and not wishing meantime either to oppose or support Col. Stewart's re-election asked to have the 1929 annual meeting of the stockholders adjourned.

"Col. Stewart objected to an adjournment and came to New York to see Mr. Rockefeller.

PROMISE REPEATED

"In Mr. Rockefeller's absence he talked with Bertram Cutler and Mr. Debevoise. He repeated to them his promise to resign on Mr. Rockefeller's personal request, saying that he felt indebted to Mr. Rockefeller for kindness shown him in the past. It was in reliance of this repeated promise that Mr. Rockefeller withdrew his request for an adjournment of the 1928 annual meeting and instead intrusted the official proxy committee not to vote his stock for Col. Stewart, but only for the re-election of the other directors.

"Mr. Rockefeller has never attempted to speak for the other stockholders, as Col. Stewart suggests. Mr. Rockefeller realizes that he has only a minority voice in the company's affairs. But by his letter requesting that proxies be sent to Lyman Rhoades of the Equitable Trust Company of New York, to be voted by the proxy committee which Mr. Rockefeller heads, he is offering an opportunity to stockholders, who feel as he does, to express their disapproval of Col. Stewart's leadership and to end Col. Stewart's connection with the company.

"Mr. Rockefeller feels that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana must have the adequate confidence of the public and that on any other basis it cannot continue in its position as one of the great commercial organizations of the United States. That confidence has been impaired and it is to restore that confidence that Mr. Rockefeller regards a change in leadership as indispensable."

RUMMER LEARNS OF GEOGRAPHY

Chicago Bootlegger Decides to Try Iowa—It Tries Him and Adds to Jail List

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—B. E. Phillips, Chicago bootlegger, decided to try the State of Iowa. It sounded like a care-free commonwealth.

Into Cedar Rapids went Phillips. A policeman stopped his automobile. Sure, there was a case or two in the tonneau, but what of it? How much do Iowa coppers get? Jail? What kind of a foreign country is this, anyway?

And the Chicago bootlegger lost his car, his liquor, his automatic pistol and his liberty.

Today Phillips learned more about Iowa. He was arraigned first on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and the Cedar Rapids judge said, "Two years in prison." Then the judge added another year for transporting liquor.

RUTH TO FIGHT FOR HIS CHILD

Sister of Wife Challenges Ball Player's Right

Attorney Says Adoption Papers Must be Shown

Second Autopsy Conducted on Fire Victim's Body

BOSTON, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Already dazed and broken by the tragic death of his wife, Helen, and the reports of possible foul play that trailed it, Babe Ruth, home-run king, today was informed that he must fight in court for the possession of the fair-haired little girl whom he calls Dorothy Helen Ruth. While pathologists were examining the organs of the supposed suffocated victim for traces of poison, Ruth received a demand for custody of the child from Johanne Woodford McCarthy, sister of the dead woman.

"Helen was my sister," Mrs. McCarthy told Ruth, "and I have a great love for the child. I want her for my own. You don't stay in one place long enough to give her a home, and I demand that you let me have her."

COURT FIGHT LOOMS

Mrs. McCarthy's interview with the ball player was brief, and when it was over she announced that she would take the matter to court and "open up the whole business." She said that although she couldn't catch all of Ruth's mumblings, she did distinctly hear the words "adoption" and "papers."

To persons intimately familiar with the domestic life of the Ruths the "whole business" referred to by Mrs. McCarthy is the secret of the real identity of Dorothy Helen, a matter that has been a mystery to the public since first the child was announced as a member of the Ruth menage. This was in New York when she was about 15 months of age. She is 9 now. Ruth then declared the girl was born to his wife at St. Vincent Hospital in New York, but Mrs. Ruth contradicted him, saying it was at Presbyterian Hospital. Confronted with these conflicting statements, Ruth explained he was forgetful and probably Mrs. Ruth was right.

BABE TOOK CHILD

Later in 1923 Ruth broke with his wife, and took the child to Florida with him.

Dorothy Helen now is in the convent of the Assumption in Wellesley and knows nothing about the fight that is to be waged over her custody.

It became apparent here today, through information from sources that cannot be disclosed at this time, that the child is he daughter of a friend of the Babe, and that he took the baby into his home and had his wife, whose three children by Ruth died at birth, take care of her.

Birth and adoption records in New York and various other cities have been searched in vain for trace of the case of the sad-eyed youngster, who calls the slugger "Daddy."

RECORD ASKED

"All I can say at this time is that I have asked John P. Feeney, counsel for Ruth, for a record of the birth or adoption of the girl," Judson Hannigan, the lawyer, who has been retained by the Woodford family to protect their interests, said today.

Hannigan had reason to believe that the Babe will be reluctant to reveal the real origin of Dorothy and in the event that Babe does not, he will be haled into court as an unfit guardian and forced to disclose Dorothy Helen's forbears, or surrender her.

The principals of the case avoided newspaper men today. Ruth went up to the country for a good night's rest, and Dr. Kinder, with whom Mrs. Ruth had been living for two years, had gone into seclusion.

BODY EXAMINED

Late this afternoon Dr. George B. McGrath began directing pathologists in their examination of the stomach and other organs of Mrs. Ruth. Dr. McGrath, medical examiner of Suffolk county, is one of the outstanding autopsy authorities of the country. The report of the second autopsy will be made public either late tonight or tomorrow.

Guardianship of Dorothy Helen will carry with it trusteeship of her share in the sizable estate left by Mrs. Ruth.

If the girl was legally adopted by the Ruths she will get a two-thirds share of the estate; if not, then Babe, under the local laws, will get $5000 in cash and one-third of the remainder, the residue going to the next of kin to the deceased.

CLOTHES VALUABLE

Mrs. Ruth, although her bank balance was not large, had costly jewelry and clothing and a big car that can be turned into close to $20,000, it became known tonight. She had four fur coats, one an ermine wrap, which cost Ruth $2000 and a $2500 diamond ring. There was a report that the jewels were missing but Ruth dispelled this with the remark that they are in "safe keeping."

He refused to amplify his denial, "as a damn lie" the statement of Nora Woodford, 19-year-old sister of the late Mrs. Ruth, that she was present in the office in New York of Christy Walsh, a sport news syndicate head, last summer, when she says Ruth pleaded with his wife for a divorce, saying he wanted to marry another woman. Mrs. Ruth, Nora declared, agreed to give him a quiet divorce for $10,000, but Ruth balked at the figure, and seizing his hat and coat, shouted, "I won't give you a damned cent" and rushed out of the divorce parley.

Nora went to visit the ball player this afternoon, but he refused to see her.

"This is no way to treat us when the body of our sister isn't even buried yet," she told him over a lobby telephone in the Hotel Brunswick, where he was stopping. Ruth had no comment on this incident save to say:

"I will pay all the funeral expenses myself."

The funeral will be held from the Woodford home in South Boston and burial will be in a Catholic cemetery, Old Calvary, in Dorchester.

Anita Loos Declares She Has Put Pen Aside Forever and Will Just Rest

PALM BEACH (Fla.) Jan. 15. (AP)—The "education" of Lorelei Lee has been completed. Anita Loos, author of the novel "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," is authority for the announcement that Lorelei permanently has retired.

"Never again," said Miss Loos, who with her husband, John Emerson, is spending the winter here.

"I'm tired. Tired to death of writing. I've been in and with the movies since I was 7 years of age, and I'm through.

"I'm not interested in writing; not interested in sports; not interested in anything of any sort except resting. Lorelei Lee and her flip companions are dead and buried. I've put my pen aside permanently."

Two Women at Leprosarium Freed as Cured

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The release of two women members from the National Leprosarium at Carrville, La., was authorized today by Acting Surgeon-General Pierce of the Public Health Service. However, both must return for semiannual examinations during the next eighteen months.

One of the women, who will go to her home in Louisiana, has been under treatment for leprosy twenty-four years. The other, who will return to her home in Mississippi, has been under treatment fourteen years. Both, health officials said, are sufficiently cured to be no longer a menace to public health.

Since the Leprosarium was opened by the Public Health Service forty other sufferers have been released.

BOOTH DEFIES HIS OPPONENTS

Salvation Army Commander Refuses to Quit

Tells Why He Will Not Give Up Leadership

Work and Accomplishment Reviewed at Length

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Gen. Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, who today sent a secret reply to the High Council meeting at Sunbury which had requested his resignation, in which he flatly refused their demands, tonight issued a statement to the press giving the first public review of his position.

His statement read: "In view of the widespread interest, I feel it my duty to issue a plain statement concerning my present position.

"For fifty-four years I spent all my time and energy and toiled incessantly amidst burdens of anxious care such as few men are called upon to bear in extending and leading the Salvation Army. I have never before had a prolonged rest but some months ago was ordered away by doctors so that I might have a complete cessation from work.

"I of course made arrangements for carrying on the responsibilities which rested upon me. Chief of Staff Higgins is second in command and he has full powers to act for me during my absence. I have yet to hear where he has failed.

QUESTION OF FUTURE

November last my illness became critical and I have since learned that, following upon certain published bulletins indicating that my recovery was doubtful, the High Council was called to consider the question of the future.

"It should be clearly understood that the founder of the Salvation Army instituted powers under which the High Council could be called for the sole purpose of turning out of office a general, who was spiritually unfit and of electing a successor if that were done, or if for any other reason there should in fact be no general of the Salvation Army. An important point indeed is that in declaring the general unfit the High Council has the power to set aside his nomination of a successor.

"It has been said that, had the seven commissioners, who requested the Council to be called believed I should recover, this step would not have been taken. This has, however, been done and the High Council has met to adjudicate upon my fitness for my position and with the design to discuss proposals for radical changes in the constitution of the Army.

HOPES OF RECOVERY

"Legally the High Council has absolutely no power even to propose, let alone make changes in the constitution, but I wrote to the council stating I should be prepared to consider any feasible scheme for broadening the constitution and suggested appointing a special commissioner to consider what changes were desired and how far they were practicable. I also asked for a little time in order to regain my normal health, which my doctors have advised me I have every hope of doing.

"I am informed that my letter to the Council was scarcely considered, and I was asked in reply to retire from office under what amounts to nothing less than a threat of expulsion. The only ground for this request, so far as I can ascertain, is that I am ill. There is not even the excuse that I am a burden upon the funds of the Army as my personal needs have been provided for from a trust fund supplied by a personal friend for this express purpose.

"Why should I retire? My leadership at the moment may not be what it was, but what guarantee or assurance have I that I would be replaced by one who would seek first and foremost to maintain the principles of the Salvation Army?

REFUSES TO QUIT

"I am responsible before God for the well-being of this great organization to which I have devoted my life and which in less than seventy years has achieved a success unique in the history of the world . . . I feel that I should be less than a man, let alone the leader of a great religious organization, if I agreed to a request to retire at a time when, as I understand, there is agitation to change the foundation upon which it rests.

"Therefore I am compelled to refuse to do so."

The question of the future leadership of the Army went over until tomorrow at the Sunbury-on-Thames session of the High Council. It was understood that the Council passed with large majorities a number of reformist resolutions but no vote was taken on the question of displacing Gen. Booth.

A brief communique saying that the matter had been put over to tomorrow but without any details of what had occurred was issued tonight. The American delegates returned to their London headquarters for the night, but all others remained here.

The strict guard kept around Sunbury Court was relaxed somewhat today. Photographers were admitted to the grounds and pictures of the councillors were taken.

VISITORS SAY BOOTH FRAIL

Their visit to Gen. Booth convinced council, who presented to High Council, who presented to him the proposal that he retire, that their aged chief is too feeble to continue effective performance of his duties. This was revealed in the graphic report which the deputation presented to the High Council.

The report said that a study of the communication which the committee brought to him was beyond the powers of the general. It remarked that he was not quite able to follow the statement that was made to him and it added that in his words to the committee, the general appeared to be following a course that had been prepared for his mind.

The report also detailed at length the manner in which the committee was received by Mrs. Bramwell Booth and her daughter Catherine and also by Brigadier Smith, the general's special nurse.

"We think that the deputation would agree," said the report, "that the general looked frail and extremely weak. Pale and declined in general condition. His eyes have little animation, his hands are feeble and it is quite evident that he has not much ability to turn or move in his bed.

"His speech is uttered with difficulty but it is coherent and remarks previously thought of can be given expression in words without confusion of thought.

"It was quite clear that in fifteen minutes his power to do this has gone and probably he does not recover until he has had a little rest. Indeed he took nourishment twice while we were in the room. We said nothing, nor did we in any way act in a manner that would cause agitation or give pain or perplexity to either the general or any member of his family."

The report stated that Catherine Booth informed the councilors that a stenographer, concealed in her father's bedroom, had taken down the entire conversation. But the committee said that this stenographer was not near enough to the general to hear accurately and therefore the deputation refused to accept the stenographic account of the proceedings.

LONDON'S BACKBONE CAVING IN

Weight of Ancient City Breaks Pie-Crust Foundation and Gas Blasts Blend With Floods to Cause Deaths; Early-Day Builders Blamed for Menace

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—London is built like a piecrust. Engineers are becoming uneasy at the possibility of future disasters like the recent Holborn gas-main explosion, with four similar but smaller accidents today and seven last week.

One life was lost when a gas main burst in the Hexton district during the night, overcoming twenty people who were asleep and causing the death of one. The victim was Mrs. Martha Grey, 46 years of age.

The busy city traffic was tied up because of a bursting water main in the heart of the London financial district, where twisting streets are always jammed with traffic. The water flooded the road and necessitated the shutting off of traffic in the district where the Bank of England stands. The second bursting water main flooded houses and shops on Edgewar Road, throwing a jet of water many feet into the air. The fourth accident occurred at noon when a manhole cover suddenly launched itself into the air followed by thick clouds of smoke issuing from the hole. The fire burned itself out before the apparatus arrived.

Engineers explain the dangers of London's present situation is because of the great age of the ground and the careless work of the earlier builders of the city. When older buildings were torn down the debris was not cleared away, hence the foundations of the present city are supported by a layer of rubbish which raised London's level eighteen feet above its original height. Furthermore the entire subsoil is honeycombed underground by streams which are constantly eating away the building foundations. The weight of traffic and modern buildings compressing the rubbishy top soil is causing a subsidence, which in turn, causes building collapses and bursting gas and water mains.

United States Cruiser Lying Off Nation's Coast

Neutral Zone to Be Asked if Fighting Breaks Out

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15. (AP)—Isaac Lehman, representative of a New York cotton goods manufacturer, arrived here today with a report that Americans and other foreigners are fleeing Spanish Honduras in expectation of a revolution.

"The United States cruiser Denver is lying off the coast of Honduras now," Lehman said. "I am going to Washington tomorrow night to ask the State Department to have neutral zones created so that American business and American lives will not suffer.

"Already merchants in Tela, La Ceiba, San Pedro Sula and Puerto Cortez are fleeing the threat of war. People are buying less, credit is getting tight and there is a tension in the minds of people.

"The trouble seems to lie in the fact that the Conservative political party is not satisfied with the Liberal President, who will be inaugurated February 1, next. The United States government has recognized this executive but the Conservatives assert the election was unfair."

Lehman said fifty-one refugees came out of Honduras on the steamship Castilla and landed at Port Barrios, Guatemala.

WASHINGTON INFORMED TURMOIL HAD CALMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Reports of a threatened revolution in Honduras reached the State Department just before Christmas, but later advices said the situation had become quiet.

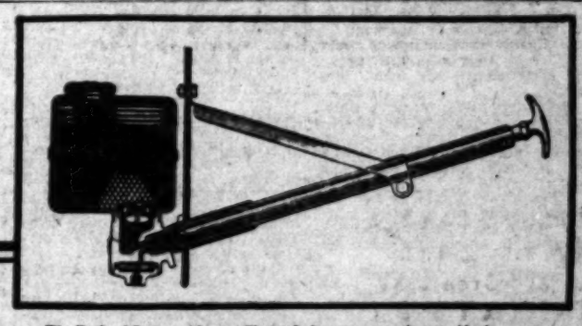
PACKARD



The Packard System of Instant Chassis Lubrication is simplicity itself. A reservoir and gun on the dash is connected by concealed piping to accurately metering drip plugs at each oiling point. One pull of the plunger loads the gun. As it discharges automatically, each bearing is bathed in clean, fresh oil, correctly measured.

Most thoroughly and easily lubricated of all fine cars

THE Packard Eight, whether Standard, Custom or De Luxe, is protected by the most thorough, complete and convenient lubrication system found on any motor car in the world. In-built factory precision is protected—even against the possibility of your own or your chauffeur's neglect.

"Instant" lubrication—a system by which the chassis bearings may be oiled daily by one pull of a plunger from the driver's seat—has long been a feature of Packard cars.

Improved and extended to include even the new and unique Packard Shock Absorbing System, Packard chassis lubrication protects 38 bearings under the car, oils points inaccessible and frequently neglected on the ordinary chassis, prevents squeaks and rattles, eliminates wear—and insures the long life for which the Packard car is famous.

The Packard Straight Eight powerplant, with its nine-bearing crankshaft, is full force feed lubricated—each cylinder uniformly supplied, each motor bearing thoroughly fed under pressure. An auxiliary lubricator, connected with the choke, automatically conveys oil to the skirt of each piston whenever the choke is pulled out—insuring thorough cylinder lubrication during cold weather starting and warming up.

Packard lubrication, thorough and positive under all weather conditions, is simply pictured and described on a unique wall chart which we want you to see. Come in and examine it, then drive a Packard Eight yourself and oil the chassis while at the wheel. You will gain a new conception of what motor car lubrication should and can be.

The Packard Standard Eight is priced from $2435 to $2835—the Custom Eight from $3175 to $3850—and the Eight De Luxe from $4585 to $5985—at the factory. Individual custom cars are also available to order on the De Luxe chassis.

TRAGIC END TO FAMILY TROUBLE

Police Seek Man Named in Suicide's Note

Young Daughter Hears Cries; Calls Officers

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15. — After beating his wife, Laura, into unconsciousness shortly after 5 a.m. today as she lay in bed, Joseph Harrison, 52 years of age, 4088 Cherokee street, shot himself through the head, death resulting instantly, Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly, announced.

A prominent San Diegan, whom Harrison named as an alleged paramour of his wife in a suicide note was being sought by police for questioning in the tragedy.

Mrs. Harrison was treated by East San Diego police division surgeons for lacerations of the face, bruises and shock inflicted by her husband before he killed himself, police say. Her condition is not regarded as critical.

The incident today climaxed what Harrison said was a "loveless married life," and after he asserted his wife was planning to divorce him.

Details of the tragedy as enumerated by Coroner Kelly, indicated that Harrison arose today shortly before 5 a.m., and began an attack upon his wife, using a revolver, which he later turned upon himself, as a weapon.

After Mrs. Harrison became unconscious, Harrison is thought to have feared that he might have killed her, Kelly said, and, apparently, turned the gun upon himself.

In the meantime, Marcella Harrison, 19-year-old daughter of the couple, who was asleep in an adjoining bedroom of the house, heard her mother's screams and telephoned police.

When officers from the East San Diego division arrived at the scene they found Harrison dead and Mrs. Harrison in an unconscious condition.

Indications that Harrison had planned the act and that he thought possibly to have killed her before shooting himself, was seen in a note which Harrison wrote last night, and which was directed to George W. Scott, Vermillion, S. D., a brother of Mrs. Harrison, Kelly said.

"Forgive me. I loved her too much," the note which Harrison wrote closed. In the note Harrison said he "had information she (Mrs. Harrison) had been planning a divorce for a long time." He also mentioned having beaten his wife on a previous occasion, the note declared, Coroner Kelly said.

Certainly, that Harrison planned to kill himself was seen in the following excerpt taken from the note:

"Have my body cremated and scattered over your father's and mother's grave."

Mrs. Harrison, Coroner Kelly said, is employed in the millinery department at a downtown department store.

Death Claims Banker's Wife

EL MONTE, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Ella Jameson Klingerman, 78 years of age, wife of Charles Klingerman, vice-president of the Southern County Bank and a resident here for twenty years, died at her home here this morning. Heart disease, which had held her bedfast for nineteen months, caused her death.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. in the Methodist Church, and will be conducted by Rev. E. Sedweek of San Dimas, former pastor of the local church, assisted by Rev. William Harkness, present pastor. Interment will be in San Gabriel Cemetery.

Mrs. Klingerman was active in all branches of church and W.C.T.U. work. From her sick bed she helped plan and direct a day of prayer preceding last Presidential election day, which was held under the auspices of the W.C.T.U.

FUNERAL AT REDONDO BEACH

REDONDO BEACH, Jan. 15.—Funeral services for Gabriel Johnston, 91 years of age, who died Monday at his home, 529 North Helberta street, will be held at 2 p.m., Thursday, at the George Cate parlors here. The G.A.R. funeral rites will be read at the grave in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Johnston, who was a building contractor, retired from active work twenty years ago. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Johnston, and a sister, Hattie B. Johnston, of Ottawa, Iowa.

CRIMINAL CASES DISMISSED

Bond Salesmen Freed at Riverside for Lack of a Prosecuting Witness

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 15.—On motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Nelson, the action against three Los Angeles bond salesmen for grand theft in connection with a transaction with a Winchester woman involving $2100 worth of securities today was dismissed by Superior Judge Morton for failure of the complaining witness to prosecute.

The trio are William Roberts, Harold Ruark and J. B. Mitchell. Roberts was transferred here under guard from the Los Angeles County Jail where he is held pending a report on a plea for probation from a similar charge as he has faced here.

Nelson announced following the court hearing that Mrs. S. Augusta Cooper of Winchester, a small town near Hemet, had appeared at the office of Dist.-Atty. Ford some time ago and with tears in her eyes begged the official to withdraw the action against the men. She revealed they had settled very satisfactorily with her and that she did not desire to continue with the matter.

Lacking a prosecuting witness, the District Attorney's office could not go ahead with the case, it was said. Mrs. Cooper swore out warrants for the men last fall, after they obtained from her on the promise of larger returns, the bonds valued at $2100.

They are said to have told her the bonds could be used to a greater advantage by their company, to make possible the increased revenue. Later when the woman received no word from the company and interest payments were due she visited the Los Angeles address the trio had left and found no one. She then began action.

TO LOWER INSURANCE PREMIUMS

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 14.—A 10 per cent reduction in fire-insurance rates in the city has been forecast by city officials as an outcome of a survey to be made of the city late in February by the Pacific Board of Fire Underwriters.

The enlargement and improvement of the fire department through the program that has been under way for several months is given by officials as their chief reason for predicting the cut in rates.

Following the threat of underwriters last summer to increase the insurance charges 10 per cent, a program of building and training was inaugurated by the City Council, and Chief Thomas Baird and Charles Freeman of the Fresno fire department were employed to assist in the work.

The threatened increase was not made and the progress of the extension program has led city officials to believe that a decrease will be made when the underwriters make the survey to determine the extent of fire hazard and protection.

Taking into consideration he forestalled raise in rates and the possible lowering in February Councilmen point out that a 20 per cent drop may be the eventual result of the department improvement.

With more than half of the $140,000 fire-department bond issue spent, construction of two new stations under way, additional equipment purchased and training work at a high point of effectiveness, Councilmen feel that a 10 per cent reduction will be made by fire underwriters.

Second Strange Blaze in Year Under Inquiry

EL MONTE, Jan. 15.—C. C. Stafford's warehouse was destroyed by fire of mysterious origin at 6 a.m. today, consuming 1100 tons of beet pulp. The damage is estimated at more than $40,000, which is covered by insurance. The Sheriff's office is investigating the origin of the blaze, which followed a fire a year ago, also believed to have been of incendiary origin, which destroyed Stafford's hay and grain mill at Puente. Stafford is now keeping armed guards at his new Puente mill, which was rebuilt.

LIGHT PLANT INCOME HALF-MILLION DOLLARS

PASADENA, Jan. 15.—The Municipal Light and Power Department showed a net income of $633,112 for 1927-1928, according to the report of the annual audit submitted to the Board of City Directors today by Robert M. Lawson.

The bonded indebtedness of the city is given in the audit as $9,211,250, of which $7,329,250 comprises the outstanding general city and light and water bonds.

Lawson stated in his report that out of the millions of dollars handled in the period there was a mistake of only $1.05 in one of the twenty-five petty cash accounts and that the local accounting records are being maintained satisfactorily.

POLICE FIND LOOT OF RECENT BURGLARY

BRAWLEY, Jan. 15. (AP)—Beating a Mexican armed with a revolver to the draw, Chief of Police Lon Cromer today arrested five men in a room and recovered thousands of dollars' worth of loot which was subsequently identified as goods stolen from a mercantile company at Coachella the night of the 3rd inst.

The men were taken to jail and will be taken to Riverside county for trial, Chief Cromer said.

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING

Pomona Valley Company Announces Extensive Improvement in Near Future

POMONA, Jan. 15.—With the purchase recently of the corner lot at the Northwest corner of Gibbs and Third streets, the Pomona Valley Telephone and Telegraph Union today issued a statement in which it was announced that a new telephone building is to be constructed on the property, which adjoins the present structure erected only a few years ago. The total cost of the building and lot will approximate $74,500, while the equipment when installed will increase the total to $150,000.

Purchase of the corner property gives the company a solid half block of real estate in the downtown section, which when completely built up will give the local concern one of the most modern telephone exchanges in Southern California. Extensive long-distance telephone facilities will be housed in the new building, as it is planned to establish Pomona as the long-distance terminal center for this section. A part of the building will also be used by the commercial department.

According to Carl H. Lorbeer, manager, a heavy increase in volume of long-distance business for this territory has made the immediate construction of the new building necessary, more than 65,000 long-distance calls a month being completed in the local office and that during the busiest hours twenty-four operators are required to be on duty at the switchboards for this service alone.

Germany Is Benefited by War's Results

ALTADENA, Jan. 15.—Germany, despite that nation's military reverses, obtained more benefits from the World War than any other country, according to Dr. John Crosser, former pastor of the Neighborhood Church in Pasadena, who is visiting here at the home of A. C. Buttolph, 1140 New York avenue. Since his last visit two years ago, Dr. Crosser has made a first-hand study of conditions in Europe and the West Indies.

"Although a defeated nation, Germany has come back with a tremendous rush in every respect, and is now on a very substantial footing," said Dr. Crosser today.

"Germany's rapid progress appears to be due to a phenomenal ability to organize and co-operate in emergencies. The Germans have a genius for this sort of thing, but they are able to retain their individuality."

The West Indies are showing the splendid results of American enterprise and guidance, declared the student of world conditions.

"The achievements of the United States are apparent especially in the Panama Canal section and in Cuba. Development of the city of Havana along modern lines did not begin until the United States had cleaned up Cuba and made it safe for human habitation by eliminating tropical diseases."

VANDAL DESTROYS ROADSIDE TREES

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—Despite the scarcity of trees along highways and the necessity for more of them, there is a vandal in San Diego county who sneaks out at night to destroy trees along the highways, near Carlsbad, the Board of Supervisors was notified in a communication from the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce.

The vandal "ringed" a number of eucalyptus trees, killing them, the chamber reported. Reward of $25 for arrest of the culprit was suggested. The board members expressed themselves as willing to enforce the county ordinance protecting shade trees along thoroughfares, but took the position that the protestants should supply information regarding the guilty one. If somebody else will take the trouble to arrest the culprit, the board members will gladly see him prosecuted by still another person representing the District Attorney's office, it was declared.

BOYS ESCAPE JAIL SENTENCE

UPLAND, Jan. 15. — Four Inglewood boys today have John Klusman, prominent Upland and Cucamonga district resident, to thank that their records aren't to be marred with jail terms.

The boys were caught and arrested by Officer J. L. Loch of Upland Police Department, while assertedly stealing tangerines from Klusman's grove. Loch turned the boys over to County Probation Officer, George Larmore, pending orders from Klusman.

Instead of ordering the boys punished by jail or a detention home sentence, Klusman gave them a lecture on honesty, and asked that they be released. The boys then paid Klusman for the fruit they had taken.

WOMEN OF TUJUNGA TO SPONSOR OPEN FORUM

TUJUNGA, Jan. 15.—Members of the Tujunga Woman's Club have voted to sponsor a public forum for the discussion of matters of general community interest, and the date for the first meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. the 21st inst. at the Pine-street Auditorium. John Steven McGroarty will be the speaker. Sponsors of the forum announce that effort will be made to avoid contrpversial questions, and that matters of common interest in the development of Tujunga Valley will be dealt with only. All citizens have been invited to attend the forum discussions.

CHECK ON GASOLINE PRICE WAR

Santa Barbara Dealers Combine to Keep Up Price on Engine Fuel

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 15.—To maintain the established price of gasoline in Santa Barbara in an effort to keep the drastic price-cutting war of the State out of the city was the unanimous vote of fifty members of the Santa Barbara Gasoline Dealers' Association, meeting here.

The action of the association marks Santa Barbara as the only one of the larger cities of the State that has agreed on prices of gasoline.

The destructive effects of price-cutting on credit conditions and general business of a city was given as the chief reason for establishing a standard price.

The present competition being carried on in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Fresno and other major cities of the State is one of the worst in the history of the gasoline industry, many independent operators selling below cost, dealers said.

Companies represented at the meeting included the Seaside, Standard, Richfield, Shell, Associated, Pennzoil, Pan American, Union and Texaco companies, and a large number of independent dealers.

Call Expert to Confab on Aviation

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—Two outstanding aeronautical projects, Lindbergh Field, and the revaluation of San Diego county property by means of airscapes or aerial mosaic maps, brought Col. Perry Smoot of Hawaii here to consult with Chamber of Commerce officials, he announced today on his arrival from Honolulu. Col. Smoot is adjutant-general of Hawaii and chairman of the Territorial aeronautical committee. He informed the Chamber of Commerce that he came here at the request of Gov. Farrington, who is thoroughly conversant with what San Diego is doing in the field of aeronautics.

The head of Hawaii's aviation commission, said that plans are being made to make a revaluation of land in the islands by the employment of airplanes and the use of aerial photography. San Diego's success in this pioneering work, he stated, was one of the main reasons why he came here to consult with Chamber of Commerce officials.

Col. Smoot is to remain here until tomorrow before leaving for San Francisco. He expects to return to Hawaii before the end of the month.

South Pasadena Rejects Charter Government Plan

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 15.—An effort to place this city under charter form of government failed today in a light vote. The proposed draft was rejected, 1071 to 319. The total vote was 1390 out of a registration of 7343, according to Mrs. Nettie Hewitt, City Clerk.

Sponsors of the charter have been working on this proposition for two years and, according to opponents of the plan, adoption of the charter form of government was favored generally, but the draft in question was declared inadequate.

Among the objections raised were a provision for appointment instead of election of the City Clerk and the City Treasurer; no district representation, all city directors being elected at large; too much asserted power for city officials over the police and fire departments, and a provision for recall requiring 30 per cent of the voters, which is held contrary to State law.

TEACHER IN VALLEY ON JOB 44 YEARS

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15. R. M. Killion, principal of the Bakman-street school here, this week is celebrating his forty-fourth year as a school principal and teacher. He asserts that he holds the endurance record for all time on any sort of job, having never missed a day in the performance of his duties. Prof. Killion taught his first school at Fort Scott, Kan., and after teaching in various Kansas towns, became principal of a school in Globe, Ariz. Twenty years ago he came to North Hollywood, then known as the Lankershim ranch. At that time all the school children in San Fernando Valley could have been housed in a single classroom.

TUJUNGA PLANS TO BROADEN BOULEVARD

TUJUNGA, Jan. 15.—Plans for a set-back ordinance for Monte Vista Boulevard have been decided on by the Tujunga City Council, and the City Attorney and the City Engineer have been instructed to prepare such an ordinance to be ready for further consideration at the next meeting of the Council. Plans for the set-back have been discussed for many months. It is the decision now that the boulevard ultimately will have a width of eighty feet, to handle auto traffic which has increased greatly within the last two years.

REBEKAHS TO INSTALL

VAN NUYS, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Viola M. Marquess tonight was installed as Noble Grand of Van Nuys Rebekah Lodge, No. 239. Mrs. Gertrude M. Jensen was the installing officer. Mrs. J. McPherson is the new Vice-Grand, while Mrs. Rhoda Harris will be secretary, Mrs. Alie Wilgamott, treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Richardson financial secretary.

BASEBALL MANAGER KILLED

Leader of Crown City Team Crushed to Death by Heavy Truck as Steering Gear Fails

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 15.—Joseph Zimmerman, 50 years of age, manager of the Crown City baseball team of Pasadena, was crushed to death here today when the steering gear of a truck he was driving for the Pasadena Express Company broke, causing the heavy vehicle to lurch and throw him beneath the wheels.

The truck crashed into the curbing at the intersection of South Marengo avenue and Mission street and stopped with one of the rear wheels resting on the man's body.

The heavily loaded machine is reported to have been traveling east on Mission street when witnesses saw it swerve sharply toward the curb. Those who saw the tragedy occur are uncertain as to whether Zimmerman started to leap to safety before he was thrown under the wheels.

Chief of Police Higgins and Officer Ludlow found passing motorists making futile attempts to drag Zimmerman's body from beneath the five-ton truck. The police officers succeeded in jacking up the wheel and the body was taken to the Turner, Stevens & Berry mortuary.

Officers of the Pasadena Express stated that the steering knuckle of the truck apparently jarred loose as the machine jolted across the railroad tracks near the intersection.

Authorities Discuss Dog Quarantine

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—While repeal of the city ordinance relieves the poundmaster from further duty of taking up and disposing of dogs not inoculated for rabies, the health authorities plan to seize upon an alternative weapon, it developed today, when Dr. A. M. Lesem, health officer, took under consideration advisibility of appealing to the State Board of Health to establish a quarantine on all dogs not vaccinated.

The State law gives the authorities power to require all dogs not vaccinated to be kept confined at home, in a crate or on a leash and the State authorities have the power to enforce this law should it be demanded by the proper authorities it was said.

It was stated at the city and county health offices today that as soon as Dr. Lesem more fully investigates the situation pertaining to rabies, should the occasion warrant, he would apply for a State quarantine on dogs.

It was declared that this would be as effective or more so than having the city enforce the ordinance that was repealed.

TUJUNGA READY FOR HIGH SCHOOL

TUJUNGA, Jan. 15.—With the announcement of the county authorities that the Tujunga School District has been taken from the Glendale Union High School District and merged with the Los Angeles school system, it is stated here that local high school pupils next September will attend the San Fernando City High School instead of going to classes in Glendale.

The San Fernando school, it is announced, will be able to accommodate 150 additional pupils at the beginning of the new term. Later, it is the purpose of Tujunga Valley residents to ask the Los Angeles school authorities to build a high school here for the use of pupils here, at Sunland and from other parts of Tujunga Valley.

One of the primary purposes of the school district merger had in mind the erecting of a high school in Tujunga Valley. Tujunga is a corporate city. The merger has only to do with the combining of the school systems for economical and executive reasons.

START REVIVAL OF COMMERCE CHAMBER

HERMOSA BEACH, Jan. 15.—A concrete effort to effect the reorganization of the local Chamber of Commerce, which passed out of existence here nearly a year ago, is being made this week in questionnaires which are to be mailed to all former members and business firms asking their co-operation. The organization, if successful, would sponsor an advertising fund and a special unit organized for the purpose of obtaining a wider line of industries for this district, its supporters say.

NEGRO GETS LIFE IN REDLANDS COURT

REDLANDS, Jan. 15. — George Wilson, the negro who was arrested here for entering half a dozen homes in one night, pleaded guilty and was given from one to fifteen years in San Quentin. Then Judge Charles Allison learned that Wilson has a long criminal record, five convictions for robbery, and he called the prisoner back and sentenced him to San Quentin for life under the Habitual Criminal Act.

Wilson got several dollars from the Henry Vaughan home and small sums from several other places. He did not take anything but money.

ENTERTAIN ARTIST

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 15.—Paul Lauritz, eminent landscape painter, was the guest last night at a reception held in the Santa Monica Public Library. He won the San Diego $500 purchase prize and $100 special prize in Long Beach. The reception marked the formal opening of his exhibit of thirty-two pictures in the library art gallery here, and Miss Elfie A. Mosse, librarian, arranged the affair. Lauritz was born in Norway and studied there and in England.

Adds Fossils to Valuable Collection

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 14.—Five tons of fossils of animals from the lower Miocene Age, including the innominate bone of a prehistoric camel weighing a ton, were uncovered on the west of Santa Barbara by Dr. A. P. Ousdal, osteopathic physician and geologist.

The find represents one of the most important of several that Dr. Ousdal has discovered along the mesa beach during the past few years, and is considered a valuable addition to his fossil garden, the only one of its kind in existence.

The bones, imbedded in a hard sand stone rock, were discovered by Dr. Ousdal several weeks previously. They were brought from the water during low tide by means of several hundred feet of chain attached to a truck. Several men assisted Dr. Ousdal.

The fossils were taken from the same bed, approximately 1000 feet wide and a mile long, from which Dr. Ousdal has removed all of his world-famous collection, which he keeps in a yard at his residence.

The most important fossil was that of the innominate or hip bone of a prehistoric camel. The bone matches a leg that Dr. Ousdal discovered last year. Several other round bones imbedded in boulders weighing thousands of pounds were uncovered.

Other important fossils were five spinal columns of different animals. These added to the previous collection make a total of eighteen spinal columns, each of a different animal.

The quality of rock in which the finds were imbedded was of the same typ ein which the head of a white whale was discovered by Dr. Ousdal and sent to the Smithsonian Institution last July. The head was the only one of its type that has ever been found.

The latest fossils will make a substantial addition to Dr. Ousdal's fossil garden, which at present includes more than 200 specimens from the early tidal lizards, whales, camels, fishes and birds.

City Officials Resign Places at Alhambra

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 15.—Two city officials resigned today. George A. Houser, City Commissioner from the Second District and head of the Department of Public Safety, tendered his resignation to the commission, effective February 1. A. L. Boyden, president of the City Planning Commission, also resigned from office.

In both cases pressure of personal business was given as the reason for the action. The City Commission requested Boyden to remain in office until after the meeting of the County Regional Planning Commission, which is to be held in Alhambra on February 5.

Houser has been on the city board since August 1, 1927, and Boyden has been on the Planning Commission for the past four years. Houser's successor is expected to be appointed by the City Commission next week.

E. L. Latham, president-elect of the Alhambra District Realty Board, was named today as a member of the City Planning Commission at. The number on that board having been increased from five to seven.

DICE, NOT ROBBERS GOT THE MONEY

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 15.—When two negroes, suspected of holding up a service station at Anacapa and Victoria streets on Sunday, were arrested in Los Alamos, brought to Santa Barbara by police and denied any attempt at hold-up, Richard Chaney, service-station attendant, confessed that he had reported that merely to retrieve $20 he had lost in a gambling game at the station on Sunday.

In a signed statement to Chief of Police George Sloan, Chaney said that upon the suggestion of the negro patrons, he had gambled for the change in a $20 bill they had given him in payment for gasoline. The game, he said, lasted for some time, and eventually resulted in his losing $20.

The negroes were allowed to resume their trip after Chaney's confession.

ELECTRIC IRON CALLS OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

VAN NUYS, Jan. 14.—Fire caused by an electric iron left turned on in a bedroom at the home of Guy Wolcott on Ethel avenue did $100 damage to the room and its contents. Wolcott was out in the yard. He extinguished the fire before the fire department arrived. Local police report frequent incipient blazes caused by the careless use of home electric appliances. The electric iron turned on and temporarily forgotten is one of their greatest annoyances, firemen report.

NEW SCOUT TROOP

TARZANA, Jan. 15.—A new troop of Boy Scouts has been organized here, to be affiliated with the San Fernando Valley council, with John Miller as scoutmaster and Fred Whitmire as assistant. D. C. Brown, E. D. Grant, W. S. Boggess, J. L. Edwards and W. B. Smith will sponsor the activities of the troop.

AVIATION BOOSTERS TO MEET

Discuss Question of Air Port for Santa Barbara on Coast Route

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 15.—Santa Barbara, the stumbling block in the establishment of a Coast airway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, will be the meeting-place of aviation boosters from many seashore towns and cities within the next three weeks when the proposed service will be discussed.

Plans for the meeting were discussed at a lengthy session of Chamber of Commerce directors, city and county officials and Santa Maria residents here.

"The only reason the coast route has not been established," said James P. Kennedy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, "is that Santa Barbara has no airport. Something must be done. The chamber is being criticised for not securing an airport. 'So far, our first problem has been to work up public opinion.

Street Name is Valuable to Ventura

VENTURA, Jan. 15.—A proposition to change the name of Ventura avenue to Ojai avenue was voted down unanimously and without so much as a question by the City Council last night, when questions were propounded to that body by Charles Petit on behalf of the county.

Petit, as county engineer, said the Board of Supervisors had considered the change and wished the views of the City Council.

The name, "Ventura avenue," in the opinion of the Councilmen, has, besides a sentimental value through long usage, a distinct commercial value, inasmuch as Ventura avenue is known all over the United States as a leading oil field. The Council considers the name worth thousands of dollars to the city, the members said.

Bonds Carried by Lone Vote

LA VERNE, Jan. 15. — Carrying with a two-thirds majority by the slim margin of one vote, the $45,000 park bond voted on here yesterday will allow the city to purchase the proposed park property and improve it into one of the prettiest small parks in the Southland. The actual cost of the property was set at $37,000, while $8000 was allowed for improvements.

CRACK SHOT POLICE TO VISIT BURBANK

BURBANK, Jan. 15. (AP)—An exhibition of the skill that won for them the national pistol trophy for policemen will be staged here the 20th inst., when the pistol team of the Los Angeles Police Department journeys here as the guests of Chief of Police Roy L. Bergh of Burbank.

Chief Bergh said that the exhibition shoot would be held on the American Legion rifle range and that various types of shooting would be demonstrated by the crack Los Angeles squad, which will be headed by Chief of Police James E. Davis.

The Los Angeles team will be entertained by Chief Bergh and the men of his department.

HOLLOWAY AGAIN HONORED

VAN NUYS, Jan. 15.—B. R. Holloway, prominent Van Nuys chicken hatcheryman, has been re-elected chairman of the agricultural committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Holloway's committee is one of the most active of the chamber, within the last year aiding in bringing numbers of newcomers into the San Fernando Valley area.

IOWANS PLAN PICNIC

SUSPECTS FIRE ON OFFICER

Sawtelle Officer Follows in Wild Chase Cheviot Hills But Darkness Cloaks

WEST LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Bullets flew in the district late last night, when two suspected men, racing down the darkness with their car lights extinguished, on Officer Farrell of the Sawtelle division, according to his report.

Farrell came upon the pair near a parked car on the east side of Bagley avenue, near Venice Boulevard, he reported. Suspicious actions made him approach them, and when they saw him coming they fled in their machine.

Farrell followed, believing the men tallied with a description given out at headquarters earlier in the night, of two men who had held up the Richfield oil station at Venice and National boulevards, where Harold H. Dickson was backed into a storeroom at the point of a gun.

Rail Commission Dismisses Contempt Charge Against Man in Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Admitting that E. S. Granucci, owner of the water system operated by the Tomales Bay Land Company, has trouble enough, the Railroad Commission has dismissed its contempt charge against him.

Granucci failed to appear November 5, 1928, to answer a charge by his consumers that service is inadequate. The commission promptly cited him for contempt.

It is learned, however, that in addition to the poor service accusation Granucci on the day in question was suffering from influenza and his father died.

the American Mining Congress, the argument being made that high labor standards must be maintained.

Other witnesses sought increases on certain kinds of wire cloth, anvils and cast iron pipe and a duty of 2 cents a pound and 50 per cent ad valorem on reaction chambers, a product not now provided for in the tariff act.

BRITAIN BLAMED IN AFGHAN COUP

Envoy Charges Intrigue Was Back of Abdication

Opposition to Reforms Held Craftily Exploited

Amanullah Will Continue as Leader, He Says

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune)

PARIS, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—British intrigue was responsible for the downfall of Amir Amanullah Khan of Afghanistan, His Excellency Habibullah Tarzai, the Afghan Minister to Paris, charged in an exclusive interview today.

Occult foreign influences set to work craftily to exploit the opposition of wild mountain tribesmen to modern reforms, and these at first came straight from London, Minister Tarzai said, going on to reveal a story as full of the glamour of oriental mystery as any from the pen of Kipling, who first focused the world's attention on the Khyber Hills.

The British never liked Amanullah, the man who broke England's grip on the buffer state between India and Russia, after his father Amir Habibullah Khan, who actually was a British vassal, had been done to death by Afghan knives.

"Amanullah came to the throne pledged that he would wage war on the British and free the hill country of the bonds which others failed to sever," the Minister said. He kept his word and although the British war planes wrought havoc with the wild tribes who inhabited the hills from Khyber fastnesses, Great Britain was compelled in the peace signed at Rawalpindi August 8, 1919, to recognise Afghanists' rights to diplomatic relations with other countries.

NEVER FORGIVEN

Great Britain never forgave Amanullah for that, Minister Tarzai said, but when the Amir sallied forth on his pilgrimage to the modern world, it sought to get him in its grasp. It seared him half to death with mimic attacks and a nightmare ride in a submarine, but then he went to Russia and this was his undoing. The British vowed to get him then, and now they have got him. They did it, Tarzai explained, by exciting wild hillmen against the reforms which he says were inevitable.

"Our people are wild and ignorant," the Minister continued. "You cannot compare them even with the Turks, who have had relations with the western nations for centuries. But even in Afghanistan you cannot stop such reforms. There are those who when they fear the growth of a strong, independent Afghan state do not want them. They are wrong. Amir Amanullah menaced nobody. That he favored Russia is a fable. We are on good terms with Russia only because we enjoyed benefits from our relations with them."

But the British are fooled, Minister Tarzai says, if they think Amir Inayatulla Khan is their tool.

BROTHER ALSO PATRIOT

"He, like his brother, is first and foremost an Afghan patriot," the Minister said. "Amanullah and Inayatulla are more than brothers, they are friends and allies and I am convinced that Amanullah's abdication is the result of an amicable agreement between them to frustrate the British plot against the country's independence.

"Amanullah, though an exile, will continue as the leader of the young Afghans, who regard him almost as a god. But it will be a thankless task to persuade our people that women are lovelier and happier unveiled, that hats and caps are better than clumsy turbans and that conscription and the payment of taxes are not inventions of the devil."

Minister Tarzai recalled how many oriental dynasties have come to grief after occidental excursions. Abdul Aziz returned from a European trip only to be murdered in his palace at Bosporus; the Shah of Persia was dethroned while in Paris trying to outdo the King of Spain as a play boy and Amanullah's downfall followed close on his triumphal progress through the cities of Europe.

FIGHTING RENEWED AFTER BRIEF LULL

PESHAWAR (India) Jan. 15. (AP)—News from Kabul indicates that after a lull fighting on the outskirts of the capital of Afghanistan has begun on a considerable scale. It is not known here how the various tribes received news of Inayatullah's accession to the throne.

Advices from New Delhi today indicated that an armistice was agreed upon after the abdication of King Amanullah yesterday. His elder brother Prince Inayatullah was immediately crowned King in his place.

Yesterday the rebels continued their advance on Kabul and after a bombardment with the guns they had captured they gained certain hills overlooking the outskirts of the capital.

The entry of Marjorie Ladewig of Los Angeles took second place.

PEAR GROWERS TO ASK TARIFF ON BANANAS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—After deciding to ask Congress for a duty on bananas the California Pear Growers' Association today re-elected Frank T. Swett of Berkeley as president and general manager. Swett told the growers the 1928 crop will be disposed of without a carryover.

McCULLOCH GIVEN POST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Edgar A. McCulloch of Arkansas today became chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, succeeding Abram F. Myers, resigned.

CHINA CAN'T CURB STRIKE JAPAN TOLD

Hankow Boycott Protest Answered by Gen. Chiang; Situation More Acute

SHANGHAI, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) The Japanese Consul at Nanking today lodged a strong protest with Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek demanding that the Nationalist government adopt immediate measures for silencing anti-Japanese agitation at Hankow. This agitation has completely paralyzed Japanese business in that city and a serious outbreak is feared.

Gen. Chiang replied that the government is watching the situation. He has instructed the military police to prevent incidents but owing to the state of public excitement and indignation the government is unable to prevent strikes or boycotts.

The Hankow Anti-Japanese Associates yesterday forced a strike of Chinese sailors employed on Japanese ships and put into service two launches manned by pickets which are patroling the water front along the Japanese concession in an attempt to prevent the delivery of foodstuffs to Japanese residents.

Angelenos Win Highest Honors at University

BERKELEY, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) Three of the four University of California students selected for highest honors in connection with the winning of baccalaureate degrees are registered from Los Angeles, it is disclosed. They are Herbert A. Young, Mary Leatham and Leo Kirschenbaum. The fourth student is Lucy Joseph Graves of Shanghai.

In all, twenty-eight students were awardde extra honors. They include Wilton Merle Weidman of Santa Barbara and Rosa Bayless Cage of Riverside.

Smith to Speak Over Air Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—A coast-to-coast hook-up of thirty radio stations, with WEAF of New York as the key station, will be used tomorrow evening for broadcasting a talk by former Gov. Smith. He will begin to speak at 8:30 o'clock, eastern time.

Mr. Smith has not revealed the topic of his talk or the reason for addressing a message to the country. The arrangements were made by the Democratic National Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—The National Broadcasting Company announced today that Alfred E. Smith's address tomorrow night will be broadcast from all stations in the company's Pacific System, including KFI, Los Angeles; KGO Oakland; KPO, San Francisco; KGW, Portland; KOMO, Seattle, and KHG, Spokane.

'Treason House' Being Wrecked

HAVERSTRAW (N. Y.) Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—The ruins of a house that innocently concealed the treason of Benedict Arnold were being removed by wreckers today from the grounds of the State Orthopedic Hospital here.

While the old house gradually was disintegrating, proposals for its preservation were made by the Women's Republican Club of Rockland county, Haverstraw High School, Haverstraw Lodge of Elks and other fraternal and historical groups, but nothing came of them.

"Treason house" is the name by which the building long has been known to the public, for within its walls Arnold and Maj. Andre of the British army, consummated plans for delivering West Point to the British.

Edison Starts Florida Trip

NEWARK (N. J.) Jan. 15. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison, still sprightly, left today for his annual winter sojourn at Fort Myers, Fla., where he will be joined by his cronies, Harvey Firestone and Henry Ford. Mr. Edison was accompanied by his wife.

The inventor grinned and snapped a small pocket flashlight at newspaper photographers who were lined up at the station to take his picture. He seemed in excellent health as well as spirits and there was ample proof of recent reports that he had gained twenty pounds in weight.

Prisons Forced to Ban "Cards"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—A House committee was told today by Representative Porter, Republican, Pennsylvania, that Christmas cards had to be barred from entering Federal prisons this year because they were found to be thick enough to conceal narcotic drugs between their surfaces.

Porter, who is author of a bill for a special institution for prisoners who are addicted to narcotics, declared that out of 7695 inmates of Federal prisons last year, 1599 were addicts.

Gasoline Pact Sought in North

OAKLAND, Jan. 15. (AP)—What appeared to be an effort to end the gasoline price war in the bay region was made today when garage owners and service station proprietors voted to meet representatives of the oil companies to stabilize prices.

Gas prices in Oakland ranged from 15 to 19 cents today. In San Francisco the situation is reported unchanged, with 15 cents the prevailing price for gasoline.

OLD RAIL LINES' HEADS TESTIFY

Executives Try to Stop Western Pacific Plans

Existing Lines Said Able to Handle All Hauls

New System Declared to be Unnecessary to Valley

FRESNO, Jan. 15.—Transportation facilities adequate to the needs of the San Joaquin Valley are being provided by the existing railroad lines and any benefit that could accrue through the extension of the Western Pacific into this territory can be provided by the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, officials of these roads testified in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here today.

Testimony of the railroad officials was given as witnesses for the agencies that are opposing the Western Pacific's application for a permit to extend its lines into this section of the San Joaquin, and followed testimony last night by Donald D. Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardists' Association.

GROWERS NOT CONCERNED

"Growers are not concerned over which line they ship," Conn said. "They want efficient transportation service at a less cost, a service that will move crops to the markets as fast as possible because of their perishable nature."

Conn, who formerly was an official of the public relations department of the American Railway Association, did not make a direct answer to the question of whether additional transportation facilities are needed, his answer being that the growers are interested in bringing about no increase in transportation costs.

Officials who testified today included the following for the Southern Pacific: G. J. McGanney, assistant to the traffic manager, and V. S. Andrus, assistant to the vice-president. For the Santa Fe the witnesses were Paul P. Hastings, general freight agent; Guy L. Coin of the traffic department, and C. G. Fluhr, superintendent of the valley lines.

BUSINESS DIVIDED

Andrus said that if the Western Pacific were granted the right to enter the valley, business would be divided and the service of the Southern Pacific impaired.

W. T. Quirk, assistant to the general manager of the Santa Fe Railroad, which with the Southern Pacific forms the principal opposition to the proposed new Western Pacific line's entry into this territory, duplicated the testimony of Andrus.

An attempt was made to spike the argument of the Western Pacific yesterday to the effect that improved transcontinental service would be given valley shippers by the Western Pacific and working agreements with other railroads.

RAISIN PRODUCTION PEAK DECLARED PASSED

FRESNO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Belief that the entire 1928 raisin crop and the 1927 holdover will be sold, but at a figure representing only two-thirds of the production cost, was expressed tonight by Franklin P. Nutting of Palo Alto, president of the American Seedless Raisin Company, when he testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here.

Nutting gave it to be his opinion that the peak of production of both raisins and fresh grapes was reached in 1927 and that the acreage is now on the decline, which should result beneficially to the entire industry. He said there has been no new planting in the past year or two and that no more vines are coming into bearing.

Marginal vineyards were blamed by Nutting as the reason the industry is instable and said that until they go out there can be no hope for the future of the business. Nutting was called at the hearing by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads in connection with their opposition to the application of the Western Pacific for the right to construct a San Joaquin Valley line.

Cattlemen Seek to Get Millions

SANTA FE (N. M.) Jan. 15. (AP)—W. R. Morley of Magdalena left Santa Fe today for Washington where he will attempt to get $88,000,000 in profits of the War Finance Corporation distributed to the cattlemen of the United States.

Morley, who is a New Mexico rancher, said the War Finance Corporation was not created to be a profit making concern. He said the United States Treasury loaned it $500,000,000 to aid the live stock industry and that it now has paid back $499,000,000 together with all interest and has $88,000,000 in profits on hand.

Oakland May Get Old Cutter Bear

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The famous old cutter "Bear" may be donated to the city of Oakland to serve as a monument to the years when medicine, law and education were carried to the far north from the California coast.

Authority to donate the old ship to Oakland will be given to the Secretary of the Treasury by Congress if that body acts on the recommendation of the House committee which today approved the bill.

The "Bear" was in service for fifty-four years and has been replaced by another boat.

SUMMER WHITE HOUSE ON BLUE RIDGE URGED

HAVEMEYER ART WILLED TO MUSEUM

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) The entire art collection of Mrs. Louise W. Havemeyer, which experts value at millions, has been given to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The bequest became known today when Mrs. Havemeyer's will was filed in Surrogate's Court.

Mrs. Havemeyer, who died the 6th inst., was the widow of Henry C. Havemeyer, president and one of the founders of the American Sugar Refining Company. No estimate has been made of the value of her estate.

The collection includes nearly 200 celebrated canvases, including works by Rembrandt, El Greco, Degas, Manet, Monet, Goya, Hals, Cezanne, Van Dyck, Rubens, Velasquez, Holbein, Renoir and Pissaro. Besides the paintings, Mrs. Havemeyer bequeaths collections of rare Chinese porcelains and bronzes, Persian miniatures and pottery and Japanese prints.

Although she has an enormous residence at the corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-sixth street, it was too small to house all her treasures.

Disposition of the collection to be known as the H. O. Havemeyer collection, is made in three codicils. The residue of the estate is divided equally among Mrs. Havemeyer's three children, Horace Havemeyer, Mrs. Adeline H. Frelinghuysen of Morristown, N. J., and Mrs. Electra H. Webb of Shelburne, Vt.

Mrs. Coolidge's Mother Failing

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) Jan. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Lemira B. Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the President, tonight was reported as being "not quite so well" at the Dickinson Hospital, where she has been seriously ill since December 11, last.

Miss Miriam Curtis, superintendent of the hospital, said Mrs. Goodhue suffered an apparently unfavorable change yesterday. She said that Mrs. Coolidge had not yet been summoned. Mrs. Goodhue is in her eightieth year.

Kidnaper Slayer Cleared by Jury

PHOENIX, Jan. 15. (AP)—A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned today by a Coroner's jury which investigated the shooting of Basil Meade of Hueneme, Cal., by J. E. Thompson, millionaire mining man of Phoenix.

Testimony indicated that Meade had demanded $1500 at the point of a gun and had threatened to kill Thompson's young son if the money was not forthcoming.

NATIONAL CEMETERY MEASURE PRESENTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Representative Douglas, Democrat, Arizona, today introduced a bill to provide for the designation and maintenance of Evergreen Cemetery at Tucson and the cemetery at Fort Bayard, N. M., as national cemeteries.

BOND SALE OVER COUNTER LIKELY

Legal Difficulties Met in Water Matter

Bay City Supervisors Will Face Issue Today

Municipality Would Acquire Plant February 1

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—City officials meeting this afternoon to consider ways of disposing of $41,000,000 in municipal bonds to buy the Spring Valley Water Company decided that the only prospect is an over-the-counter sale. They determined to take the matter to the Board of Supervisors in special session tomorrow morning but whether that body takes action before the legal aspects are settled is questionable.

In some quarters an over-the-counter sale of a municipal issue, involving the inferential disposal of the bonds piecemeal, is considered illegal. The Supervisors already have been advised that sale of parts of the issue is contrary to charter provisions.

The difficulty arises because the city plans to take over the Spring Valley properties February 1 to assure a distributing system for Hetch-Hetchy water and the acquisition is contingent upon sale of the bonds.

When bids were called, however, not a single bank, broker or bond syndicate bid on the issue. It then was proposed to sell below par as the only sure means of preventing delay in the Spring Valley purchase, but legal advice also has been given that the issue cannot be sold below par.

Del Rey Water Permit Granted

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—The Railroad Commission has granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity to the Palisades Del Rey Water Company to furnish water as a utility under terms of a franchise granted by the city of Los Angeles, but the amount the company estimated as needed to operate is considered too high.

Application was made for the issuance of $500,000 in common capital stock. The commission authorised issuance of $252,800.

Skinny "Lifeless" Women Gain Weight

New YEAST and IRON builds weight quickly. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

If we could only show you the wonders that Ironized Yeast has done for thousands of men and women. The bony hollows that have been filled up with firm flesh, stringy necks and bony limbs given rounded beauty! Pimples, boils and blotches have disappeared for good.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This Yeast is treated with pure vegetable iron, the same as found in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

Get a handy bottle of these tasty tablets today. Just a single course treatment will prove that you can be attractive and healthy. Safe for everybody. They do not upset the stomach nor cause gas or blotting.

Just ask your druggist for a full size treatment. If not delighted with the quick results, your money back. It will be refunded immediately.—[Advertisement.]

EADE'S PILLS

BEWARE THE COUGHS THAT FOLLOW FLU!

They May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. If you have fever, or think you may have the flu, see your doctor immediately. (adv.)

The Story of the World War

IX—The Great Powers and Neutral Belgium

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE OUTBREAK OF WAR BETWEEN GERMANY AND FRANCE ON AUGUST 3, 1914, PLACED THE LITTLE KINGDOM OF BELGIUM, WHICH LAY PARTLY BETWEEN THE WARRING NATIONS, IN AN UNCOMFORTABLE POSITION, ALTHOUGH THE GREAT POWERS, INCLUDING GERMANY, HAD GUARANTEED HER NEUTRALITY.

ON THE LAST DAY OF JULY, 1914, SIR EDWARD GREY, BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER, ASKED FRANCE AND GERMANY TO STATE WHAT ATTITUDE EACH OF THEM WOULD ASSUME TOWARD BELGIUM IN CASE OF WAR. FRANCE'S RESPONSE WAS THAT SHE WOULD RESPECT BELGIUM'S NEUTRALITY. GERMANY REPLIED THAT SHE COULD NOT ANSWER AT THE TIME.

GERMANY COULD HAVE ANSWERED THE QUESTION, BUT NOT WITHOUT REVEALING HER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN. LONG AGO HER HIGH COMMAND HAD ADOPTED AND PERFECTED A PLAN FOR LAUNCHING AN ATTACK UPON FRANCE THROUGH BELGIUM TO AVOID THE STRONG FRENCH FORTS OF THE FRANCO-GERMAN BORDER. IT WAS NOW GERMANY'S INTENTION TO USE THAT PLAN.

AUGUST 2, 1914, THE ... BRUSSELS DEMANDED THAT BELGIUM ... THE FREE PASSAGE OF GERMAN ARMIES THROUGH HER TERRITORY. KING ALBERT REJECTED THE GERMAN OFFER OF INDEMNITY, AND STRENUOUSLY DECLARED THAT HE WOULD DEFEND HIS COUNTRY AGAINST INVASION.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

More than $1,000,000 is being spent by the Rio Grande Oil Company in a new expansion project, in addition to an equal amount previously announced. The new work includes an oil terminal at the Long Beach Harbor and a triple pipe line from there to the company's refinery at Vinvale. This is primarily for the handling of oil from the Elwood field.

The Rio Grande company handles the refining and distribution of oil produced by the joint operations of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination, with the production work under the direction of Barnsdall. The output will be shipped by tankers from Elwood pier, northwest of Santa Barbara, to the new terminal, to be built in channel No. 2 at Long Beach. The terminal will cost $750,000.

From this terminal the pipe line runs to Signal Hill and thence directly to the Vinvale refinery. There will be an eight-inch line for transporting crude oil to the refinery, a six-inch line for fuel oil and a four-inch line for gasoline from the refinery back to shipside.

Rio Grande announced several weeks ago an expansion program to double the capacity of its local refinery, purchase a fleet of tank trucks and extend its wholesale and retail distributing system. The full program calls for the immediate expenditure of more than $2,000,000.

New Deep Test

George F. Getty, Inc., will make a deep test at Santa Fe Springs to ascertain what is below the Buckbee zone. Work has been started on the company's No. 19 well with a view to drilling it to an undetermined depth in the hope of picking up a hitherto undiscovered sand.

The well originally went on production from the Buckbee zone with a flow of 1500 barrels a day, but this turned to a heavy water cut and then sanded up. Tests showed it to be a straight hole, so the company decided to kill it and use it as a test well. It is now being cleaned to the original depth.

Getty is testing for a water shutoff in its No. 23 at 5595 feet and in its No. 24 at 5625 feet. Both are at Santa Fe Springs.

Deep Union Wells

The Union Oil Company has ten wells at Santa Fe Springs which are nearing the producing zone. Its Bell No. 35 is standing cemented at 5576 feet and will be drilled out tomorrow. The Bell No. 36 is reaming to set pipe at 5529 feet. The Bell No. 37 is reaming to set pipe at 5565 feet. The Bell No. 38 is reaming at 5528 feet.

The company's Alexander No. 10 has set casing at 5700 feet and is the next to be given a production test. The Alexander No. 11 is drilling ahead at 5540 feet, Alexander No. 13 is drilling ahead at 5554 feet, Alexander No. 15 is reaming to set casing at 5585 feet, Alexander No. 16 is standing cemented at 5531 feet and Howard No. 10 is tied up by a small fishing job at 5612 feet.

Well Hits Sand

The Luton-Bell No. 5 of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination at Elwood was reported to be at the top of the oil sand last night and preparations were being made to land casing at approximately 3150 feet. This is the newest project in the field and has been drilling slightly more than three weeks.

The machinery and equipment from Doty No. 3 are being moved to the location for Doty No. 3, and it will be spudded in within a few days.

The Doty No. 2 made 4050 barrels during twenty-four hours ending yesterday and the total production of the field, from five wells, was 18,682 barrels during the same period.

Operators Acquire Wells

Stine & Evanson, who have one fairly good producer at Huntington Beach, have lately sprung into prominence by taking over leases including more than a dozen producing wells. A few days ago it was reported that these operators had taken over the old Painted Hills Oil Company well at Nineteenth street and Acacia avenue.

Reports now are current that the company has taken over seven producing wells owned by the Van Allen Oil Company and four wells owned by the Colonial Oil Company. All of the wells are located in the district around Eighteenth street and Acacia avenue and about four blocks back from the ocean at Huntington Beach.

Personnel Changes

C. M. Denham, field engineer of the Shell Oil Company for several years at Long Beach, has resigned to be chief engineer of the Pacific Western Oil Company.

Jean Bordeaux, who was secretary to O. P. Yowell when Mr. Yowell was field superintendent for Shell, has resigned to accept a similar position with Mr. Yowell, who is now field superintendent for Pacific Western.

Mevirg Absorption Unit

The Wilshire Oil Company is moving one of its big gasoline absorption plants from the town-lot field at Huntington Beach, to its leases at Santa Fe Springs, according to field reports. It was located at Ocean avenue and Eighteenth street in the beach field.

New Lawndale Wells

The Earle Petroleum Company is the newest entrant into the Lawndale field, having started a well on Sixth street between Dale and Chicago avenues.

The Superior Oil Company, which already has one location at Lawndale, has started a new well between Shirley and Rosecrans avenue just off Inglewood Boulevard.

New G.P. Producer

The General Petroleum Corporation's No. 186-E at Santa Fe Springs was completed yesterday with a flow gauged at 150 barrels per hour, or about 3600 barrels a day. The oil tests 33 deg. gravity and has a cut of 1 per cent.

Ring to Spud Well

The Ring Exploration Company will spud in its Simons No. 1-A today in the brickyard at Inglewood, testing for a northwest extension of the Potrero field. It is northwest of the Associated Oil Company's Cypress No. 3, about one and one-half miles.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR

BORAX TRAFFIC GAINS AT PORT

Total Shipments of 75,000 Tons Made in 1928

Increase on 1927 Placed at Nearly 200 Per Cent

Volume for 1929 Expected to Show Even Greater

Borax, like petroleum, is making Los Angeles Harbor famous, and like petroleum, moves out of this port in greater amounts than elsewhere in the world.

In fact, as a borax port, the harbor leads the field by a greater margin than it does in petroleum. Easily more than 50 per cent of the world's supply of borax moves through Los Angeles, and the percentage rapidly is growing, due to the Pacific Borax Company and the raw supply in Death Valley.

W. P. Hinchman, traffic manager of that company, estimated more than 75,000 tons, or about 1,500,000 bags, moved out of here during the last fiscal year, while the calendar year, 1928, probably will prove greater. The previous fiscal year was 23,588 tons.

In tons, Hinchman said, borax plays an important part in Los Angeles exports foreign. Last year the port's exports in weight to Belgium were 60 per cent borax; 15 per cent to Germany; 10 per cent to England and Scotland; 70 per cent to France, while shipments to Italy gained 140 per cent over the previous year.

Europe leads in foreign consumption, followed by Central America and the Orient, although the company ships much by water to its refinery at Bayonne, N. J., mostly for domestic consumption.

The company four years ago erected a plant costing several million dollars at Wilmington, designed to meet future needs, but already is adding 40,000 feet of storage, and another steel shed on the wharf.

Opportunity for a Los Angeles factory to manufacture burlap bags was pointed out by Hinchman, who cited the company's need alone of 1,500,000 sacks annually, to say nothing of manufacturers of soda ash, growers of walnuts and such. Ships now coming direct from the Orient could bring raw materials. At present the bags are manufactured at San Francisco.

RATE CONFERENCE PACTS GET APPROVAL

A dozen rate conference agreements on passengers and freight, many of which affect Los Angeles have been approved by the Shipping Board. They include an interchange of passengers from New York, passengers on Panama Pacific liners at Los Angeles to Osaka Shoshen Kaisha ships bound for the Orient; transhipment of Atlantic cargo on Munson-McCormick ships at California to O. and O. ships for the Orient; the same with Nelson Line and O. and O. ships; transshipment at New York of Colombian cargo to American Hawaiian ships destined for the Pacific Coast; transshipment of Atlantic cargo destined for West Mexico from American Hawaiian ships at California to National Navigation Company vessels, and transshipment of Orient cargo on N. Y. K. ships at California to Gulf Pacific vessels for Gulf ports.

Clipperton Island may be inaccessible for guano seekers, but adventurers may find wild hogs for hunting, a little fresh water lake for fishing, and cocoanut trees full of food. Capt. Herbert G. Young brought the power schooner Ethel M. Sterling back from there yesterday after a twenty-four-day fruitless quest for guano. The island is surrounded by coral reefs on three sides and unfavorable winds on the fourth made the ship's approach impossible. It is a Mexican possession, 1600 miles south of here and 900 miles west of Acapulco. A British firm operating the guano concession was driven off ten years ago, and rains have disintegrated buildings and wharf. Hogs, left by the British, have multiplied and forced nestings elsewhere by birds heretofore inhabiting the islands by millions. The island is seven miles in circumference, and only fifty feet high at its peak. The Sterling probably will be chartered to transport tuna there next month from Cape San Lucas. She is a 1000-ton steel craft with 240-horsepower Diesels, and new Lambie propellers which add one and a half knots to her speed.

McCormick Steamship Company bid $45,000 for the 5200-ton Shipping Board steamer Hutchinson, at the board sale of nine vessels Monday. If awarded the ship, which now is at New Orleans, the line will put it on the Pacific coastwise run, in which it now has twelve vessels between here and Portland, six between here and Seattle. The McCormick company recently purchased two larger board steamers to augment its service from this coast around South America. Its growth last week prompted the Los Angeles Harbor Commission to authorize the widening of McCormick terminal at its northern end, giving a full dock of 1120 lineal feet.

T. S. Misuraca, owner of one of the largest newspaper syndicates in Italy, and Mrs. Misuraca will embark for Genoa today on the Italian motor liner Leme, sailing from the dock of the General Steamship Corporation. Others taking passage from here are Dr. Marion Walker Williams of Santa Barbara to study surgery in Vienna and Paris; Thomas Davila, Salvador plantation owner, wife and daughter, returning home, and Mmes. Eva Knauer and A. H. Lingo, club women of Beverly Hills, to study social work in Europe.

United Fruit Company reports a net income of $20,606,393 for 1928, and this is after provision for insurance, taxes and depreciation. Operations are mainly on the Atlantic, although the company is shipping more than 1,000,000 stems of bananas to Los Angeles yearly, and operates a small fleet to San Francisco. It owns, besides its plantations, a fleet of seventy-two bottoms, and charters more than a score.

John Mahoney, San Francisco manager for the California and Eastern Steamship Company, returned home yesterday after conferring with Frank C. Hill, president of the Los Angeles-owned intercoastal freight line. The company is reorganizing its personnel and expanding.

The Coast Guard tug Redwing is due here from the Atlantic Thursday, en route to Astoria to relieve the cutter Algonquin, which will be assigned to Base 17, Los Angeles Harbor. The latter yesterday transferred from Long Beach to Watchorn Basin the German schooner Przmysl, detained by Internal Revenue officers.

New Financing on Program of Alcohol Maker

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) Offerings of 43,800 shares of additional common stock voting certificates of the American Commercial Alcohol Corporation, to be listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange will soon be made by a syndicate of banking houses operating in big cities scattered throughout the United States. The American Commercial Alcohol Corporation was recently formed by the consolidation of several individual producers.

The banking group offering the new stock will include Bauer, Pogue, Pond and Vivian, New York; Poids, Buck & Co., Chicago; Lorenzo E. Anderson, St. Louis; Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., on the Pacific Coast.

Improvement in the industrial alcohol industry resulting from government regulation of allotments and the economic benefits of consolidation, was reflected in the preliminary 1928 earnings report today of the corporation.

For the eight months dating from organization in April to December 31 earnings amounted to $953,963 after depreciation, but before interest. Applied to capitalization outstanding at the end of the year, after interest, Federal taxes and preferred dividends the balance was at the annual rate of $909,041 available for the common stock or more than $10.40 a share.

New Stock and Bond Offerings on Mart Today

Offering of a new issue of 55,000 shares of Federal Water Service Corporation $6 cumulative preferred stock of no par value will be made today by a syndicate composed of C. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc.; Field, Glore & Co.; Janney & Co., and Graham, Parsons & Co. Proceeds from the sale of this preferred stock will be used in connection with the retirement of the corporation's funded debt.

Announced as oversubscribed, a new issue of Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc., Class A participating preference stock is being offered by Dean Witter & Co., at $25 a share. Quarterly dividends at the annual rate of $1.50 a share will be paid beginning May 1.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. is offering $6,000,000 Public Service Subsidiary Corporation 5½ per cent debentures, due 1949 and priced at 97 and interest to yield over 5.75 per cent.

Merger of Box Concerns Told

Acquisition of the business and assets of the Mission Paper Box Company and Scott Bros., Inc., by the United Paper Box Company, was announced Monday by Morris Spiegelman, chairman of the board of the latter company. Installation of the machinery and equipment of both concerns in a new factory in San Francisco was also announced.

The Mission Paper Box Company was started eight years ago by Samuel Platt and has now grown to one of the largest concerns of its type on the Pacific Coast. W. E. Scott and his brother incorporated their company in 1923, specializing in fancy candy boxes.

OIL DRILLING UNIT GETS STOCK PERMIT

Stockholders of the Torrey Pines Oil Company, which was organized several years ago to drill for oil in San Diego county, have formed Borderland Exploration Company, Inc., drawing away from the old concern for the purpose of continuing development on the same property known as the Carmel Valley ranch. The new company has an authorized capital of 50,000 shares, par value $10 each, and has received a permit from Corporation Commissioner Friedlander to dispose of 19,936 shares. Officers are Robert H. Petz, J. L. Bolling, F. D. Irish, W. D. Nichols and W. F. Bishop.

INVESTMENT TRUST TO FEATURE OILS

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) Petroleum and Trading Corporation, an investment trust of the management type, has been organized by Carl H. Pforzheimer & Co., specialists in oil-company securities, it was announced today. Authorized capital is $10,000,000, but only a part of the capital stock will be issued now, and no immediate public offering will be made.

CHINA EMPLOYS KEMMERER

Nationalist Government Seeks Aid of Widely Known Financial Expert; Occidental Man to Help

BY EARLE E. CHOWE

China, the country of amazing currency confusion, huge public debt, archaic taxation system, and inadequate banking facilities, will be the next task of financial reform to which the international expert in government finance, Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer of Princeton, will devote himself. The first group of the Kemmerer party of more than thirty will sail this week from San Francisco for China, and a second group of experts will leave from Seattle the following week.

Dr. Kemmerer, it will be remembered, was the principal speaker before the sessions last April at Occidental College of the Institute of Finance. One of his experts on the Chinese mission will be Dr. John Parke Young, head of the department of economics and sociology at Occidental, who will act as assistant expert in currency and banking.

PART OF REHABILITATION

The new Nationalist government in China has turned to Dr. Kemmerer and his experts for the preparation of a complete program of financial reform, covering currency, taxation, public debt, tariff, budget and accounting system, banking and railroad finance. Employment of the American Commission of Financial Advisers to the Chinese Government, which is the formal designation of the Kemmerer mission, is one of the first major steps planned by the Nationalist government in the economic rehabilitation of the country.

Ten foreign governments already have sought and received the assistance of Dr. Kemmerer. With his associates he has reorganized the financial affairs of Poland, Colombia, Mexico, Chile, Ecuador, Guatemala, South Africa, Bolivia and the Phillipine Islands. The Chinese study is expected to require a year's time, and will employ the largest group of experts ever used on a Kemmerer mission.

In his advisory work, Dr. Kemmerer follows the practice of holding regular sessions at which government officials and leaders in business, banking and industry are invited to attend. When the plans of the commission are formulated after exhaustive studies of data and suggestions, the recommendations are submitted in the form of proposed laws accompanied by explanatory reports.

PROBLEM DIFFICULT

China's confusing currency system will likely offer the most difficult problem of this kind the Kemmerer missions have ever encountered. The currency is on a silver basis, and includes several different kinds of taels, dollars, copper cash and bank notes. The varying value given to the tael in the different sections of the country is one of the major hindrances to the development of commerce.

Branch banking is practiced in China by the Bank of China, founded at the time the republic was established, and by the Bank of Communications, the latter of which has more than sixty branches. The Bank of the Salt Industry, Sinhua Savings Bank, Bank of Territorial Development and the Minkhue Industrial Bank are also recognized as central government institutions.

The public debt is estimated at more than $1,500,000,000 (Mexican.) About half of the total is unsecured, and is in default. Adjustment of this problem is urgently required before Chinese credit can be established abroad, and the way cleared for the raising of new capital in the world's money markets.

INDEMNITY CONCERN TO PAY INITIAL

Pacific Company Fixes Annual Dividend Rate on Capital at $6

Inauguration of dividends on the capital stock of the Pacific Indemnity Company after April 1 at the rate of $1.50 a share quarterly, or $6 per annum, was announced yesterday by Lee A. Phillips, president. The company has been in operation only three years.

Net earnings for the twelve months ended December 31, last on the convention form of statement aggregated $16.78 per share, Mr. Phillips said.

Admitted assets amounted to $6,226,349, which represents a gain of $919,536 over the corresponding period a year ago. Surplus to policy holders totaled $3,225,139, an increase of $503,476 over a year ago.

Gross premiums written over the twelve months' period amounted to $6,404,786, a gain of 11.8 per cent over the previous year. Gross premiums written since the company was started total in excess of $15,000,000.

Underwriting profits for the year amounted to $96,201. Income derived from investments totaled $407,274, while $503,476 was credited to surplus. The ratio of losses to premiums earned was set at 49.3 per cent, while the ratio of underwriting expenses to premiums earned was 48.3.

Deal Creates Huge Portland Cement Unit

Purchase of all of the outstanding common stock of the Monolith Portland Midwest Company by Monolith Portland Cement Company was announced yesterday by Coy Burnett, president. The purchase has been approved by the stockholders of the Monolith Portland Cement Company. The consolidation brings together two of the leading cement companies operating in Wyoming and California and will create a company with an appraised valuation in excess of $10,000,000.

Upon completion of the merger, there will be outstanding an issue of $1,000,000 first-mortgage bonds which has been underwritten by a banking syndicate headed by Reed, Adler & Co. and the California Company; $1,500,000 of preferred stock of the Monolith Portland Midwest Company; $1,500,000 preferred stock of the Monolith Portland Cement Company, and 225,000 shares no par value common stock of the new corporation. There will be no change in the status of the preferred stocks of the constituent companies.

At the meeting Coy Burnett, J. J. Calkins, C. A. Low, Harold B. Reed and Mrs. J. W. Jamison were elected directors of the new corporation. Coy Burnett will remain as president, C. A. Low will be vice-president and J. J. Calkins, secretary and treasurer.

HAY PRICES STEADY

Los Angeles Alfalfa Reported in Good Demand and Firm

Hay market held generally steady with somewhat lighter offerings which met a fairly active demand at most points, according to the Weekly Hay Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Alfalfa hay prices continued their upward trend and market offerings were scarcely equal to demand. The Los Angeles markets were very firm with a good demand for all offerings at steady prices. San Francisco was also steady. The Yakima Valley situation was strong although prices were quotably unchanged. Farmers in this territory appeared unwilling to sell at present price levels and consumers were using hay for storage.

ABITIBI SHUT DOWN SEEN AS TEMPORARY

SUDBURY (Ont.) Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—Shut-down of the Espanola and Sault Ste. Marie mills of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, announced Saturday, will be only temporary, G. R. Gray, vice-president, stated today. The present situation would be remedied and mills would resume operations if negotiations now in progress between the paper companies and the governments of Ontario and Quebec to operate their plants at approximately 80 per cent capacity are concluded, Mr. Gray said.

DELCO LIGHT PLANT SALES REPORT MADE

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The official report of boll weevil hibernation was followed in the cotton market today by increased liquidation. The close was barely steady at net losses of 12 to 25 points.

TRIBUTE PAID TO HARVEY NEWLAND

In respect to the memory of Harvey Newland, who died Saturday night from injuries received in a recent automobile accident, the Los Angeles Stock and Curb Exchanges suspended business yesterday morning for one minute at 10:30 o'clock.

GROCERY CHAIN MERGER LOOMS

Safeway to Acquire Piggly Wiggly Western States

Purchase Effected Through Exchange of Stock

Shareholders Have Option in Cash for Securities

Formal announcement of the proposed sale of Piggly Wiggly Western States Company to Safeway Stores, Inc., and an outline of the terms for exchange of stock by which the consolidation will be effected was made yesterday in a letter to be mailed stockholders of the Piggly Wiggly company by its president, A. B. DeNault.

Holders of Class A stock of Piggly Wiggly Western States are to receive one-sixth of a share of Safeway Stores, Inc., for each share held, or $29 in cash at the option of the holder. Holders of Class B stock will receive 8-100 of a share of Safeway for each share held.

The last sale of Safeway stock on the New York Stock Exchange was at $187 1-4. On this basis the holder of one share of Piggly Wiggly A stock would receive stock to the value of $31.21 and the holder of one share of B, $14.98. Under the terms of the merger the Piggly Wiggly company will be dissolved after exchanging stock with the California subsidiary of Safeway. This stock received by Piggly Wiggly will in turn be exchanged for the stock of Safeway Stores, Inc. By this method it is estimated that approximately $225,000 will be saved in Federal income taxes.

In the past year Safeway Stores, Inc., has acquired the Sanitary Grocery Company, Inc., Arizona Grocery Company, Bird Grocery Stores, Inc., Piggly Wiggly Pacific Company, Inc., and other smaller chains. The volume of the consolidated business for the year 1928 is estimated at more than $150,000,000, and net profits after depreciation and taxes, $4,500,000.

Safeway will take over all the property and assets of Piggly Wiggly, including its good-will, and agrees to pay all the Piggly Wiggly liabilities. Net assets of the Piggly Wiggly company October 13, last, were set at $1,504,224, exclusive of good-will and similar intangibles. Net profits from January 1, to October 13 were at the annual rate of $245,980.

Stockholders having a majority of the voting rights have already approved of the plan.

Unified Orders of Aero Concern Set New High

Unfilled orders of the Douglas Aircraft Company on the 1st inst. totaled $2,900,000, Donald W. Douglas, president, announced here yesterday. Of this amount, $615,000 in new contracts was signed since December 1, last, a large part of which consisted of Air Corps business in the form of repeat orders on airplanes already delivered and in service.

To handle the increased amount of business, the company's plant at Santa Monica has already begun to operate on a higher production basis, Mr. Douglas said. The plant now employs 700 men, and shortly this number will be increased to 900.

Included in the new orders for the Air Corps is an experimental model of advanced design. Mr. Douglas expects this model to give outstanding performance, equal or better than the performance of the Douglas transports used in the refueling of the army's Question Mark.

PROMOTIONS MADE BY SECURITY BANK

Appointment of R. M. Sloggett to the post of assistant manager of the Santa Barbara and Vermont-avenue branch of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, and the appointment of J. F. O'Brien as assistant manager of the Central and Slauson branch, was announced yesterday by Herbert H. Smock, vice-president and cashier of the head office.

Building-Loan Paying Extra

Preferred stockholders of State Guaranty Corporation, sole stock owners of Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, are receiving today an extra dividend of 75 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ a share, the extra being the largest ever declared by the company, it was announced yesterday.

Net earnings for the year ended December 29, last, totaled $164,801.92, equivalent to $9.22 a share on the 14,950 shares of State Guaranty participating preferred outstanding. The net earnings are after all charges, including $3891.80 for employees' bonuses, which represent a share of profits. Earnings before such charges totaled $85,314.55 for the first half of the year and $112,057.27 for the second half, the latter representing a gain of approximately 30 per cent.

Volume of New Offerings Heavy

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) New York bankers and syndicates today offered to the public new securities totaling $20,646,500. All except $1,750,000 of the offerings was in stocks.

One of the largest offerings was made in behalf of the newly formed United Drydocks, Inc. The new issue amounting to 450,000 shares of no par common stock, was put on sale by a syndicate of which Hayden, Stone & Co., is the leader. Hinsch, Honell & Co., Inc., and Pynchon & Co., were included in the syndicate. The price was $22 per share. United Drydocks, Inc., was organized to acquire certain of the physical assets located on New York Harbor of the Morse Dry Dock and Repair Company.

DUPONT ARM REACHES OUT

Election of F. B. Davis, Jr., to Head U. S. Rubber Adds Another Industry to Family Holdings

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—With the advancement of F. B. Davis, Jr., president of the Du Pont-Viscaloid Company of Wilmington, to the presidency of the $300,000,000 United States Rubber Company, the powerful Du Pont family becomes actively and officially interested in another of America's gigantic industries—rubber.

Mr. Davis, who has been associated with the Du Pont companies in various capacities since 1909, is just 45 years of age. He is a big man, and a hard worker. He was born in New York State, and was gineer, in 1906. After two years in gineer, in 1906. After two yers in railroad work he joined the Du Pont Company, and has been with it in various branches, including General Motors, during the last twenty years.

Charles B. Seger, 61 years of age, retiring as president of the United States Rubber Company after ten years of service, went to the company from the presidency of the Union Pacific Railroad. At present he is director and chairman of the executive committee of the Union Pacific, and director in many other large corporations of the United States and Canada. It is reported that he soon will associate himself with a large banking enterprise.

Below the surface of a very important industrial section of Detroit—1100 feet below—is one of the largest Salt Mines in the United States. Millions of dollars have been spent to develop it, and today it produces from 1400 to 1500 tons of salt every day. It is estimated that the deposits are rich enough to last a century in spite of the large scale production now going on.

Fresh air is pumped into the mine at the rate of 40,000 cubic feet a minute. The temperature, winter and summer, is fixed around 58 degrees, ideal for work. All work in the mine is handled by electricity. The electric shoveis can lift 1500 pounds in a scoopful. They dump the salt into small cars, hauled by trains of ten to fifteen cars. There is a labyrinth of small-gauged railroad tracks more than five miles long, in the mine. One-fifth of a mile above the mines rest the solid foundations of one of the world's largest cities.

When the evening bulletin, of Philadelphia, published recently a 307-page octavo book under the title "One Day," it was a sensation, for it showed the average Philadelphian that every day one was getting for 2 cents what in book form cost $3 to $5.

The bulletin book was just a reprint of the reading matter in its issue of June 4, last, with the advertising matter eliminated. Just the reading matter in a Sunday edition of any American newspaper today, with the advertising left out, would make five or six volumes.

It is literally true that the newspaper subscribers today receive for 2 cents as much reading material as is usually found in a full-sized $5 book. For bargain prices there is nothing quite equal to the modern newspaper.

Merger of Oil Tool Units Near

Preparing a foundation for a combination of several oil-well specialty manufacturing companies, it was reported in financial circles yesterday that the Dunn Oil Tool Manufacturing Company, a Delaware corporation, will be formed here to take over the business and assets of the Dunn Manufacturing Company of Oxnard, reputed to be one of the oldest oil-tool companies in the State.

Earle P. Halliburton, president of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company, will be chairman of the new corporation, according to the report. The plant of the Dunn Manufacturing Company is expected to be removed to Los Angeles in the near future. It is also planned to list the stock of the new company on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange.

BRANCH TO OPEN

National Public Accountant Group Establishes Local Office

Jonathan B. Cook and Company, a national organization of certified public accountants, announced yesterday the establishment of a branch office here. The head office is located at Chicago, with branches in principal cities including New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Muskegon, Milwaukee and Seattle.

The Los Angeles office will be under the direct management of George Harvey Rudd, C.P.A., formerly in charge of the Muskegon office. Mr. Rudd has been associated with the company for the past nine years.

REACTION HITS STOCK MARKET

Sharp Increase in Call Rate Starts Selling

Setback Covers Long List of Active Issues

Otis Elevator Among Strong Spots in Trading

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—A jump to 9 per cent in the call-loan rate, coming at this time of greater sensitiveness to the credit situation, turned the stock market sharply reactionary today. Although constructive operations made some headway in the morning, most of the gains were more than canceled in the afternoon, and a long list of pivotal issues closed from 3 to 17½ points lower.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but moved up to 9 as the banks called about $30,000,000 in loans to meet midmonth requirements and adjust their positions at the Federal reserve. Bankers said that the quick response of the loan rate to this moderate withdrawal of funds illustrated the rather touchy situation that has arisen with the sharp reduction in time loans and increasing tendency to finance the market with day to day borrowings under present conditions, bankers state that a 12 per cent call-loan rate is likely over any month-end.

The bullish operations in the morning were largely based on the statements of condition of the Federal reserve member banks, issued last night, disclosing a reduction of about $275,000,000 in reserve bank borrowings. The sharp rise in call money, however, indicated that the improvement in the banks' condition had been overestimated, and that the present supply of surplus funds is inadequate to finance any sustained bull movement.

FORD GYRATES

The violent contortions of the stock of Ford of Canada on the curb market, recalling the sharp breaks in Bancitaly and Canadian Marconi, which preceded the drastic breaks on the stock market last June and last December, had an unsettling effect upon speculative sentiment.

The high-priced issues broke sharply in the late trading. Wright Aero sold down 21 points, and closed 17½ off. Allied Chemical lost 13. Case Threshing and National Bellas Hess each 11. Phila-

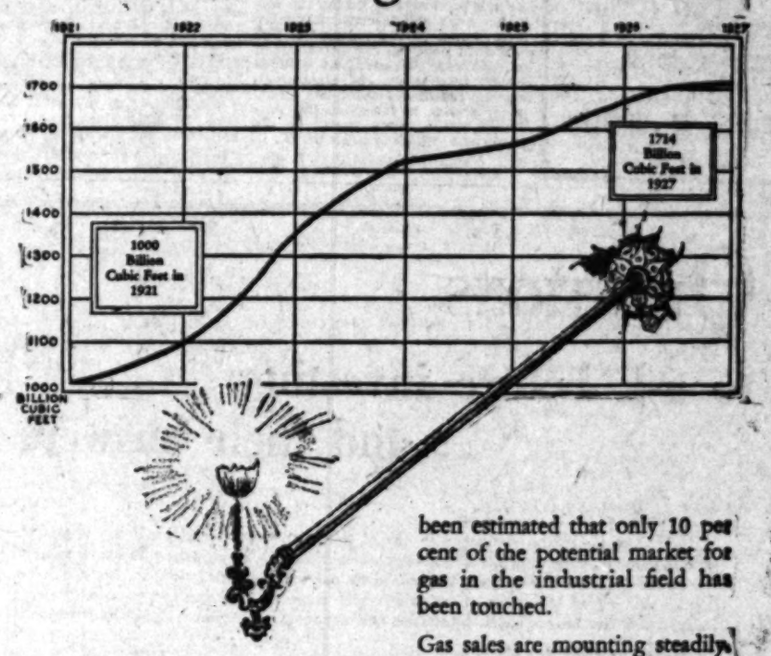
The Gas Light is Dimmed—



—Yet the Nation's Gas Sales Mount!

When gas was largely supplanted by electricity for lighting, many thought the consumption of gas would drop.

But new uses for gas as an industrial fuel were discovered. To-day over 21,000 trade processes are depending upon gas. And it has been estimated that only 10 per cent of the potential market for gas in the industrial field has been touched.

Gas sales are mounting steadily. It is estimated that gross consumption of gas in this country will exceed 2,000 billion cubic feet in 1928 as against about 1,000 billion cubic feet used in 1921.

The securities of the following companies, in the financing of which we have been directly interested, are attractive investment opportunities in this field:

TONE ON METAL MARKET STEADY

Zinc Improves Status With 15-Point Advance

Fear of Import Flood Halts Further Upturn

Copper Situation Unchanged on Orderly Buying

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor The Mining Journal, Phoenix

Zinc has followed the price reaction of lead and copper, and has advanced 15 points or to 6.50 f.o.b. St. Louis. The price advance was hardly expected, as the producers have been quite willing to sell far in advance at the old price. Lead and copper have held their price advances of a week ago strongly. Lead now stands at 6.50 f.o.b. New York and copper at 16.52 f.o.b. refinery.

The consumers have apparently felt quite certain that there was no price advance coming in zinc, as the producers have had their books open for April and May delivery and, instead of attracting business, the free offering of the metal had the opposite effect, in that it made the consumers reluctant to buy.

Immediately following the price advance in lead last week, the consumers crowded into the market to cover their requirements fearing further advance. While domestic conditions would, in themselves, have justified a further increase, the London market has prevented it, as an increase would have attracted foreign refined metal to the United States despite the duty.

During the year 1928 copper reached the low point of 14.00, the high of 16.50, with an average price of 14.806 delivered. Lead was low at 6.00, high at 6.50, with an average of 6.307 f.o.b. New York. Zinc at St. Louis went down as low as 5.40 and as high as 6.35, with an average price of 6.03. In all three of the metals the price at the end of the year was the highest price during the year.

COPPER BUYING QUIET

Domestic copper buying is now quiet and orderly and the wave has been thoroughly checked by the higher price. Domestic consumers are generally covered through April and are not likely to participate heavily in buying for a while. Foreign consumers, however, still have lots of metal to buy and are still seeking January and February metal with a volume of business that in itself is sufficient to create a buying wave and a further price advance. It is generally felt now that there is another quarter cent advance in copper coming shortly because of the heavy foreign buying.

European consumers seem to be apprehensive over the outlook for a copper supply and, while they have stayed about two months behind the domestic consumers in keeping their requirements covered, they are trying to catch up and get ahead, a thing which is hard to do in the face of the limited surplus and the active market. In general, the larger American consumers are affiliated with producing interests and they have a certain amount of metal allocated to them, but the European consumers and the American shoppers for metal have no such assurance of an adequate supply.

While it would not be surprising to have copper go to 17 cents, it would not do to have it go materially above that figure, as the producers and consumers both know the lesson of moderation. It is felt that the present price is an unwilling one for the producers and that the advances since the 16-cent mark have been caused by the consumer. The expressed policy of the producers is to maintain the metal at a moderately good figure and stabilize it, but the runaway market has forced it up and it is felt that the producers would much prefer to see conditions which would permit a price cut.

Thus, while we may get 17-cent copper and even higher on a stampede, the peak has probably been reached and it cannot be considered as detrimental to the copper situation if copper recedes a little from the high price a few months hence. The producers want to keep copper cheap enough to maintain continuously increasing consumption and high enough to make a fair profit and 16½ cents comes nearer fitting the specifications than 17 cents.

The uncertainty of the copper market now is as to what percentage of the stocks which are being bought by consumers are in excess of their actual manufacturing requirements. The buying wave of the latter part of December was a record-breaking one and it is felt that considerable metal was bought through fear of having to pay higher prices at a later date.

TEST DUE LATER

The real test of the ability of the market to consume copper is not going to come until April or May, when we will have the maximum refined output and the result of the recent production increases at the mines. A certain amount of overproduction is necessary to build up surplus stocks, not only to give more stability to the industry, but to permit of more efficient operation of the refineries.

Answering the question: "Are copper prices likely to stay at present high levels indefinitely?" Stephen Birch, president of the Kennecott Copper Corporation, is quoted as stating:

"While there has been a general increase during the last few years in the prices of commodities, copper has, until the present year, remained practically stationary. The result is that in the advance this year to a 16½-cent level it is rather generally lost sight of that copper metal is still selling relatively low, as compared with other metals and with commodities in general. Pig tin is selling something over 14 per cent above its 1913 (prewar) level; lead is selling almost 50 per cent higher; zinc above 11 per cent higher; pig iron over 20 per cent higher. As against these advances, copper at its present price is selling less than 2 per cent higher than its prewar price.

"All indications point to a continuing large demand and, with conditions as they exist both within the industry itself and in business generally, there should be no apprehension as to the future of the metal price both near by and distant."

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Trading was for the most part a series of relapses on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today, issues that did not sag below their customary levels being in an outstanding minority.

With the stiffening of call money to 8 per cent, selling off was the rule of the day, and price recoils were witnessed in nearly every section of the list.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph was the redoubtable performer of the day's trading. Following the lead of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent organization on the big board in New York, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph climbed to a new record high, it shot up to 172, an overnight gain of 10 points from the asked price of yesterday, and 11½ from the last sale.

Union Sugar also reached a new pinnacle, ascending from 25⅞ to 27½, up 2½.

Issues that declined one or more points included Atlas Diesel, Byron Jackson, Caterpillar, Clorox, Kolster Radio and Leslie Salt.

Kolster Radio slumped from 73¼ to 70½, closing at 70½, off 3¾. Magnavox opened at 75, rose to 78, sold to 70, and to 9 and finished at 9½, down ¼. Caterpillar fell off from 78¾ to 75½, recovering to 75¾, down 2½. Caterpillar rights hit a new low of 2.30.

In the petrols Standard opened at 68¼, rose to 68¾, sold off to 68½ and closed at 68¼, off ⅛. Losses were general with Union at 49¾, Union Associates at 48, and Richfield at 42¾.

BAY CITY CURB

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Prices sank on the curb exchange today, reflecting pessimism over high money rates.

The oils lost more severely, Universal Consolidated sinking to 1.90, then recovering 5 cents, Occidental Pete dipping 40 cents to 3.85, and Italo, which has been strong recently, lost 2½ cents, closing at 1.35. Western and Palmer Union also were down slightly.

The banks were stronger, Bank of America of New York holding its opening figure of 193, and the California "twin" regaining its opening price of 175 after dipping a point.

Industrials were comparatively inactive, Claude Neon and Columbia Steel being the heaviest losers, off a point or more.

(The Company has no funded debt or preferred stock)

Mr. S. Peiser, President of the Company, has summarized from his letter to us as follows:

History: Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc., will own all of the outstanding capital stock of Pacific Bone Coal & Fertilizing Company, Texas Chemical Company, and Louisiana Chemical Company, Inc. Pacific Bone Coal & Fertilizing Company was organized in 1878 and produces bone black, glue, and a number of by-products. Texas Chemical Company was organized in 1916, and in its plant at Houston, Texas, produces sulphuric acid, muriatic acid, nitric acid, bone black, other chemicals and their by-products. Louisiana Chemical Company, at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, was organized in 1921, and commenced operation in 1926. It produces sulphuric acid.

Products: All the products of the Company are standard basic commodities and are sold in advance of manufacture, to the total capacity of the plants. These products are sold under contract to the largest oil and sugar refineries in the United States. The Company is the largest manufacturer of bone black in America. Its business is subject to a minimum of inventory losses and involves little selling expense and comparatively small credit risk.

Assets: The constituent companies own, in fee simple, real estate carried on the books at more than $1,300,000. The balance sheet as of November 30, 1928, shows net book value of assets available for Class "A" Participating Preference Stock at $4,134,620.53. In the opinion of the management, the present replacement cost of the Company's various plants, machinery and equipment exceeds the book value as shown in the balance sheet by more than $1,500,000. Current assets are more than 6½ times current liabilities.

Earnings: Net earnings for the past three years as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, after depreciation and Federal Income Taxes and as adjusted to the present capitalization, were as follows:

	Net Earnings
Year ended December 31, 1926	$248,831.60
Year ended December 31, 1927	293,901.58

*Includes net earnings of $44,635.99, after depreciation and Federal Income Tax for December, 1928, based on estimates by officers of Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc.

Net earnings, as above, for the year ended December 31, 1928, are at the annual rate of $2.86 per share on the Class "A" stock to be presently outstanding. After deduction of dividends on Class "A" stock, remaining net earnings are at the rate of $2.73 per share on Class "B" stock to be presently outstanding.

Installation of new plants and enlargements of present facilities should add substantially to the Company's earning power. The management estimates that net earnings for the year 1929 will exceed $600,000.

Purpose of Issue: Proceeds of this financing will be used to redeem the Company's present outstanding indebtedness consisting of $838,000 Fifteen-Year 6½% Sinking Fund Debenture Bonds of 1942, to finance construction of a new plant at Buenos Aires, Argentina, for the erection of two new plants in the Southern states and for additional working capital.

Additional Provision: In the event that eight consecutive quarterly dividend payments of a minimum of 37½ cents each have been declared and paid on both the outstanding Class "A" and Class "B" stock, and if at that time the net earnings of the Company are equal to at least twice the annual dividend of $1.50 per share per annum on both Class "A" and Class "B" shares, in that event all distinction between the two classes of stock may be eliminated by a majority vote of the entire Board of Directors.

Management and Ownership: The ownership of the Class "B" Common Stock of Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc., is vested in the hands of S. Peiser, Milton Haas, Christian de Guigne, and the Stauffer Chemical Company. S. Peiser and Milton Haas, who have been identified with the management of the business for many years will continue as President and Vice-President. No change of management, policy or control is contemplated.

A portion of the present offering is being retained by the management for the Company's staff. 80,000 shares of Class "A" Participating Preference Stock and 80,000 shares of Class "B" Common Stock are reserved for issuance pro rata to the present stockholders.

This stock is sold when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to the approval of our attorneys, Messrs. Pillsbury, Madison & Sutro, and to the issuance of a final permit by the Commissioner of Corporations of the State of California.

It is anticipated that Temporary Certificates of the Company will be deliverable about January 18, 1929.

QUESTIONS
to ask before investing ...and their answers

Is the Business Stable?

Yes! The Company is engaged in one of the most essential and profitable phases of the finance business and fills a distinct economic need. This business is based entirely upon well secured loans always guaranteed by one and usually two names, and the loans in no case exceed two-thirds of the value of the security. The business is fundamentally sound and but little affected by market fluctuations and periodic variations in demand.

Is it Successful?

Yes! The highly successful character of the business is shown by the fact that total volume of loans to date exceeds $12,000,000 with an unusually low credit loss ratio of less than 1/10 of 1%. Net earnings for 1928 were over 3½ times preferred stock dividend requirements.

Will I Profit?

Yes! This investment offers a full 7% return exempt from normal Federal Income Tax. (Furthermore, accompanying warrants entitle the purchase of common stock on a favorable basis, thus affording an opportunity to share in the future growth and prosperity of the Company. We offer

Interstate Commission Expected to Grant Plea for Upward Revision

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) The year 1929 is expected to produce several important railroad developments which, it is felt, will place the Chicago and Northwestern Railway on a firmer financial basis. Foremost among these new developments is the belief that within two or three months the Interstate Commerce Commission will approve, at least partially, the Western railroad's demands for increased class rates in trunk line territory.

The basis for this belief is in certain rate decisions of the commission. In its decision of July, 1926, on the application of roads in the western district for a 5 per cent advance in rates the commission said:

"Class rates in western trunk lines territory admittedly are on a materially lower level than those in the southwest or any other sections of the western district.

"On the record we are unable to determine the precise extent to which the rates in western trunk line territory whether considered as a whole or as comprising only the area east of the Missouri River, are lower than those in the southwest or in the remainder of the western district. It is clear that rate increases in that territory, particularly the portion east of the Missouri River, will tend both to produce a more uniform level of rates throughout the west and to benefit directly many of the weakest carriers in the western district."

That the commission is apparently convinced that class rates in western trunk line territory are too low seems clear.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Prices Turn Softer as Weakening Undertone Creeps Into Local Trading

Uneasiness following a strong opening swept through the trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and on general liquidation prices throughout the entire list were depressed to lower levels. The utility group, trading in relatively small volume, was the only division of the market to show any signs of stability. The oil stocks weakened as a whole and active leaders among bank, industrial and miscellaneous issues joined in the downward movement.

Pacific Finance, a sensation during the past week, shot up to a new peak at 111 1-4 in the first half-hour of trading, further discounting the stock dividend directors declared just before noon. At this point prot taking set in and under the influence of realizing, the stock dropped to a close at 100 off 5½ net. Nearly 8500 shares were transferred. Lincoln Mortgage rallied 10 cents to 1.20. Pacific National Company slumped 1 3-4 to 37 1-4 while Piggly Wiggly Western States held firm to 28 3-4.

Rio Grande continued to lead the activity among oil shares and dropped down 1 3-8 points to 32 5-8 after holding to 34 1-4 shortly after the opening. Barnsdall lost ½ to 42 3-4 and Richfield, 1-4 to 45. Standard of California eased fractionally to 69 and Union of California, 1-4 to 49. Union Associates lost ½ to 48. Rights to both Union stocks were also depressed. Signal Oil fell off 3-4 to 40.

Transamerica Corporation lost a point to 130 and Merchants' National reacted a similar amount to 250. Los Angeles-First National fell off an additional 3-4 to 121½. Emsco Derrick, in the idustrials, slumped 2 1-4 points to 39 3-4. Home Service ran contrary to the general trend and advanced 1½ points to 25. Hydraulic Brake and Pacific Clay Products each lost ½ point to finish at 45½ and 35, respectively.

LOS ANGELES CURB

In sympathy with the trend of prices on the parent board, a widespread selling movement dominated operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. Practically all of the oil stocks felt the pressure of liquidation as did the industrials. Mining stocks strengthened sharply, unaffected by the general trend.

Gladding, McBean, still inspired by rumors of an extra dividend circulated throughout the past week and aided by another rumor of a pending merger, soared to a new top early in the day at 97 3-4. Selling pressure forced the issue down to a low at 86 1-4 from where it rallied to close at 90, off 3 points net. Claude Neon fell off 2 points to 62 and Crystalite, 2 1-2 points to 33. Ten shares of Western Air Express were transferred at 650, marking a jump of 125 points since the last sale a few days ago.

Buckeye Union and Universal Consolidated broke 30 and 32 1-2 cents, respectively, to end at 1.55 and 1.92 1-2. Bandini slumped 40 cents to 3.40. Boise Chica lost 15 cents to 2:90. All were sold in large volume. Mexican Seaboard traded lightly and reacted 1 1-2 points to 58 1-4. Others closed fractionally lower.

Your Money Protected By These 6 Rigid Safeguards

—enabling us to guarantee safety plus full 6% return

Your money placed in this Association is loaned to responsible home owners to finance their homes. Their indebtedness is decreased by their paying it off in monthly installments. This constantly increases the value of the first liens which are the basis of your security.

Convenient withdrawal privileges convert your funds into cash when needed—100 cents on every dollar plus interest earned. No fees. No dues.

Your money is also secured by the entire assets of this $5,000,000 Association, including all cash, loans, mortgages, surplus and Guarantee Capital Stock.

State law makes these Certificates legal as investment for banks, trust, insurance and title companies.

For your further protection, a permanent reserve fund is maintained as required by law.

The management of this Association is the same which built the largest home development organization in the West. Its wide experience in such problems has been largely responsible for the confidence enjoyed by this Association among both investors and borrowers.

For further details call, 'phone or write. Certificates may be ordered and delivered direct to you by mail.

(A Maine Corporation)

$6 Preferred Stock
(No Par Value)

Cumulative dividends of $6 per share per annum. Dividends payable quarterly February 1, May 1, August 1 and November 1. Preferred as to dividends and assets over the Common Stock of the Company. Redeemable as a whole or in part, at the option of the Company, at any time upon 30 days' notice at $110 per share and accumulated dividends.

Business — Electric Investors Inc. was organized under the laws of the State of Maine in September, 1924, and, on December 1, 1924, was consolidated with the Electrical Utilities Corporation which had been doing a similar business since 1909. Its principal business has been to acquire, for long term investment, securities of various kinds, especially the common stocks of successful and progressive public utility companies.

The Company has also acquired, from time to time, for short term investment, securities of electric power and light companies, as well as those of companies in other lines of business. The revenue of the Company is derived from dividends and interest upon its investments, commissions received in connection with financial transactions, and profits realized from the sale of securities owned.

Stockholders in this Company enjoy certain advantages as respects inheritance taxes which are not obtainable by direct diversified investment.

Earnings — The Statement of Earnings for the twelve months ended September 30, 1928, shows, after the deduction of expenses, taxes and interest, a balance available for dividends of over 3⅓ times the annual dividend requirements on all Preferred Stock outstanding. All securities purchased are carried at cost; therefore the stated earnings do not include any enhancement in the market value of the securities owned by the Company. Stock dividends are included as income at the market price on the date received.

Equity — The Preferred Stock is followed by approximately 890,592 shares of Common Stock and Subscription Receipts for approximately 55,158 additional shares of Common Stock which together, at present market quotations, represent an equity in excess of $75,000,000.

The market value, as of September 30, 1928, of the securities owned by the Company on that date was more than $77,000,000, which is equal to over $440 a share on the 175,000 shares of $6 Preferred Stock outstanding.

Management — The management is identified with that of the Electric Bond and Share Company and has had long experience in making public utility investments. Among the members of the Board of Directors are some of the Company's largest stockholders.

PICKWICK

UNINTERRUPTED DIVIDENDS

THERE are few facts which indicate the success and strength of a company's management more clearly than an unbroken dividend record.

Such is the case of the Pickwick Corporation, which has paid quarterly dividends without interruption—on both its Preferred and Common shares every 3 months since the incorporation of the present business.

Send for facts today about these liberal-yielding securities, which pay cash dividends quarterly.

"I Bought The 'Coppers' Last May—

Are You Considering Them NOW?

My Investment Counselor—Moody—urged me to buy Kennecott and other 'coppers' eight months ago because of the wonderful statistical position of the red metal. The diversified list of ten stocks I then purchased, now shows me a total profit of 380 points. Today you are reading about the 'coppers' in the headlines."

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The bond market held fairly firm today in the face of an unexpected flurry in call money rates. Fears that a "bull" campaign in stocks cannot be conducted successfully at the present high money rates are reported to have diverted considerable investment buying from the stock to the bond markets.

Paucity of new offering in recent weeks has resulted in the clearing of dealers' shelves, and reduced the volume of high grade securities available. Total sales increased more than a million over yesterday to $11,372,000.

Rails were lower in sympathy with the stocks. Losses of a point or more were registered by Baltimore and Ohio 4s of 1950, C. & O. 4s of 1945, and Big Four generals 4s. Erie and Pittsburgh 7½s C slumped nearly 4 points. St. Paul adjustment 5s were off fractionally on fairly active selling.

International Telephone convertible 4½s were again the feature of the utilities, closing fractionally lower after touching 111¾ on heavy buying. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s declined 3 points from its record high figure. Other utilities were steady.

Anaconda Copper 6s, a speculative favorite in recent weeks, yielded fractionally. American Sugar Refining 6s were lower in light trading. Industrials to display strength included United States Rubber 5s, and Anaconda Chilean Nitrate 7s. The oils were easy, with Barnsdall 6s with warrants and Sinclair Consolidated Collateral 8½s off.

Trading in the foreign list reflected the coming reparation meeting, with some of the German issues fractionally lower. The general foreign list displayed a mixed tone. Pirelli of Italy 7s were in good demand.

United States government obligations were easy.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Yesterday's small fresh supply was augmented by about 650 head held over from Monday, including several cars of late arrivals, mostly Arizona stock cattle, a good part of which sold on a by-head basis. Trading was moderately active at generally steady prices on all classes.

Two cars of medium 1633 and 1213-pound heifer northern steers made 12.00, while two loads of low medium 854 and 973-pound weights turned for 11.15 @11.50. Small lots and part loads of common steers, including light Arizonas, sold from 9.35@10.50, while a small lot of 683-pound averages on the cutter order made 7.75.

Odd head of cows and heifers cashed from 9.50@10.00, while two cars of mixed medium and good 1037-pound Utah cows scored 9.35, with a load of 928-pound averages at 9.15. Common and medium cows, mostly small lots and part loads, were numerous from 7.50@8.75, while a load of mixed cutter and common cows made 7.25. Cutters and low cutters were rather numerous from 4.00@7.00. A sizable lot of 639-pound Arizona stock cows made 6.50. Bull sales were limited to odd head of medium and good kinds from 8.00@9.00.

CALVES—The small supply was cleaned up at generally steady prices. Odd head of milk vealers sold from 14.00@15.00. A sizable lot of 259-pound calves made 12.25, while about three loads of 235 to 268-pound calves went over from 11.00@12.00. Other calf sales, plain heavies and common kind, sold from 8.00@10.50, including two sizable lots of 318 and 379-pound Arizonas at 9.75. Late Monday a car of 380-pound Imperial Valley fed calves made 12.00, with 470-pound averages at 11.00, while a car of plain 304-pound Californias also made 12.00.

HOGS—Sharp price concessions were made and a complete clearance was effected. Yesterday's supply, twenty-three loads, included seven which were held over from Monday. Prices were unevenly 50@60c lower than Monday's best time. The day's top was 10.40, paid for three loads, while nineteen loads of 140 to 210-pound butchers sold from 10.00@10.35, with a car of 223-pound averagers at 9.90. Packing sows cleared from 7.50@8.00.

SHEEP—None. Medium to choice lambs were quoted from 11.50@13.50, with medium to choice wooled ewes from 5.50@7.50.

IS IT WORTH THE RISK

One per cent of $1000 is only $10. Yet many investors risk the entire thousand for the sake of the ten. Very often 1% in the yield of a security represents the difference between dependability and ill-advised speculation. In the selection of our offerings, security of principal and certainty of income take precedence over every other consideration. We confidently believe this policy will always prove wise and profitable in the long run, both to our clients and our selves.

These bonds are payable, both principal and interest, from an ad valorem tax levy on all the taxable lands within the Districts, zoned in accordance to benefits; such taxes being levied and collected simultaneously and as a part of Los Angeles County Taxes.

These bonds have been issued for the purpose of constructing a modern storm drain system. The improvement is of substantial type and has been accomplished under engineering advice of the highest character. All of the work of construction has been completed and the entire project accepted by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County.

This Drainage Development was started at the request of several large industrial companies that their plants might be further extended, and that adequate residential facilities be provided for their employees within easy distance of the factories. These Districts, with an approximate length of 7½ miles and an average width of 4 miles, lie directly east of the cemeteries on Whittier Boulevard, six miles from the corner of 7th and Broadway, City of Los Angeles. These districts include all the territory between Montebello, Monterey Park, Maywood and Vernon. They are traversed by the main lines of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Pacific Electric Railways, and the main highways out of Los Angeles including Whittier Boulevard, Anaheim-Telegraph Road, Atlantic Boulevard, Mines Avenue and East Washington Boulevard.

delphia Company dropped 15 points in a small turnover. Such important issues as American Can, Kennecott Copper, General Motors, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and United States Steel closed 2 to 4 points off. Radio sold off 8½ points but reduced its loss to 4 at the close.

ELEVATOR MOUNTS

Otis Elevator was a strong point, climbing more than 21 points to a record price at 324 1-4. Communications issues encountered good buying for a time, American Telephone again crossing the 208-mark in an extreme gain of more than 5 points. International Telephone touched a new high at 216, but closed at 211, off nearly 3 points. Western Union made a 5-point gain, but lost most of it.

Industrial Rayon, in which W. C. Durant is said to be heavily interested, moved up about 7 points, and American Radiator made a like gain, only to lose more than half of it. Kreuger and Toll was accumulated in considerable volume, but closed off fractionally. Hahn Department Stores improved on reports of pending acquisition of a New York store. Although coppers were generally heavy, Chile was well bought.

The commodity markets turned heavy toward the close, although trends were largely upward during most of the session. Cotton improved on better Liverpool cables, but fell off from 60 cents to about $1 a bale on the boll-weevil hibernation report. Wheat and corn were firm until the close, when realizing caused moderate recessions.

The foreign exchanges were quiet and generally steady, as sterling held firm. The Canadian dollar, however, eased.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (Exclusive)—After a session in which dealings were decidedly irregular the market for crude rubber futures sagged under its own weight and closed from 30 to 60 points beneath the previous finals. Factory interest did not come into the market and with a falling off in speculative activity prices after wavering back and forth throughout most of the day slid rapidly in an active final hour and all deliveries closed on the low levels for the day. Both the foreign markets showed unmistakable signs of uncertainty in early dealings, which brought about intermittent buying waves locally. A sale of 100 tons was made under R. F. contracts for March delivery at 16.30c, off 80 points. Spot price on the outside market declined ⅝c to 19¾c as buying interest waned. London was erratic, closing steady ¼d lower at 10d.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—A violent advance of 108 points in Ford of Canada, all but 5 points of which was lost, and a brisk demand for Standard Oil of Indiana, which advanced nearly 9 points to 69¾, the highest price in seven years, divided speculative interest in today's irregular, lower curb market. Prices showed a tendency to move upward in the early trading but the advance in call money from 7 to 8 and thence to 9 per cent cast a damper on bullish enthusiasm and led to many selling for both accounts in the afternoon.

The sensational rise in Ford of Canada to a new high record at 800 was based on wild rumors of a 100-for-1 stock split-up, large earnings last year and accumulation of stock by the Ford interests, but the stock broke to 710 on publication of an official statement that these stories were without foundation, closing at 735 for a net gain of 8 points. Ford, Ltd., ground back a point lower than a point, and American cropped out in Auburn and Hudson Motors.

Competitive buying on Standard Oil of Indiana by the Mellon and Rockefeller interests in their battle for control of the company was the generally accepted explanation for the rise in Standard Oil of Indiana, although the company also is reported to have set a new high record in earnings last year. Other oils were marked up 1 to 5 points, a few issues pointing upward while Gulf, Vacuum and Humble lost ground.

Public utilities also lasted a uniform trend, American Power & Light common was in brisk demand, the A stock nearing nearly 10 points to a new high record at 68 while the B proceeded to the first time. Other strong changes, handed on large volume but Electric Bond and Share, Electric Investors and some of the other recent favorites fell back 1 to 3 points.

Most of the aviation issues drifted lower although with the exception of Aviation Corporation of America, which fell back more than 3 points, most of the issues were held to fractions. Aluminum Company of America, Firestone Tire, Libby Owens Sheet Glass, Newmont Mines, J. C. Penney and Tubize Artificial Silk, for which there is a rather thin market, dropped 1 to 2½ points.

Trans Lux Pictures touched a new high at 13 on a heavy turnover but lost its gain and closed nearly a point lower. Thompson Products A rose to 40 points to a new top at 69¾ and then fell back to 64.

The closing price is omitted when same as the bar, and both bar and close when same as the high.

...operation Department Has Conference Here

...ty Representatives Tell of Many Complaints

As the result of a conference in the office of the State Corporation Commissioner yesterday, plans of several companies which are selling ... by contract for the raising and ... of chickens, poultry, fruit and ... products will be submitted to the Attorney-General for his opinion as to whether the contracts are sound and a permit is needed before they can be legally offered for sale, it was announced by Commissioner Friedlander.

The conference was attended by representatives of the State Real Estate Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, the University of California at Los Angeles and other organizations, including a number of companies engaged in contract selling.

Mr. Ingalls said that the credit of California is being affected because the value of the lands sold under the methods complained of is overdrawn far above the earning value of the real estate.

The representatives of the selling companies agreed that they are willing to come under the jurisdiction of the Corporation Department if it can be shown that such action is required by law, and it was agreed that the form of several contracts will be submitted to the Attorney-General for his opinion, according to Commissioner Friedlander.

HENRY FORD TO BE GUEST IN CITY SOON

Auto Magnate Coming in Next Thirty Days to View Assembly Plant Site

Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, accompanied by Mrs. Ford, will visit Los Angeles and California within thirty days.

This report was confirmed by I. A. Williams, superintendent of the local Ford assembly plant, yesterday.

"The announcement is true in all probability premature, and we are unable at this time to give any details relative to Mr. Ford's visit," Mr. Williams said. "Although local officials would not comment, it is known that Mr. Ford is much interested in the location of his big assembly plant at Wilmington, and his visit here is generally understood to be both for pleasure and to inspect the huge tide-land site for his western operations.

Trial Body Again Urged for Police

Renewing arguments for restoration of the police trial board for hearing charges against police officers, Commissioner Thorpe yesterday urged that two of the three members chosen from patrolmen, or rank and file, of the police department might be tried by their peers, since they compose 90 per cent of the men on the force. Thorpe declared that police officers are backward in "explaining matters to their superiors" and would feel freer to discuss details of their work with two patrolmen on the trial board.

Commissioner Schweitzer drew attention to the fact that the plan still is in the hands of a committee, which will make a report.

YOUNG GIRL UNAFFECTED BY HONORS

Newly Elected Member of Ephebian Society Leader in Lincoln High Activity

Election to membership in the Ephebian Society, the only honor society in the Los Angeles school district, is a heavy honor for a high school pupil, yet it rests lightly on the shoulders of Miss Katheryn McDonald, Lincoln High School girl, who has been notified of her selection from a class of 110 boys and girls.

Of course, she's conscious of the honor, but she hasn't let it turn her head, which, considering that she is the youngest member of her class, a leader in other than scholastic activities and regarded by her teachers as an outstanding example of all that the young schoolgirl should be, is very much to the young lady's credit.

Katheryn is graduating February 1, just before her fifteenth birthday. She entered Lincoln High School when she was 11, and throughout her high school career she never has received any marks but A's in her work. In addition she is editor of the Railsplitter, the school daily, twice editor of the school's year-book, a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, and a member of the Military Club.

"No, I don't believe that I've worked any more than an average amount," she said, "I haven't even studied with the idea of winning these honors, but I've always enjoyed it, and I guess that's why I got good grades."

In September she expects to enter the University of California at Los Angeles.

COUNCIL DENIES PROTEST

The City Council yesterday denied protests against the confirmation of assessments for the improvement of streets in the Wadsworth street and One Hundred and Fifth street Improvement District.

CLOTHIER LOSES IN LIFE BATTLE

A. J. Mullen Succumbs to Appendicitis

Had Long Been Head of Mullen & Bluett

Operation Failed to Stay Approach of Death

Andrew J. Mullen, president and general manager of Mullen & Bluett, died last night shortly before 12 o'clock at St. Vincent's Hospital, where he had been ill with appendicitis for two weeks. He was 40 years of age.

The head of the clothing establishment was stricken on the 3rd inst. and an operation was performed on the 9th inst. He failed to react favorably to treatment following the operation and virtually all hope for his recovery was abandoned yesterday afternoon.

BUILT NEW HOME

Three physicians, Drs. L. B. Morton, A. S. Granger and E. T. Dillon, were in attendance at the bedside almost constantly for many hours before his death. Mrs. Lorraine Mullen, his wife, and Mrs. Catherine Murphy, a sister who resides in San Francisco, were at the hospital when the end came. They were prostrated with grief.

Mr. Mullen had just completed the construction of a new residence in Westwood, after a year of intense devotion to his firm's duties which resulted in increased business, and moved into it the day before he was stricken with illness. He was taken immediately to the hospital, but an operation was not believed necessary until a week later when he took a turn for the worse. He rallied slightly following the operation, but a gradual decline set in and yesterday his condition was pronounced grave.

PIONEER MERCHANT

The clothier had been engaged in business here for nearly twenty years, all of which time he devoted to the firm which his grandfather, Andrew Mullen, founded forty-five years ago. Mr. Mullen was born here in 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frances Mullen.

He attended St. Vincent's Academy and later was graduated from Santa Clara College, Santa Clara. Following completion of his education he returned to Los Angeles and took up his work with Mullen & Bluett, which his father was operating. W. C. Bluett, the other member of the firm, having retired from the business in 1903.

Eight years ago Mr. Mullen was made vice-president and general manager of the clothing firm and in the early part of last year he was elected president. The company is owned by a family corporation. Among the stockholders are Mr. Mullen's sister, Mrs. Murphy, Miss Maria Mullen, his aunt, and Mrs. George Allen Hancock, also an aunt.

ACTIVE SOCIALLY

Under his leadership, Mullen & Bluett showed rapid progress and his management resulted in enlargement of the local store and establishment of branch stores at Hollywood and Pasadena.

Mr. Mullen was active socially as well as in a business way and was a member of the Los Angeles Athletic, Uplifters, Annandale and Pasadena Athletic and Country Club as well as many other organizations. He had traveled extensively and had toured Europe on buying trips for the stores.

Mr. Mullen leaves a widow, Mrs. Lorraine Mullen, his sister, Mrs. Murphy, two sons, Andrew Joseph, Jr., 11, and John Deane, 7, and a daughter, Jane Francis, 14.

Funeral arrangements will be announced today.

HEARING ON CEMENT TO BE RESUMED

Council Committee Will Consider Colden Proposal Again on 29th Inst.

After a lengthy public hearing yesterday on Councilman Colden's proposal to remove the present restrictions on the use of foreign cement on public works projects the City Council's Public Works Committee decided to make no recommendation for the present on the matter but to hold another public hearing on the 29th inst.

Most of yesterday's session of the committee was devoted to hearing opponents of the proposal, who included H. W. O'Melveny, representing the Riverside Portland Cement Company; Asa V. Call, representing the California Portland Cement Company, and representatives of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Toward the close of the session, however, Councilman Colden, who was present, introduced several speakers in favor of his proposal. These included representatives of civic bodies, a representative of the Belgian Consulate, an official of a Belgian cement concern, and most notably a man giving his name as D. A. Johnston but refusing to identify the corporation for which he said he spoke.

Mr. Johnston said he was speaking for a newly organized corporation, capitalized at $10,000,000, which is establishing a cement plant within 100 miles of this city and which will sell cement at $1.50 a barrel, a great reduction under the present standard price. Pressed several times to give the name of the corporation, he steadfastly refused.

The restrictions against which the resolution of Councilman Colden is aimed are that all foreign cement must be shipped here in paper-lined sacks and that any brand of cement to be used in public construction in this city must have been in general use for two years. The resolution, which recommends that these restrictions be lifted, asserts that they have acted to bar all foreign cement from this city and have aided in allowing the local manufacturers to maintain a monopoly.

Mr. O'Melveny, who made the chief argument for the opponents of the proposal, pointed out that the restrictions were designed only to assure the quality of the cement in use. He recapitulated the history of the adoption of the restrictions to prove that the cement companies had no hand in procuring their adoption but that it was the experience of the city with the use of foreign cement which led to the restrictions.

In reply to questions by the members of the committee—Councilmen Randall, Martin and McAllister—concerning assertions that there is collusion among the local cement companies in bidding on contracts, Mr. O'Melveny denied that such is the case. He said that the only explanation for the similarity in prices asked by the

BATTLE FLEET SAILS FOR 'WAR'

Eighty Vessels Steaming to Panama in Formation

Craft Will Attempt Attack on Defenses of Canal

Pacific Group Will Return to Local Port March 23

Under lowering skies, the battle fleet sailed for Panama yesterday morning, to be absent until March 23 on the annual training cruise and for two ambitious war games centered on possession of the Canal—in which 150 men-of-war and 300 modern aircraft will participate simultaneously.

"At 4 p.m. yesterday, when the destroyer squadrons and submarine divisions from San Diego joined the fleet at a rendezvous ninety miles south of Los Angeles Harbor there were eighty ships under the four-starred flag of Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief. The aircraft carrier Lexington, as a unit of the "Blue" fleet that will endeavor to defend the Canal from the invading battle fleet, left San Pedro at 12:01 a.m. and, accompanied by the destroyers Barker and Whipple, is proceeding to Panama at high speed independently.

The fleet theoretically was at war from the moment of its departure from the base, the nine battleships and units of the fleet train steering a devious, twisting course out of the roadstead through a channel previously swept clear of "enemy" mines by minesweepers. Borders of this safe channel were marked by the fleet tugs Pinola and Algorma.

STIRRING SIGHT

The dreadnaught squadron presented a stirring picture as the long line of grey ships stood southward, the rising southeast wind blowing the black smoke horizontally from their funnels. After the rendezvous at 4 o'clock with the destroyers and submarines, the fleet assumed the war-time cruising formation; steaming without lights at night, all radios silenced and outside the regular ship lanes, in an effort to approach within striking distance of the Panama Canal before discovery by aerial scouts from the defending "Blue" or scouting fleet, from the Atlantic, under Vice-Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor.

Following the "battle" for possession of the Canal, scheduled to take place prior to the 30th inst., the two fleets will combine as the United States fleet and thereafter be commanded by Admiral Henry A. Wiley, whose blue flag as the Navy's supreme chief at sea flies from the U.S.S. Texas. Following an at-anchor period at Panama from the 30th inst. until February 25, broken only by two short tactical exercises—February 7 and 8 and February 11 to 15, the combined United States fleet will conduct an impressive battle problem in the Pacific off Panama, from February 25 to March 1, involving the defense of the waterway against the concerted attack of a powerful enemy fleet.

UNITS TO SEPARATE

The battle fleet then will remain at anchor at Panama, March 2 to 10, while the scouting fleet is transitting the Canal en route back to the Atlantic, and on March 11 the Pacific armada will sail for home, arriving here on March 23, with tactical exercises en route. The submarine divisions, accompanied by the tender Holland, will sail on February 25, coming home leisurely via four west coast ports.

On return, the battle fleet will be without the battleships New York, Pennsylvania and Arizona. The Pennsylvania and Arizona will begin a $15,000,000 modernization in east coast yards next summer and the New York, as division flagship, will go to the Atlantic with them, returning to Los Angeles Harbor in late summer with the modernized battleships Oklahoma and Nevada. One new ship will return with the fleet in March, the new mine-laying submarine V-4, world's largest submarine and the Navy's only mine-laying submersible.

LONG RANGE PRACTICE

Following return of the fleet on March 23, it will prepare for long range battle practice, two secret experimental practices and force practice, a spectacular gunnery exercise in which forty destroyers and seven battleships will participate simultaneously on May 15. The fleet

PUPILS PAY TRIBUTE TO MRS. DORSEY

Los Angeles High School R.O.T.C. Group Presents Medal to ex-Teacher

"The proudest moment of my life," was the way Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, retiring superintendent of schools, referred to the R.O.T.C. medal presented to her yesterday morning by members of the Los Angeles High School military group. The medal, the highest award that can be made by the high school R.O.T.C., commemorated her leadership in education.

Responding to an invitation to witness a review of the 300 members of the R.O.T.C. of the school at Housh Field, Mrs. Dorsey was taken completely by surprise when the students formed a hollow square and Maj. William Bates, student head of the organization, stepped forward and made the presentation.

"I can't tell you how happy I am," she declared. "I have always believed in the R.O.T.C. and have long been convinced that through it come some of the finest things in education.

"The habit of strict attention fostered by the R.O.T.C. will prove of inestimable value to you in later through life, that that ability to give instant attention to the thing in hand will be one of the greatest factors making for success."

The presentation was made by the son of one of Mrs. Dorsey's former pupils, and was witnessed from the grandstand by a large group of men and women who also knew her as a teacher of Latin and as an executive in the school that yesterday honored her.

STREET OPENING TO GO FORWARD

Hollywood Five-Finger Plan Will be Advanced

Board of Public Works to File Maps Today

The five-finger opening and widening program for Hollywood today will be brought another step toward its consummation with the filing by the Board of Public Works with the City Council of the assessment district maps and diagrams. Filing of these documents means that the date for hearing protests against the confirmation of the assessments probably will be set for February 19.

This opening and widening project is the greatest ever undertaken by the city of Los Angeles not only because of the size of the territory embraced in it but also because of the value of the land condemned. The territory affected is in the main in the heart of one of the busiest sections of Hollywood.

The total amount of the land damage awards is $4,044,961.05. The expenses incident to making the assessments amounted to $117,179.20, making a total cost for the opening and widening proceedings of $4,162,140.25. The City Council, however, has allocated $148,703 to the project, thus leaving the total amount to be raised by assessment of property owners at $4,013,432.25.

OBJECT OF PROGRAM

In general the main object of the five-finger opening and widening program is the bettering of communication facilities between Hollywood and the San Fernando Valley. Specifically it includes the following improvements:

Widening of Cahuenga avenue between Sunset Boulevard and Melrose avenue.

NEW STREETS PLANNED

Cutting a new street between the present southerly terminus of Wilcox avenue at Sunset Boulevard and the present northerly terminus at Santa Monica Boulevard, thus joining the two dead-ends of Wilcox avenue and making it a continuous thoroughfare.

Widening of Cole avenue between Santa Monica Boulevard and Melrose avenue.

Cutting a new street, to be known as Cole avenue, between the southerly terminus of Cahuenga Boulevard at Sunset Boulevard and the northerly terminus of Cole avenue at Santa Monica Boulevard.

Widening of Argyle between Franklin avenue and Yucca street. Widening and straightening Yucca street between Argyle avenue and Cahuenga Boulevard.

MEDICAL TALK ANNOUNCED

Some phases of medical practice of special interest to the community will be discussed on the evening of the 25th inst. when B. D. Jacobs, who has been identified with studies on the economic aspects of professional practice, will address a dinner meeting of doctors and others in the Indian Room of the Ambassador. The announcement was made yesterday by officials of the Federated Church Brotherhood of America, under the sponsorship of which the meeting will be held.

TIME UP ON SLOT MACHINES

Fitts to Ask Indictments for Owners of Chance Contrivances Operating Today or Hereafter

Indictments will be asked today against the owners of any slot machines found in operation in Los Angeles county, it was announced last night by Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

This procedure was ordered at the end of thirty days' grace granted by Fitts following his conference with slot-machine owners in which he told them to remove their machines or face prosecution.

This morning Capt. Tom O'Brien, acting head of the vice detail under Chief of Detectives Wheeler, will take the field with a large truck to confiscate all slot machines found in operation. Information already has been obtained showing where slot machines are in operation, it was indicated.

No action will be taken by the District Attorney against the shop owners in whose establishments the slot machines are found, Wayne Jordan, assistant chief trial deputy stated in explaining Dist.-Atty. Fitts's stand on the situation. Instead, indictments will be sought against the actual owners.

The campaign will not be limited to today only but will continue until the slot machine evil is removed, Fitts declared.

Supervisors to Serve as Hosts

Members of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors will be hosts to other supervisor boards of Southern California at a luncheon given under the auspices of the California Development Association at the Biltmore the 23rd inst.

The luncheon is a part of a ten-day program sponsored by the association running from the 17th to the 27th inst., inclusive. It is devoted to a campaign for new members and to create publicity.

GROUP SPLITS ON ROCK MILL

Vermontshire Unit Quits Improvement Association Over Approval of Cement Plant

Another indication of the awakening of various neighborhoods and districts to the danger to residential districts as a whole in the proposed establishment of a rock quarry and crushing mill project in the Santa Monica hills was apparent yesterday in the announcement of the resignation of the Vermontshire Association from the Affiliated Improvement Associations.

In its letter of resignation officials of this organization bluntly told the Affiliated that it considered the action of the latter in approving the proposed cement plant as a "grievous error" and even went so far as to question the methods by which the matter was handled by the Affiliated.

WITHOUT AUTHORITY

"In the matter of the rock crushing plant in the Santa Monica hills," says the letter of resignation, "we feel that the action taken by a small handful of directors of the Affiliated Improvement Associations is a grievous error. We condemn the sending out of copies of this resolution marked as 'adopted unanimously' when the real facts are that there were two or three dissenting voices in the matter. Such initiative and action on the part of a few members taken in the name of the Affiliated Improvement Associations lays organizations that are members but who are not in sympathy with such action open to criticism."

The resolution after intimating that the action of certain members in behalf of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, which is sponsoring the proposed cement plant, is not entirely altruistic, states that action on such a matter ought to be taken by the Affiliated only after all member organizations are fully advised.

It has been reported that some of those pushing the cement plant project have been active in pro-

WITH theater stages full of girls wearing less clothes than would suffice for a humming bird's handkerchief, it is strange that anybody could manage to stir up this hullabaloo over a nude marble statue at the State Capitol.

WHAT'S THE IDEA?

The sculptor says his marble figure is intended to represent "Inspiration" — whatever that is. The young ladies of the stage have not announced what they are trying to express — possibly gooseflesh.

SHUT 'EM OFF!

The State Legislature has opened with an appalling avalanche of bills that are trying to become new laws. The trouble with California is that we already have about two hundred times too many laws.

STATE POLICE

There is one law, however, that could with great value be passed. This is the creation of a State constabulary.

Under the present system every sheriff of every county has an army of paid deputies who are necessary in times of emergency, but at other times spend their idle hours playing solitaire.

If the police force, outside of large cities, were to be incorporated in one semimilitary body like the Texas Rangers, the New York and Pennsylvania State police forces, it would reduce the cost about one-half to every county and increase the protection about four times.

THE SMART BRITISH

Even the clouds that envelop King Amanullah have a silver lining. He lost his throne and his job; but he had a grand time while they lasted.

His collapse is one more triumph for British diplomacy.

Amanullah was a ball tossed back and forth by Russia and England. Downing street outsmarted the soviets. Amanullah will probably never find out what it was all about.

CUSTER'S FATE

Publishers announce a new historic work by E. A. Brininstool of this city on "Custer and the Seventh Cavalry."

No battle in American history has been so thoroughly investigated as this tragic little fight on the banks of the Little Big Horn. There have been other massacres as complete, but no other had the dramatic color. It has always seemed to me that the Indians made a fool of Custer; they were more skillful strategists and tacticians.

In recent years there have come to light some letters from Capt. Benteen of the Seventh which fairly burn the hide from the show-off commander of that regiment.

BLACK MAGIC

The trials of a pow-wow doctor accused of black magic in Pennsylvania are conducted under electric lights by men who travel to and from the courtroom in automobiles, and go home to listen to the radio.

The City Council yesterday instructed the City Engineer to institute proceedings for the widening of Overland avenue to eighty feet between Pico and Venice boulevards and in accordance with a recommendation of the Street Opening and Widening Committee, approved a tentative assessment district map.

YOUTH WOULD QUIZ NEPHEW

Accused Slayer Asks to Cross-Examine Clark

Judge Takes Matter Under Advisement Until Today

BY JAMES M. KENDRICKS
"Times" Staff Representative

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 15.—Possibility of an open breach between Gordon Stewart Northcott and his defense attorneys loomed tonight following this afternoon's announcement by the accused boy-slayer that he will take complete charge of the defense, and tomorrow will cross-examine his chief accuser, Sanford Clark, his nephew.

This sudden and unexpected move on the part of the defendant came as the State concluded direct examination of young Clark late this afternoon.

"The defendant desires personally to cross-examine this witness," Norbert Savay, Northcott's chief counsel, announced as the State ended its direct examination.

Superior Judge Freeman took the motion under advisement and announced that a decision will be handed down tomorrow.

WITHDRAWAL THREAT

Second in importance to Northcott's newest plan was his attorneys' qualified announcement in open court that they will withdraw from the case if the accused slayer's wish is granted.

Following a conference in the County Jail after court adjournment today, however, Attorney DeTremaudan stated:

"If the defendant is permitted to examine any witness I will ask the defendant to dismiss me or I will withdraw from the case. However, if the examination by the defendant proves satisfactory to me, I may accept any offers to be reengaged as counsel should Northcott desire me."

CONFER IN JAIL

When court adjourned tonight Northcott led his attorneys to a conference room in the jail, where they were closeted for nearly an hour.

Northcott, apparently, remained adamant and stood by his plan to conduct his own defense tomorrow.

When the defense counsel and Northcott left the private room, the accused slayer dashed to the jail entrance and asked to be taken immediately to his cell. His attorneys stood outside and indicated that they had been unable to change their client's mind.

J. McKinley Cameron, also a member of the defense battery, was not present at the meeting between attorneys and Northcott.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Kelley and Redwine, in charge of the prosecution, tonight declared that if Northcott is allowed to cross-examine young Clark, who has been on the stand since yesterday forenoon, they will ask for a continuance until new counsel is appointed by the court.

TESTIMONY AFFECTS

According to Attorneys Savay and DeTremaudan, Northcott wants a motion made tomorrow morning requesting their withdrawal from the case temporarily. If the Wineville chicken farmer finds he is unable to carry on the legal technicalities of his case, he plans to request that the attorneys who have represented him be readmitted to the case.

Northcott early today indicated by his reactions at the counsel table where he sits that the damaging testimony by his nephew was affecting him. When his counsel objected to the line of questioning by the prosecution to young Clark Northcott said to his attorney: "That's all right with me, let him go ahead and tell his story."

To the jury and a crowded courtroom young Clark immediately plunged into the sordid and revolting details of the Winslow boys' deaths as they are reported to have been hacked with the ax wielded by both Northcott and Clark.

"Did you aid in killing the younger boy, Nelson Winslow?" Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kelley asked the youth.

NELSON KILLED FIRST

"Yes, we killed him first. I hit him first with the ax because Stewart told me that if I didn't he would kill me," Clark testified.

"When we put him into the grave I had dug for them, Nelson was making too much noise so we covered his head with dirt to stifle the sound until we had killed Louis," the boy continued.

He then related that the last of the two to be slain that night apparently was also alive when he was buried in the second unit of Northcott's eight-unit chicken house.

The boys' clothing was not removed before they were buried, he related.

Extreme precautions were taken by Northcott to prevent discovery of his crimes and a thorough cleaning of the hen house was made after the murders, Clark said.

BOOK BURNED

"I took the Pomona library book which the boys brought to the ranch with them and burned it a page at a time in the incinerator," Clark testified. He also said he burned the home-made banjo the youths had with them when they disappeared after attending a meeting at a Pomona boys' club on the night of May 16, last.

In accordance with previously announced plans of Chief Deputy District-Attorney Redwine, the prosecution early this morning succeeded in injecting the asserted murders of Walter Collins and an unidentified Mexican into the record over the objections of Attorney Savay.

"Were there any murders committed on the ranch before the Winslow boys were slain?" Prosecutor Kelly asked young Clark.

"Yes, Walter Collins was killed there a month or so before," the youth replied.

"Well, were there any before that, which you know of?" the prosecutor asked.

"No, there were no murders there that I know of. I saw Stewart bring a man's head there in a bucket and he told me it was a Mexican whom he killed.

BODY NEAR ROAD

Upon further examination Clark said that Northcott told him he had disposed of the Mexican's body along a road near Puente, where it was found two days later by Lon Compton, Puente farmer.

"We spent all afternoon of the day the head was brought to the ranch burning it and the clothes the Mexican had been wearing. We later crushed the remaining part of the skull with an axe and Stewart took it to the tin-can dump near Norco," the youth said.

Clark declared the two letters to Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Winslow addressed to Pomona by their sons were written at the dictation of Northcott and that the last one was not mailed until two or three days after the small victims were slain.

The witness, calmly and apparently without the fear which has characterized him since the murder-farm revelations, said at least a dozen boys were abused but later released without being otherwise harmed, were taken to the farm by Northcott before and after the four he is asserted to have slain.

Northcott laughed out loud when young Clark repeated an unprintable term the accused slayer is asserted to have used when he said he went out on his boy-hunting missions.

ESCAPE RELATED

The narrow escape of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dahl, of Los Angeles, was related by young Clark.

"Stewart and grandmother brought them to the ranch on the pretense that they would be given work there. Stewart got in touch with them through a charitable organization in Los Angeles after he learned they had four boys. I dug graves for them and Stewart bawled me out after they arrived at the ranch one night because the hole was not big enough for both of them. He later lost his nerve and we took them back to Los Angeles," the witness testified.

"That's all right, I find a better way to get them, but I will in the end, don't worry," Clark quoted his uncle as saying.

SAW MINER SLAIN

Clark reiterated his previous stories that Northcott told him he slew the Collins boy because he had seen him—Northcott—kill a miner near Saugus. Clark established the time of the Collins boy's appearance on the ranch by the St. Francis Dam disaster last March 13. The Collins boy disappeared March 10, and appeared on the ranch a "day or so" before that catastrophe.

Clark declared that he ran away from the ranch once because he feared for his own life and during his absence, his grandmother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, and her son removed the Winslow and Collins bodies from their chicken-house graves, burned them and scattered the residue "in the desert, fifty miles from the ranch." Nothing but bits of bones and hair found in the empty graves at the chicken ranch ever has given a clew to the hiding-places of the victims' bodies.

WOMAN GUESSES HUSBAND LAZY

Able-bodied Man Refused to Work or Support, Wife Charges in Suit

John T. Ragland was strong and able-bodied, but he refused to work, Mrs. Ruth Adams Ragland told Superior Judge McLucas yesterday when granted a divorce.

Mrs. Ragland testified that her husband failed to support her and that she was forced to support herself and him, too.

"What was the matter with him?" asked the judge.

"He was just lazy, I guess," Mrs. Ragland replied.

WOMAN IN PETRIFIED SON CASE SENTENCED

After conviction on five counts of using the mails to defraud in connection with the attempted sale of the so-called petrified body of her son Theron, Mrs. Allece Sawyer yesterday was sentenced by United States District Judge Henning to serve a year and six months in the Federal Industrial Institute for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

Judge Henning denied a motion in arrest of judgment and an application for probation. Mrs. Sawyer also was fined $1000 on each count, a total of $5000.

JUDGE UNSEATS LASKER JUROR

Dismissed Panel Member Cleared of Fault

Chance Introduction Costs Seat in Trial Box

Tampering Charge Exploded; Alternate Seated

Charges of jury tampering in the case of A. I. Lasker, on trial before Judge Wilson of Superior Court on charges of grand theft and making false entries in the books of the Lasker Finance Corporation, yesterday resulted in the dismissal of Eugene A. Rainville, one of the jurors.

EUGENE RAINVILLE

Rainville was given a clear slate in the investigation that followed the charges but was excused through agreement of prosecution and defense in order to forestall complaint regarding the conduct of the trial or the behavior of the jury.

ALTERNATE SWORN IN

Following the dismissal of Rainville, Mrs. Mabel S. Watt, who has been serving as alternate juror, was sworn in as a regular juror and the trial proceeded.

The assertion of jury tampering was made after it was reported that Rainville had been seen in the corridor of the eighth floor of the Hall of Justice with Peggy Robinson, secretary to former Dist.-Atty. Keyes while the latter was in office. Lasker is a codefendant with Keyes in a grand-jury indictment returned in connection with the asserted "fixing" of previous criminal charges filed against Lasker.

RAINVILLE EXPLAINS

Judge Wilson, after hearing the report, ordered an investigation and an adjournment was taken while Rainville explained what had happened. According to Rainville, he had become acquainted with Clarence Birney, a defendant in the Martin Leach case, which had been on trial in the courtroom opposite that of Judge Wilson. Rainville explained that the acquaintanceship had been struck up during recesses when persons from both courtrooms mingled in the corridor.

Birney, the story continued, chanced to see Miss Robinson in the hall and introduced Rainville to her. According to all parties there was no discussion of the Lasker case, but owing to the circumstances Judge Wilson thought it best to excuse Rainville from further service as a juror. At the same time Judge Wilson made it plain that no action would be taken against anyone involved, inasmuch as, in his opinion, the investigation did not disclose there was any ulterior motive in the meeting of Rainville, Miss Robinson and Birney.

TO LAY SUSPICIONS

Judge Wilson concluded the matter with the statement that he was dismissing Rainville in "fairness to all concerned."

Lasker is charged with defrauding the Lasker Finance Corporation out of large sums by means of false entries in the company's books. The case, which has been on trial for several weeks, was resumed yesterday with Lasker again occupying the witness stand in his own defense. It is expected the taking of testimony will be concluded this week.

Rooney Family First Headliner for Equity Ball

Distinction of being the first vaudeville headline act to be signed for the all-star cabaret at the Actors' Equity Ball at the Biltmore on the night of the 31st inst., goes to the Rooney family, made up of Pat Rooney, Marion Bent and Pat Rooney III.

Following the Rooneys, Sophie Tucker has volunteered her services and others who have fallen in line for the festivities are Eddie Dowling and Ray Dooley, Ruby Keeler (Mrs. Al Jolson) and several others.

In the presentation of the featured tableau, Marion Davies is to pose as "The Spirit of Equity." The affair will be a supper dance and all three ballrooms of the Biltmore will be placed at the disposal of the Thespian merrymakers.

French Veteran Wins Probation

Raoul Paoli, former French aviator, winner of the Medaille Militaire and Croix de Guerre, and French shot putter in the last Olympic Games, has been "queer" ever since he was shot down during the war and spent several months in hospital, he told Municipal Judge Reed yesterday. Paoli, who is now a "heavy" man in the films, was charged with stealing a dress from a downtown department store.

He admitted his guilt and asked clemency. Judge Reed suspended a thirty-day jail sentence on condition that the veteran keep out of department stores and out of trouble, for two years, on recommendation of Deputy City Prosecutor Margid.

FILM DIRECTOR FACES CHARGE

Tully Names Neilan in Love Triangle

Author Says Wife Admitted Her Infidelities

Counter-Complaint Filed in Divorce Action

Marital troubles of Jim Tully, author, and his wife, Margaret Mann Tully, yesterday developed into the traditional triangle, when Tully filed a sensational cross-complaint for divorce in Superior Court, in which he named Marshall Neilan, motion-picture director and writer, as co-respondent.

In his counter-bill to his wife's complaint, Tully discloses in all its details a purported confession made by his wife of her asserted intimacy with Neilan, against whom the author of hobo stories states he warned Mrs. Tully. Tully declares he and Neilan had been "bitter enemies" for a long time, and that he informed his wife Neilan might use her in an effort to injure him.

The cross-complaint specifically accuses Mrs. Tully of infidelity and charges an asserted clandestine meeting of the pair was held in Neilan's home, 601 Camden Drive, Beverly Hills, on the night of May 6, 1928. His charges all are based on his wife's asserted confession, the complaint asserts.

MEETING CHARGED

According to the cross-complaint and other papers filed by Tully, his wife went to the home of a prominent motion-picture actor in Santa Monica on May 6 and there met Neilan for the first time. No one else was there, the counter-bill continues and Neilan and Mrs. Tully had several drinks together and then went to the home of a director.

Later, the story continues, they went to Neilan's home. According to Tully's version of his wife's asserted confession, Neilan told Mrs. Tully he had broken a dinner engagement with an actress, and Neilan and Mrs. Tully then went to the latter's home, returning early in the morning of May 7 to Neilan's home, where they remained for several hours.

Mrs. Tully, the cross-complaint states, returned to her own home about 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning in a taxicab, having left her own car all night in front of the home of the motion-picture actor visited earlier in the evening by the couple.

"MENTAL ANGUISH"

Tully declares his wife repeated to him her asserted confession of marital infidelity many times between June 14 and July 23, 1928, causing him "grievous mental anguish" and "rendering him wholly unfit for efficient work for the last seven months."

He declares Mrs. Tully is capable of earning her own living in picture work and as a publicity writer. Tully's cross-complaint was filed by Attorney Francis J. Heney.

The present divorce action between the Tullys was started last September by Mrs. Tully, when she filed a complaint accusing her husband of cruelty. The couple were married January 24, 1925, and separated July 22, 1928, according to documents in the case. They have no children.

Previously Mrs. Tully instituted an action for divorce in June, 1928, but a reconciliation was effected and the case dropped.

CRUELTY ASSERTED

In the case now pending Mrs. Tully charges her author-husband with numerous instances of asserted cruelty, declaring among other things that he cursed and reviled her, falsely accused her, quarreled and nagged at her and beat and kicked her.

She also declares he stated he "recognized no obligations" in the married state, and that he also was a "man of no conventions" and "had no morals."

On one occasion, Mrs. Tully charges, Tully brought another woman to their home. He also is declared to have become enraged at her following the publication of a story of their reconciliation last June.

Mrs. Tully places the value of the community property at $150,000, and estimates her husband's income at $2000 a month.

The case tentatively has been set for trial February 8, in Department Forty-three of the Superior Court.

Tully came into prominence as a writer of hobo stories and a protegee of H. L. Mencken. Several of his stories have been made into motion pictures.

Neither Neilan nor Mrs. Tulley could be reached at a late hour last night for statements.

Prohibition Plea Urges Continued War on Alcohol

"Liquor interests in the United States are uniting with all the forces of every form of vice to attack the manhood and womanhood of our nation and, instead of dissolving the Prohibition party, we must reorganize it for the conflict with the powers of darkness," declared C. E. Jones, vice-president of the Prohibition Committee of Los Angeles county, at a rally conducted at Trinity Methodist Church yesterday in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Evils of the liquor traffic are not the only issues to be dealt with," said Mr. Jones. "The tobacco evil smells to heaven. It is common today to see otherwise refined women smoking cigarettes in the lobbies of hotels. Another thing we must do, put the Bible in our public schools. If our children are taught reverence for Deity and love of humanity, law enforcement in the future will be easy."

Prolonged cheers greeted H. Clay Needham, prohibition lecturer, when he said that, in his opinion, every vote for Herbert Hoover was a nail in the coffin of King Alcohol.

More than 400 persons attended the rally which concluded with a banquet in the evening. Walter M. Pierce, former Governor of Oregon, who was to have been the principal speaker at the banquet, did not appear. Those who spoke were Miss Graccio Houlder of Australia, W. I. Hull, John C. Bell, C. E. Jones and Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler of the W.C.T.U.

Today's Bible Text

O, come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our Maker. Psalm xcv:6.

THE SEASONING

If we are to have a new calendar with thirteen months in the year the gardener wants to know how we will divide the seasons—or will they butt in pretty much as they do now?

MILKING TIME

It is found that of every dollar spent in America for food a silver quarter goes for dairy products. Milking time is an important hour whether it be spent in Wall street, Spring street, or Dairyville. We are now spending more for milk than we used to spend for rum.

THE WAVY SKIRT

Skirts may be short, but they are not to be on sharp lines. They may be circular or wavy at the bottom, but they are not to be sawed off at the same length all round. This plan gives the skirt a sort of pansy-blossom effect that is gratifying to the eye. The curved or rounded line is ever the line of beauty. A little tilt to one side brings the arc of the curve in the skirt above or below the knee—just as the lady prefers. Fashion is very resourceful.

THE PEASANT CHIEF

The new Premier of Rumania may be the head of the peasant party, but he is a doctor and lawyer with some banking knowledge and, therefore, really qualifies for his job much better than if he were merely a tiller of acres. In our own country the leadership in farmers' and laborers' parties may easily be in the keeping of those who neither farm nor labor. If the head of the peasant party have a peasant background that is all that can be asked.

THE HANDY MAN

Although the new police commissioner in New York has been the official greeter for a Tammany administration he never smokes or drinks and the discreet manner in which he rids himself of his glass at the many banquets he has been forced to attend is at once the marvel and admiration of the many. He may seem to be drinking a toast with all the enthusiasm in the world and yet not a drop of it will pass through his lofty collar. He can be high-hat or low-brow and is, therefore, one after Gotham's heart.

MAKE 'EM VOTE

Senator Rochester of Los Angeles is also a believer in compulsory voting. He feels that Americans do not take their citizenship as seriously as they should. They duck their responsibilities. Anyhow, he is introducing in the State Assembly a constitutional amendment which would virtually compel every voter to visit the polls. The citizens would have to vote upon this amendment before it could be adopted and, therefore, the country would find out what they thought about it. It would be a good joke on those who failed to vote to find themselves being punished for it later.

THE LEACH CONVICTION

A few more convictions like that of Martin A. Leach, Los Angeles promoter, on charges of violating the corporate securities act, will help in convincing those who need it that the "blue sky" law of California is meant to be observed. There has been a tendency—of which the most conspicuous example was the great Julian Pete fraud—to take this law very lightly. In the Leach case it seems to have been discovered that the law has teeth.

The case furnishes another warning, however, that the law does not furnish automatic protection to investors. It is at most an additional safeguard; that is all. The old rule of careful investigation before putting money into anything still stands as the best guarantee that capital will be conserved.

Investors have done wonders, but they have not designed any self-operating mechanism that has integrity as its product. Business success is still conditioned upon experience and character, honesty is still the result of nature plus old-fashioned training. The law may succeed in enforcing high standards; but the observance of high standards voluntarily, by an institution handling the funds of others, is the best protection the public can have. No "blue-sky" statute can equal it in effectiveness.

GOV. DERN ON THE COLORADO

Disappointing to those who have been expecting Boulder Dam construction to slide along now on greased ways is the message of Gov. Dern of Utah to the Legislature of that State, urging that reratification of the six-State Colorado River compact be held up until it is definitely determined whether or not Arizona will accept the seven-State pact. Though not so in terms, the message is really advice to California and Arizona to get together and compose their differences, so that harmonious cooperation of all the States of the Colorado Basin may be had for the development program.

Gov. Dern does not mean that Utah should stick by the Arizona die-hards to the last ditch; instead, he seems to favor holding something of a club over Arizona and California, threatening the former with ratification of the six-State compact if it proves unreasonable, the latter with failure to ratify if it displays no desire to meet any just demands that Arizona may make. His belief is that the States can be brought to agree—a belief which he expresses in the concluding paragraph of a 3000-word discussion of the situation.

"While there is an irreconcilable group in Arizona, yet there have been some political changes in the State and new developments have resulted which undoubtedly affect the attitude of the people of Arizona toward the question of ratifying the compact. In view of the situation I hope, and I, indeed, believe, Arizona will ratify the compact in which event no further action by Utah will be necessary."

To those not familiar with the situation, it may be explained that the last phrase means that since Utah has already ratified the seven-State compact, ratification by Arizona, the only holdout, will make that pact operative and the six-State agreement will be superseded.

"If we rush back into the six-State pact," said the Governor earlier in his message, "California will lose all interest in a tri-State agreement and the chances for seven-State ratification will be gone."

The Governor here referred to the negotiations between California, Nevada and Arizona. He continued: "We are, therefore, just as much interested in watching California's attitude as we are in watching Arizona's. We shall continue to extend our friendly offices to bring our two good neighbors into agreement, and I think I have sufficient reasons for feeling optimistic about the possible outcome."

This is neighborly enough; but it raises the question of just what interest Utah really has in an agreement between California and Arizona. Heretofore she has been supposed to be looking out for her own interests in the river alone. That was the attitude of Utah at the time her Legislature rescinded the State's acceptance of the six-State compact; this action was taken on the ground that the Finney reservation insisted upon by California endangered the rights of Utah. The State was not at that time worrying about any other State's rights.

The Governor is correct, of course, in his assertion that ratification of the pact by all seven States is desirable and that California, Nevada and Arizona should reach an agreement if possible; but no such agreement or the lack of it could affect his State.

The question that most States would be asking under similar circumstances is: Do the six-State pact and the Boulder Dam bill properly protect the interest of Utah? and if the answer was in the affirmative, as Gov. Dern admits it should be, ratification would follow as a matter of course.

The difficulty is that Utah's attitude is apt to lead to more delay in a matter in which there has already been too much. A flood-control dam might, could and should have been built upon the Colorado years ago. The Imperial Valley would then have been relieved of the flood menace and collateral questions, such as power and domestic water, could have been settled in a leisurely manner.

NATIONAL PARK DIRECTORS

That failing health has caused the resignation of Stephen Mather, for ten years director of the National Park Service, is a cause of genuine regret not only to his associates in this important service, but equally to all who in the last decade have enjoyed the privileges of these Federal-managed playgrounds. The patriotic and self-sacrificing manner in which Mr. Mather accepted the duties and difficulties of his office can find no better tribute than in the present availability of our national parks and reservations to all classes of our people.

When on the creation of the National Park Service in 1917 Mr. Mather was appointed first director he announced that it was his intention to make the popularizing of the national parks the leading item in his constructive program. To him the public is indebted for the number of good roads that now open up what were once remote and little-traveled parts of the national domain. He sponsored the movement—of which nature lovers have taken such marked advantage—for leasing sites in national forest reservations for rustic cabins. He arranged, whenever the need was seen, for the operation of public utilities in national parks. But, himself a true artist, he never allowed any such added convenience to mar the picturesqueness of the national scenery.

A great part of his success in establishing the National Park Service on a solid foundation sprang from his unfailing spirit of co-operation. He exhibited this spirit not only when dealing with the heads of the Department of the Interior and his associates in the field branches of the bureau, but also whenever the advice of individuals or organizations, outside the government might lead to further betterment in the park service. Secretary West's letter of regret at his resignation expresses the feelings of his innumerable friends in his native State.

But if Californians are sorry to read the news of Mr. Mather's retirement they find satisfaction in the appointment of another native son, Horace M. Albright, to the relinquished directorship. Mr. Albright has been Mr. Mather's right hand from the time he became his assistant director with the inauguration of the National Park Service to the time he was made superintendent of the Yellowstone National Park, which post he filled with consummate success. The mantle of Elijah has fallen on capable shoulders.

BELL ON CEMENT

When Alphonzo E. Bell appeared before the City Club to defend his plan for turning the Santa Monica Mountains into an industrial area by building a cement plant there he gave a glowing description of how the proposed structure would add to the scenic beauty and general attractiveness.

"Never," answered the speaker, after some understandable hesitation.

That answer explains many things that have been puzzling Los Angeles since last spring when the cement plant plan was first broached. It has been difficult to understand how Bell, after conceiving and putting into execution a plan for a fine residence area that was a credit to himself and the community, should even consider ruining it by establishing an industry involving the blasting of rock and the grinding of it to impalpable powder in its very midst. It now appears that some one has been telling Mr. Bell fairy stories and he has believed them.

The quick and easy profits which have been dangled before Mr. Bell's eyes to induce him to turn his back on his neighbors and break faith with the purchasers of his land may be suspected of being part of the same fairy story. If Mr. Bell has gone into the business side of his proposal with no more thoroughness than the industrial side, a series of interesting discoveries are probably in store for him.

In the meantime he is in danger of ruining the homesite market over a large area, not only for himself but for other promoters. So long as this cement plant project is threatening there will be a disposition to hang back all over the section affected. For the best interests of all concerned the matter should be settled as quickly as possible. It will pay Bell himself to put in his rezoning application and have it denied, so that the public mind may be set at rest.

CHINA GOES FORWARD

Now that the red, white and blue flag of the Nationalist government floats over Manchuria, and the Chinese army is to be reduced from 2,000,000 to 500,000 men, there is a promise of a more stable condition of political affairs in China than has been witnessed there for many years.

There had been some doubt about the adherence of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, who succeeded his father, Chang Tso-lin, as war lord of Manchuria, to the new Chinese government. He waited several months after Peking was wrested from the elder Chang before he decided to cast in his lot with President Chiang Kai-shek. But the futility of militant opposition to the Nationalists together with the uncertainty of Japanese support of him in the event of an open break with Nanking, caused him to follow what seems the logical course of making friends with the Nationalists and floating their flag.

Of course Japan will not like this move of young Chang's, but Japan has had so many disappointments of late with reference to China that it will have to swallow this one, the greatest of all, along with the rest. When Chang said not long ago that he proposed to join with the Nationalists it caused much consternation at Tokio, and serious objection to the decision was interposed by Japanese diplomats. But since New Year's Day, when it became evident that such objection would make no difference with Chang's plans, Japan has been silent on the subject. Still the slaying of Yang Tu-ting, Japan's ally, in Mukden may yet cause serious trouble.

The reduction of the Chinese army by 75 per cent will result in an enormous saving of money by the new government. This money will be used for reconstruction projects, which are urgently needed, particularly the rehabilitation of the railroads, some of which were partly destroyed during the war. American capital is going into China in large amounts, our capitalists evidently having been convinced, as well they may be, of the present and future stability of affairs in that country, so long under the heel of Mars.

DAYS OF EFFICIENCY

We are learning that there are a great many by-products to prosperity and our progress and advantage now rest upon their discovery and development.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT
By James J. Montague

My dear H H—I learn that you
Are giving deep consideration
To finding men of breadth of view
To help you run the U. S. nation.
But for the posts you have in mind
You'll hardly need to go a-gunning.
Just advertise—and you will find
That applicants will come a-running.

Or ask ten thousand men to lunch
Of every status and condition
And every one in all the bunch
Will gladly fill some big position.
You'll find their hearts are all a-throb
And souls uplifted with the notion
Of holding down a public job
And filling it with rare devotion.

Ask anybody that you meet
To take a governmental station
On any avenue or street
You will not get one declination.
They'll sacrifice their own affairs,
They'll leave their old-time friends and neighbors
And bow themselves with heavy cares,
To help with your colossal labors.

Why search for men? You'll shortly learn
That from the widest scattered regions
In quest of cash and fame to earn
They'll search for you—and search in legions.
But meager salaries are paid
From this our nation's public coffers,
But Presidents in need of aid
Stand in no fear of dearth of offers.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

RECENTLY we wrote that the funniest Spanish sign we had seen that day was one across the highway in the most arid part of Riverside county which read, "Nuevo Lakeview." But it never pays for tenderfeet to get funny about things of which they don't know the background. E. W. Coe of Hemet writes us that Rancho San Jacinto Viejo was a Spanish land grant and that another community was called San Jacinto Nuevo. Adjoining it was another settlement known as Lakeview, because it overlooked Lake San Jacinto, which now has been drained. So Nuevo San Jacinto and Lakeview grew together and the present name is a combination of the two.

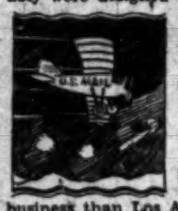
First Ounce the Cheapest

Air mail is about the only thing we know of which costs more wholesale than retail. The first ounce of air mail costs 5 cents and each succeeding ounce or fraction thereof costs 10 cents, with no parcel-post rates. During the holiday rush many packages weighing as much as ten pounds were sent by air mail, which should have been proof enough to the recipients that the senders really loved them. Planes out of here then carried as much as 2500 pounds a day, and averaged 2000 pounds throughout the rush period.

Postmaster O'Brien believes that the air mail rates will change as soon as there are enough planes and the service is firmly established. At present, he says, it still is in its experimental stage, and the odd rates probably were designed to discourage the sending of anything bulky, as a rush of heavy parcels would swamp the air-mail service.



It is probable that only New York and Chicago now are doing more air-mail business than Los Angeles.

Casting directors like to have male extras let their hair and whiskers grow, as it is always easy to trim the fuzzy ones when smooth ones are needed, but only natural growth can give the perfect effect desired when rugged characters of the wide open spaces are represented. So A. M. alleges he knows a Scotchman is an extra just because of what it saves him in barber bills.

Protecting the Innocent

We all remember how, when we were children, mother used to catch us reading "Don Juan" or "Boccaccio" or some of the other books which were cleverly naughty enough to become immortal, and confiscate the book with those well-known words, "My dear, I fear you're a little too young," etc.

Well, the other day a young woman university student caught her mother peering into some "sophisticated" magazines which make a special appeal to undergraduates, and promptly took them from her. "No, mother," she said, gently but firmly, "I fear you're not quite young enough to understand such things."

While we were talking to Postmaster O'Brien about air mail, as reported farther up this colyum, we remarked that some folks had found mail deliveries here a little slow during the big rush.

"Ever hear of the 'flu'?" he asked. "Just before the rush reached its crest we had 200 men laid off with 'flu.' All through the rush it was that way, and those who managed to drag back to duty were far from being as efficient as usual. The way they staggered on and did the best they could often was almost heroic."

WHAT'S WRONG WITH AUSTRALIA?

BY JOHN EDWIN HOGG
III

The natural increase of births over deaths last year added approximately 100,000 white persons to Australia's white population which is increasing in the cities and shrinking in the rural districts. It's only a simple problem in arithmetic to figure out what sort of a country the United States would be today, if by law and other restrictions, the increase in population had been limited to the birth of babies prior to the war for independence. An Australian continent populated by white people in anything like the numbers the country is capable of supporting, even with a very high standard of living, is too far in the future for even the imagination of a foolish optimist.

With organized labor in the saddle and literally riding the horse to death, it is a presumable question to ask—How can the Australian worker afford to be so independent—why doesn't he starve? That merely brings us back to the country's resources. It's a land of sunshine and plenty. Food is cheap and easily obtained. It is a sort of lotus country where the climate inflicts few hardships, and where the lack of a bed is easily made up by deep buffalo grass beneath the palms and eucalyptus trees. Then, too, every labor union is bled to support others that are forever on the strike. There's never a time that anywhere from one to 100 strikes are not in progress. But, the labor union leaders, with whom strikes are a sport and a business, are very careful to see that too many strikes at once are not allowed to interfere with the business of "protecting labor."

By the never-ending quest of the Australian workman for higher pay and less work, the cost of living does a constant gyration identical with that of a dog chasing his own tail. When the butchers' union has a strike it usually ends by the baker, the house painter and the carpenter having to pay more for meat. So, the carpenters strike for the increased pay they need to meet the butcher bills. Then, the bakers' union strikes, and up goes the price of bread. The house painters strike, and the expense of settling the trouble is passed along to the butcher, the baker, and everyone else. The cost of living is forever climbing with every new strike, so that no matter how often he strikes to get his hours shortened and his wages increased, the Australian workman is always a few jumps behind in the endless and destructive cycle.

During the year 1927 the population of the isolated island state of Tasmania—a land rich in fruit groves and dairy farms, was reduced by more than 2000 people. In spite of the fact that Tasmania is to Australia and foreign markets exactly what the San Joaquin Valley is to California, farmers went broke, banks failed, shops went out of business, and people moved away. All this in spite of a most fruitful year in every field of primary production. One strike after another left fruit rotting on the steamship docks, or dropping from the trees. Canning plants were shut down, and butter was fed to hogs. Tasmania, however, has not suffered alone. All six of the great Australian mainland states have repeatedly witnessed similar examples of wanton waste caused by the tyranny of labor. Wool and wheat are practically the only primary sources of wealth that labor has not succeeded in killing off. But, even wool and wheat suffered. There are 15,000,000 acres less land under wheat than there were in 1910, and 5,000,000 fewer sheep than in 1900. It is little wonder that intelligent Australians everywhere are asking, "Is this our progress?" Simultaneously, they waste no words in emphatically declaring organized labor "The Black Blight" of the commonwealth.

For the past thirty years Australia's labor government has been systematically operated upon the policy of spending money in excess of its income. And, in order to continue along such lines, it has borrowed money until its credit is completely exhausted. The country is mortgaged to England for more than it is worth, and the national debt is still piling up in spite of back-breaking taxation upon every dwindling industry that hasn't already been trampled to death by organized labor. This spendthrift labor government has dabbled in many lines of business, and every such venture has piled up an additional burden of debt.

In every phase of Australian government business the labor government has had its labor troubles. For instance, the government some years ago took over the operation of the railways, and in doing so it has been ridden by the labor unions the same as every other industry. There is scarcely a time when all branches of the Australian government railways are functioning at once. If the engine men are not out on a strike, the telegraph operators, the conductors, or yardmen usually are. If the railway employees remain on the job, the traveler who braves the tortures and uncertainty of railway travel anywhere in Australia, can be reasonably sure that a strike of the coal miners' union, or some other union, will leave him stranded somewhere out in the bush before he ever reaches his journey's end.

And, if anyone thinks railway traveling is irksome in America, let him try an overland journey in Australia for a full appreciation of just a few American blessings. Railway building in Australia was started about the same time it did in America. This construction was originally undertaken by thirteen different private companies. No two of them built with the same gauge of track. Construction of new lines has progressed ever since, as rapidly as has been possible during the few intervals that the work hasn't been tied up by strikes. Every mile of line put down has been an extension of the original track gauge mistake, with the result that today there is no such thing as through train service anywhere in the continent. Every few hundred miles one comes to the end of the track gauge of the line upon which he is traveling, and that means changing trains before the journey can be continued. The inconvenience to passengers is as nothing compared with the financial loss inflicted upon business in the handling of freight. Every shipment of perishable cargo usually results in a strike at the track gauge transfer points. This mistake cannot now be corrected short of a complete rebuilding of all the railways in the country—a task that would bankrupt the entire commonwealth, whose government is already staggering under a burden of debt, and whose every industry exists only by the whims of organized labor.

Australia's financial losses caused exclusively by the tyranny of organized labor are far beyond estimation. Strikes in various major industries have averaged between 250 to 300 per year for the past thirty years. There were 360 different strikes in 1926, and 436 in 1927. The wage losses to workers are roughly estimated at $5,000,000 per year. The losses to employers, and to the commonwealth, are wholly incalculable.

Where is it all going to end? When, and how? Australian citizens, who are in the best position to know, frankly declare they haven't the faintest idea. To any thinking person, however, it is obvious that organized labor is riding Australia for a fall—a fall which will undoubtedly take the form of financial chaos. The handwriting is already on the wall. Tasmania, with her industries crippled by strikes year after year, is now existing upon a government dole—a dole which a poverty-stricken government with its financial credit exhausted, cannot forever continue to pay. The other six states of the Australian commonwealth are rapidly being herded down the same path that Tasmania has already been driven. Wise Australians freely predict that it is only a question of time before a drought or market depression will cause a bad year with the wheat or the sheep. And, when that happens, Australia will "kiss the ceiling."

A few Australian optimists with very little, if anything, upon which to base their optimism, live upon the hope that the Antipodean workman may eventually learn something from American workers who have increased their wealth and their standards of living by following the exact opposite of the Island Continent labor policy. They hope that before it's too late, organized labor in Australia will have made the all too obvious discovery that it cannot eat roast goose and expect the same bird to go on laying golden eggs.

With organized labor wrecking the nation's business faster than a minority of enterprising workers are capable of building it up, Australian money is going out of the country faster than the surviving sheep and wheat exports are capable of bringing it in. With his proverbial love of pleasure, the Australians must have their American motor cars, American motion pictures, horse races, fine liquors and an endless list of manufactured luxuries which cannot be produced in the commonwealth under the utterly impossible business conditions created by labor. The labor government is going deeper into debt every day. Its borrowing capacity in England is gone, and a recent effort to float a new loan from the American money market in New York ended in a refusal of capital to invest in a proposition that is financially unsound. Australia is already full of idle men, and even the government cannot provide jobs for people who demand the highest possible wages for the least possible amount of work—while banding together as a solid unit to exterminate the capital that provides the jobs and the wages.

The recent sale of the union-ridden commonwealth government steamship lines, the practical collapse of the government-owned and operated railway system; and the refusal of the bankrupt government to construct motor roads, irrigation projects, and other enterprises that private capital dares not attempt; are but a few of the numerous indications that Australian workmen cannot kill the cows for beef, and still go on drinking cream. It is also proof that Australia will stagnate for lack of capital, and will forever be unable to compete with the rest of the world in any field or business outside such lines of primary production as wheat and wool.

Starting Young

An inquiring miss at Teachers College, Columbia University, has been taking stenographic notes of conversations between little girls and little boys of kindergarten age and finds that the little girl did more than two-thirds of the talking. Well, what of it? The periods of recorded talk average only one-half hour in length, so that the feminine supremacy appears more a matter of speed than of endurance, and the latter quality is the one about which argument is held. And as to speed, the talking probably resembled that oyster feast of the Walrus and the Carpenter wherein the Walrus ate the most, but the Carpenter ate all that he could get.—(Baltimore Sun.

THE NEW BIOGRAPHY

Biographers are writing books concerning the departed great, concerning statesmen, kings, crooks, and all who were of any estate. They write them now in fiction form, they make it like a house afire; and as I read my heart grows weak with something like a nightmare as I read a book that blights humanity through human virtues, human sins, and wonder where the distinction ends, and where the search for truth begins. The writers of today and age are so determined to be smart! And when I read a thing I engage there just to nearly breaks my heart. Biographers in other times described methods lazy and absurd; they wrote up golden deeds and crimes as records showed the things occurred. They made a portrait just as true as they could make, by studies from dusty files their facts they drew, from correspondence old and rare. Perhaps their facts were sometimes dull, a deed here and there was missed, and then they never tried to fill their readers with a fairy tale. So when you read the life of Jones, you knew what sort of man he was; you saw the color of his hide and bones, and every freckles on his jaws. You lived with him from day to day, you saw him in his normal life, you watched him when he had the hay, and also when he had the strife. And you could see in accident tones, when you had read the volume through, "I knew much about this man, in fact no person ever knew." But now I read a dizzy "Life" that's not fiction, undisguised and plain as you tune your ear, by every way I am surprised.

ANGELENOS ANNEX TITLES

Abe Miller and Martin Zuniga Capture Crowns in Far Western Boxing Championships

JACK DOYLE

The semifinals and finals were pulled off tonight at the Dreamland Auditorium and were well-attended. The show was not concluded until past midnight.

Results of the finals up to press time were as follows:

Abe Miller, Bob Howard Boxing School, Hollywood, won the flyweight championship, by defeating Angelo Fuste, Olympic Club, San Francisco.

Fred Lynch, Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, won the bantamweight championship by defeating Bob Martin, Y.M.I., of San Francisco in four rounds.

Martin Zuniga, Los Angeles Athletic Club, Los Angeles, won the featherweight championship by defeating Mickey Merkin, Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Al Trulemans, San Diego Athletic Club, San Diego, won the lightweight championship by defeating Bobby Andrews, Olympic Club of San Francisco.

FLYWEIGHT DIVISION, 112 POUNDS

Angelo Fuste of the San Francisco Olympic Club, won the decision over Cecil Earl Giles of the San Francisco Y.M.I., after an extra round of battling. Abe Miller, of Howard's Boxing School of Hollywood, won the decision over Charles Bardonale of the Y.M.I., of San Francisco.

BANTAMWEIGHT DIVISION, 118 POUNDS

Fred Lynch of the Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland, won the decision over Willie Keane of the Olympic Club of San Francisco. Bob Martin of the Y.M.I.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Promoter Ancil Hoffman of the Monarch Athletic Club today received a wire from Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, agreeing to let his man fight Cowboy Jack Willis in the State Armory February 11 or 18. Hoffman also announced that he has Willis signed.

However, Promoter Frank Shuler of the Observatory Club declared that he received a wire from Kearns similar to the one sent Hoffman and that he will appeal the case to the State Athletic Commission, to decide for which club Walker will fight.

Ace Hudkins Arrives Today

Ace Hudkins will be greeted with a brass band and cheers from his friends when he arrives on the Gold Coast Limited at 2:30 this afternoon.

The "Wildcat" is returning with his brother Art, from New York, where he beat the Belgian, Rene De Vos, in ten rounds recently.

Hudkins expects to make a couple of fights in the Olympic and then entice Mickey Walker into another battle for the latter's middleweight crown.

It was said last night by another brother, Clyde Hudkins, that the Wildcat will listen to any favorable proposition in connection with a fight at Las Vegas, Nev.

Tom Kennedy has the promotional bee on this one and hopes to land Hudkins and Walker for a July 4 scrap in the Nevada town.

Pa Stribling Satisfied With Details for Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Every indication is that Jack Dempsey will return to the ring and fight this summer in the decisive bout of the heavyweight elimination series to select Gene Tunney's successor, William F. Carey, new ruling power in the Madison Square Garden Corporation, declared today.

JACK DEMPSEY

For the present Dempsey's main interest is in the promotion of the Stribling-Sharkey fight, which may produce an ultimate opponent for the ex-title-holder. Dempsey will not referee this bout, Carey said, but will act as arbiter in case of any disagreement over picking the third man in the ring.

Carey's belief, he admitted, was not based on any definite assurance from Dempsey, but the Garden official regards it as significant that the former champion has said nothing about retiring.

DEMPSEY UNDECIDED ON PLANS FOR FUTURE

MIAMI BEACH (Fla.) Jan. 15. (AP) Jack Dempsey declared tonight that he has not decided whether he will enter the ring in the elimination bout to pick the heavyweight champion to succeed Gene Tunney.

"I can't tell yet," the former champion and the director of the Sharkey-Stribling fight plans said when shown a statement from William F. Carey, head of the Madison Square Garden Corporation that Dempsey would return to the ring.

"I am beginning to feel pretty good down here, but I won't know what I will do until I work out," Dempsey said. "I am the only person who can tell whether my body is in trim for a fight, and until I have the opportunity to test it, it is impossible to tell what I can do."

Diegel Fails to Qualify by Single Stroke

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

With a burr you could cut with a knife, a Scottish voice in the gallery gave that well-timed warning just as Macdonald Smith, who collected $3500 first place money in the Los Angeles $10,000 open Sunday, bagged his par on the eighteenth green to score a 34-35—69, tying George Von Elm's 35-34—69 for medal honors in eighteen-hole qualifying round for the $4000 Pasadena open played over the Pasadena municipal golf course yesterday.

TOMMY ARMOUR

Mac Smith, you know, is the golfing gentleman from Carnoustie, more recently of Great Neck, Long Island, who plays in very few tournaments, but seldom fails to collect.

Right back of the leaders came Tommy Armour, another Scot from Edinburgh, who tied Tom Stevens of the California Country Club, also from the land that reared Bobby Burns, for second place with a 34-34—70. Their cards were identical, Stevens registering 36, going out and 34 in.

SCOTCH PARTY

"Twas sure a gatherin' o' the clan. John Black of Oakland, one of the Scotchiest of the Scotch, came in with a 34-37—71 to tie Bob Macdonald of Chicago, 34-37—71, and Ray Mangren of Los Angeles, 38-33—71.

But some of the boys this morning are singing "Gray Skies, Nothing But Gray Skies All Day Long." Principal among these are Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente professional, and national P.G.A. champion, who missed qualifying by one stroke with 41-37—78, and Billy Burke of Port Chester, N. Y., North and

"STRANGLER" WITHDRAWS

Former Champion Declines to Meet Paul Jones in Wrestling Bout Here; Stecher Gets Call

The main event of Promoter Lou Daro's mat card for the Olympic next Wednesday night was changed yesterday when Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's heavyweight champion, wired he would not meet Paul Jones as scheduled because of the latter's refusal to drop the body-punishing hook scissors for this bout.

Jones immediately accepted the challenge sent here recently by Joe Stecher, also a former champion, who is starting a comeback. Stecher agreed to the match, via long-distance telephone, and Daro announced that his finish feature event next Wednesday night would bring together these two scissors experts in a bout that should decide which of them is now the real "scissors king."

It will be Stecher's first appearance here in a year. He lost his mat title to Lewis in St. Louis last February, and has been in retirement until last week. Now that the title has again changed hands, Stecher believes he has as good a chance to regain it as many of the young topnotchers have of winning it for the first time.

Jones and Stecher have wrestled here before. The Texan put Stecher's stomach out of commission for a long time with a very effective hook during their last bout. Stecher had to be assisted to his corner following the bout.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Willie Hoppe, dethroned as king of the balk-line billiard players two years ago, has decided he never can regain the 18.2 title which he held for fifteen years.

Hoppe at the conclusion of his pocket billiard match with Ralph Greenleaf in New York last week told W. V. Thompson, secretary of the National Billiard Association, that he would not compete in the coming international balk-line tournament starting in New York February 4.

Stanford Quintet Shows Real Strength in Game With Bruin Squad

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 15. — It is now thoroughly established that the present Stanford basketball team is a winner. For long years, Coach Husky Hunt's teams have taken the short end; there was always something wrong. The proper combination could not be welded together. Once a fair combination of forwards and center was found, one of the three would promptly go stale and upset the balance. There was dissension among the members of the team. And it all resulted in the play being ragged and not sure.

This season, however, is different. Vance Fawcett, who has played basketball since he was a "tot," has come into the ranks. He is probably as beautiful a forward as there is on the Coast. Harry Berg played last year, has improved, and is a flash this season. He and Fawcett are a pair, you may be sure. When Don Tyler, Menlo Junior College transfer, comes into the line-up as offensive center, Hunt will have a still better combination.

Husky's system of zone defense proved its practical value quite forci-

L. A. HIGH QUINTET NOSES OUT LINCOLN CAGERS, 22 TO 21, IN THRILLER; MANUAL ALSO WINS

BY BOB RAY

In one of those wild basketball scrambles that left everybody but Referee Cozens in doubt as to who won, L. A. High's battling Romans nosed out the Lincoln quintet, 22 to 21, yesterday afternoon in the Lincoln gym.

Just before the final gun boomed there was a mix-up under the Lincoln basket. Cozens tooted his whistle for a held ball but the rooting of excited fans drowned out the whistle and the athletes kept scrambling for the ball. Libro Guttero, Lincoln's center, finally got the ball and flipped it through the hoop for a goal that would have meant a one-point victory for Coach Happy Van Felt's Tigers. Cozens quickly got the ball and motioned for two athletes to jump near the Lincoln basket, but before he could toss it up the gun ended the hectic affair.

Fans from both schools swarmed out on the floor, believing their team had won, but Cozens said that the ball was dead when Guttero made his field goal, and that the Romans, therefore, had won.

It was by far the fastest and most exciting game of the City League season so far, with the ruggedness of Coach Al Hemsath's Romans and their ability to shoot long ones deciding the issue their way over the speedier Tiger five.

Capt. Henry Shapiro, L. A. High guard, was high-point man with 8 points and also played a brilliant defensive game. One of Shapiro's field goals came in the final quarter and broke an 18-18 deadlock. Dud Tower, the other Roman guard, flipped in another field goal soon after and it was on these four points that the Blue and White cagers earned their narrow victory. Fred McMahon played a fine game at forward for the Romans, also, contributing 6 points to the cause. Nemer shot only two goals, both near the close of the second quarter, to put the Romans ahead, 16-13, at half-time.

Guttero and Pontes, the latter a Tiger guard, played the best ball for Lincoln. Pazdra, forward, and Guttero both made 6 points. Riggs, Pazdra's running mate, was not shooting up to his customary standard and that probably explains in a large measure why the Tigers lost—that and the Lincolnites' failure to try any long shots when it was apparent that the Roman defense was plenty tough to pene-

LOUGHRAN FACES EMANUEL AT OLYMPIC ON FEBRUARY 5

The date of the Loughran-Emanuel match was definitely moved ahead yesterday by Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams of the Olympic.

This was done largely to accommodate patrons of the Wampas ball, who want to take in both events. The ball is to be held the 12th.

Both of the fighters were agreeable to the change, Loughran wiring from Philadelphia that he will start for the Coast today, arriving Sunday.

From Chicago, where he is training for his fight with Harry Dillon which is to be staged in Minneapolis Friday night, Emanuel said he would leave a day or two after the bout.

SANTA CLARA FIVE NOSED OUT BY STANFORD CAGERS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Jan. 15. (AP)—In a fast finish, a fighting Stanford quintet overcame a fifteen point lead in the last eight minutes of play to nose out the Santa Clara University basketball team here tonight, 28 to 27.

Santa Clara outclassed the Cardinals in the first half leading 13 to 8, at the intermission. Immediately after the second half started, they rang up five more field goals in as many minutes, to assume a 15-point lead. Stanford then crept up slowly to win out in the closing minutes.

Connolly of the Broncos, Fawcett of Stanford with ten points apiece, tied for high point honors.

The Tigers started out with a bang and were in front, 8-4, at the end of the first quarter, Guttero scoring six of the Tiger points. Shapiro, McMahon and Nemer, all contributed four points in the second period and the Romans led, 16-13, at the half.

Baskets by Riggs and Pazdra and a free throw by Onishi pulled the Tigers ahead for a while in the third period, but Campbell made good two free throws just before the third quarter ended to tie the count, 18-18.

Shapiro broke loose from the pack and dribbled down under the basket to sink one that put the Romans ahead again in the final quarter. Tower followed with another goal immediately to make the score 22-18. Guttero then missed a free throw, but Fontes sunk one from the foul line and Pazdra dropped in two more one-pointers to make the score 22-21, the way it ended.

TOILERS TRIUMPH

With Capt. Don Piper, Sturm and Fullbright leading a consistent scoring attack, Coach Jim Blewett's Manual Arts cagers turned in their third straight City League victory yesterday by defeating Jefferson, 35 to 21, in the Toiler gym. Sturm and Fullbright each made 9 points, while Piper chalked 8 digits.

Paul Mitre, speedy Democrat forward, popped the casaba through the mesh for 9 Jefferson markers to tie for high-point honors. The Democrats are improving with every start and figure to chalk up a couple of wins before the race ends.

In the preliminary tussle Jefferson's scrappy lightweights defeated the Manual midgets, 16 to 14, after a hectic struggle. The Democrat lightweights have won both of their games.

HOLLYWOOD "HOT"

Hollywood High's casaba tossers hit their scoring stride yesterday afternoon on the Franklin court, snowing the Panthers under by the overwhelming score of 60 to 8. The small Franklin players didn't have a chance. Capt. Ted Lemke and Binkley of Hollywood kept feeding the ball to Bobby Forbes, who tossed them in from all angles to take high scoring honors with 19 points. Ernie McRitchie, who subbed for Forbes in the third quarter, almost nosed out his team-mate, hitting the hoop for 16 points.

The Foothillers took the lightweight contest, 37-7. Watkins and Markowitz of Hollywood tied for high-point honors with 13 points apiece. Capt Wilcox of Franklin did most of the Panthers' shooting, hitting the basket for 6 digits.

RABBIT PUNCHES

FIGHTS AND BASEBALL

THE fight racket is getting warm in this city again. So is the Hot Stove League.

Champions and near-champions of the manly art of pugilism are converging on the Southland.

The Pacific Coast League baseball moguls go into another presidential skull session next week.

Between the two sports there should be enough excitement to keep the scribblers well occupied.

The fighters get "first bats."

Mickey Walker, the middleweight king, arrived Monday. Ace Hudkins, his most persistent challenger, gets in today. Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight person who is annoyed by his own crown and covets another, is on his way.

The presence of this trio will provide plenty of "soup" as the boys say. Hudkins wants to fight Walker again—any place but Chicago. Walker and his manager, Jack Kearns, can't hear the plea. It will take one hundred "grand" to cure their deafness.

Walker has a penchant for Loughran, who is scheduled to fight Armand Emanuel at the Olympic February 5. The "Toy Bulldog" can't lose anything by meeting Loughran, who aspires to the heavyweight title. He might get stung in another Hudkins bout.

The Las Vegas boys are snorting about a Walker-Hudkins or Walker-Loughran bout in the Nevada town. They want a little of everything since the Boulder dam project was assured. And they may get it—if they can put the money on the line.

At any rate talk is cheap. Las Vegas can't do a Shelby until it passes the talking stage.

FRIENDS OR BUSINESS

ALTHOUGH there have been rumors of this and that it seems likely that the baseball owners will open their battle next week along the same lines as prevailed at Portland.

This means that Harry A. Williams, the incumbent president of the league; Bill McCarthy, Judge McCredie and one or two others will be sponsored again as they were at the November meeting.

Unless a bombshell drops Hollywood will see the same result as Portland—Harry Williams carrying over in the event no candidate can command a majority of the votes. It was four to four at Portland, and it probably will be four to four at Hollywood.

His friends up and down the Coast are legion. The club owners are for him to a man and urge his candidacy. Mr. Woods's business demands are manifold. He likes baseball—and would like to serve his friends. But business comes first. He has said so himself, but still his friends persist.

Who will win—business or friends—will be seen next week.

POLO ON THE AIR

Midwick is host to San Mateo Friday and Sunday.

The one and only Tommy Hitchcock will be here the latter part of the month. Cheever Cowdin and other internationalists are coming.

There are a flock of Hawaiian ponies already in the Midwick stables. Jack Smith has had fifty more stables added to keep pace with the demand.

The mallets are ready to zip and the spectators have the itch. Altogether it looks like a great season.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FIVES AWAIT IMPORTANT CONTESTS

Four important basketball contests are slated for this week-end as third-round pairings in the Southern California Conference circuit are staged. Occidental and Redlands battle at Oxy in the feature of the contests billed, for the Bulldogs are rated along with La Verne and the Tigers as the championship contenders.

The La Verne and San Diego State teams have a two-game series Friday and Saturday evenings at San Diego. The Aztecs opened the year with a convincing win over Pomona, while La Verne has won over Whittier and dropped a decision to Oxy. The games are an even break. Pomona and Caltech tangle in a third game Saturday at Pomona.

Unless Occidental defeats Redlands, the Bulldogs and not the Tigers will gain the casaba title. Tiger officials feel that the Redlands team of this year, the same five that forced Oxy to an extra period and held them to a 25-24 margin last season, will defeat everyone in the conference, and unless Oxy can stop that quintet, the championship is gone.

COLIMA BEATS LANGFORD

side—one on the main floor and one in the gallery. These incipient brawls broke out right in the midst of the savage affair in the ring and added to the general hubbub. There hasn't been such yipping at the Olympic in weeks.

Nor such a house. At the reduced prices Promoter Jack Doyle announced that 9721 paid admissions had contributed $9924 into the coffers of the Olympic.

The same scrap over a year ago drew only half a house. But Colima, the old favorite, entering his eleventh year as a topnotch campaigner and with the pasteboards scaled to meet the general demand the gate was a record one.

Right after the fight Dutch Meyers, Colima's manager, announced that nothing would please him better than to get Ace Hudkins into the ring again against his boxer.

More than two years ago the "Wildcat" beat Colima at Wrigley Field, but the Mexican was forced to make a murderous weight. Hudkinds was then a welterweight, and refused the match on any other terms. Now he is a bonafide middleweight, and the two boys can meet on equal terms.

Both Colima and Langford came in at 159 pounds last night—one pound under the middleweight limit. It was their flight. Langford won the first over a year ago as the result of a foul. At Tijuana Colima stopped Langford in eight rounds after both had been on the floor. The Mexican made it decisive with his win last night.

Up to the fifth round it was a close-quarter bout. The short-armed negro bored in with a body attack. Colima nailed him with the left hook to the button that floored him in the fifth round and in succeeding rounds staggered him at least once each session. From the seventh round on Langford was woozy at the end of each round, needing guidance to his corner.

Abe Roth refereed and had a tough job prying the boys apart when they stalled gears in the infighting.

The preliminaries were all pips and had the fans as crazy as the main event. There were three knockouts and one decision fight.

In the curtain-raiser Jack McKnight stopped Ewell Paul in the first round with a punch to the stomach.

Dynamite Jackson, a dusky gent, then stepped to the fore and planted Walter Hoffman in the cooler. He knocked him halfway across the ring and under the ropes with a right. The referee stopped it—in the second round.

RIP-SNORTING BOUT

Then Young Firpo and Marvin Rife put on a rip-snorter. Both were down in the first round. Firpo was flat on his back and looked dead as a pickled mackerel. At eight he was up and planted Rife just as the bell rang. In the second round he had Rife on the floor twice for nine and the referee also halted this one.

Ernie Peters, who meets Newsboy Brown next week, was introduced just before the main event started.

BEARS STRONG AT NETS

BERKELEY, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) No less an authority than William C. (Pop) Fuller, the man who first ested the greatness of Helen Wills and coached her in the game which has brought her international fame and honors, concedes the University of California tennis varsity a successful 1929 season.

Coach Howard Kinsey's prospects are the finest since the days of 1925 and 1926, when Capt. Bud Chandler won the national intercollegiate singles crown two years in succession. Tennis is a major sport at California and such an outlook makes the sporting situation rosy on the campus.

Fuller bases his prediction on the quality of talent which Kinsey will have at his command this year. There are Capt. Dick Hoogs, Martin McKee and Nebo Chasseur remaining from last season's team. Bobby Sellers and "Brick" Budge, prominent in State and national play, come up from the freshmen. Dolf Muehleisen and Bob Minch are enrolled from San Diego. If they are eligible for varsity play this season the Bears will probably rank as the Coast's most formidable all-around squad.

RICKARD TELLS HOW HE MADE HALF MILLION; FAMOUS NOME BEACH GOLD STRIKE RETOLD

(This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration with Bozeman Bulger, for publication exclusively for The Times and The North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the eighth installment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.)

BY TEX RICKARD
[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

One of the first men to buy a drink in our bar and gambling house at Nome on that famous Fourth of July opening was an old fellow with long whiskers.

TEX RICKARD

"Pill 'em up, boys," he ordered, waving his arm to include everybody in the house.

All drinks were 50 cents a throw, and they could take what they liked, whisky, gin, brandy or wine. The price didn't bother anybody in those days. The old man slapped his poke—a small bag of gold dust—on the bar and untied the string.

"Weigh her up," he directed me, "and let's have another one."

The two rounds came to about $50. Come to think of it, the present prices don't look so high at that, when I think of those Klondike days.

KEPT BANK

I weighed the gold—he had close to five pounds—and it came to something like $1200. We kept a pair of fine scales back of the bar. One ounce was $16 and we had the subdivision figured out so exact that we could make change in gold dust down to fifty cents easily.

"Put the rest of it away for me, boy," the old miner ordered. "I'll get it when I come back."

But that old man never came back. He went into the mountains or up some creek. We never heard of him again. Very few prospectors ever left a name or an address. We usually knew them by sight and that was enough.

The proprietor of the saloon and gambling house, you see, was the camp banker. Often I have had as much as $100,000 stowed away in my little safe, all in bags of gold, without knowing the owners except by sight. They trusted me implicitly. My trust in them was just as strong.

That first night, as I have said, wound up with our sales showing $935 in gold dust. Our biggest expectations had never gone that high. The receipts fell off a little the next two days. That year, though, I cleared for myself $100,000. My profits for four years out of the Nome establishment were close to $500,000. That wasn't on paper, either. It was all in virgin gold. And I had started on $35.

To show you how strong the play was the first week or two, my original partner sold out at the end of ten days for $10,000.

One afternoon I was knocking about the place, watching the fellows play against the faro bank when I saw an old man, with long hair and a shaggy gray beard, speak to the bartender and walk away dejected like. He walked over to a bench and sat there with head bowed. I moved over to the bar.

FORGOT "POKE"

"What's the matter with the old man?" I asked. "What did he want?"

"He's broke and wanted me to give him a drink."

"You turned him down, did you?"

"Yes, he's already had two and I thought maybe he'd get too much."

I then went over to the old man, still dejected and staring blankly at the floor.

"What's the matter, old-timer, haven't you got any money?"

"Nope—flat broke. Lost it all last night, I reck'n."

"No, you've not," I told him. "I've got your gold. You gave it to me to put in the safe."

I found his poke and handed it to him. He had fully a thousand dollars' worth of gold left in it; had forgotten all about it.

He was a very grateful old man. It would have been all the same, though, if it hadn't been there. He didn't know and would never have kicked.

In a few minutes he was buying for the house again. Finally he wandered out into the cold.

Six months later the old man came in again and he was worth $200,000. He had made one of the strikes. Yes, and he left a lot of that with me, too.

I hope I haven't created the impression that the men who dug out all this gold got away from the Yukon with it. On the contrary, they rarely went out with anything. The bulk of it went into the general development of Alaska. When a man made a strike he would usually put his profits right back in the ground, buying other claims that didn't pan out.

I have said that I made close to $500,000 in four years. I never had that much at once. Just like the other prospectors, I would trade in claims. There was nothing else to do with the gold. There was no fun in seeing it piled up in the safe. We had to have some kind of action.

Though I made one fortune after another, I don't believe I had over $60,000 when I finally came out for good to take a fly at the Nevada fields.

One rainy day up at Nome a soldier came into my place. Walking up to the bar he handed me a yellow envelope, wet and partly torn. He was from a camp of regulars stationed on the Nome beach—a tidal beach that belonged to the United States; public land.

"Weigh that for me, will you?" he asked. "Tell me what it is."

In a corner of the envelope I saw a small amount of pure flour gold. It was as fine as pulverized sugar—the finest of all gold.

I put it on the scales, and it came to 60 cents.

"Where did you get that?" I asked.

"Why, down on the beach," he said. "I was fooling around and saw some of it on some clay bedrock. Just for fun I washed it out. 'Mount to anything?"

In about five minutes a dozen men were around looking at the flour gold.

BAR DESERTED

All it amounted to was that in two days I didn't have a bartender—not a soul, even to help run the roulette wheel and faro layout. I was alone.

That soldier had made the famous Nome beach strike. For months miners had been going through the mountains and here was a wealth of gold right at their feet. Many of them were actually camped on the fortunes that they had been seeking. The beach was strewn with gold dust for ten miles. It had washed down from the mountains in some past era and the tidal waters had gradually exposed it.

There was a general stampede. My bartenders became miners. Any one of them could go down there on the beach and rock out $100 worth of gold in a day. Some would rock out a thousand. All they needed was a plain little rocker, a sort of small box like a dish tray that sits on rockers and can be moved backward and forward until the dirt is washed away from the pure gold dust.

Most of the gold was found on clay bedrock, where it would stick together better than in the sand. The land belonged to everybody. It could not be staked out. Anybody had a right to go there and get what he could. They did form a sort of agreement, though, that each man was to designate what section he was working and his space was left to him.

Hundreds of miners came out of the mountains and worked the beach. Millions of dollars came out of that sand. The Nome beach strike was one of the most famous gold rushes in the history of Alaska. I have just told how it started—that soldier with his wet envelope and his 60 cents worth of pure flour gold.

After that the fight game was calling me, but I did not know it.

BEAR CAPTAIN TAKES CAGE SCORING LEAD

BERKELEY, Jan. 15. (Exclusive) Capt. Vern Corbin of the University of California basketball varsity once again has gone into the scoring lead of the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference. Corbin's conference total is 22 points, as compared with 19 for Mortensen of the University of Southern California. For the entire season Corbin has scored 53 points, as against 48 for Frenchy Larrieu, the stellar forward who was lost to the Bears for the remainder of the season last Saturday night in the U.S.C. game, at which time he broke his right arm in a heavy fall. For the season to date the Golden Bears, apparently headed for the conference championship again, have scored 252 points as against 184 for all opponents.

GARDENA CAGERS COP TWO FROM SAN PEDRO

Gardena High took a couple of basketball games from Manuel Laraneta's San Pedro Pirates yesterday afternoon. The score of the heavyweight game was 27-21 while the lightweight contest was 17-12.

The varsity line-ups:

San Pedro (21)		Gardena (27)

MISSIONS SIGN HUFFT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Irving "Fuzzy" Hufft, who batted .371 in the Pacific Coast League last year, today signed his 1929 contract with the San Francisco Missions.

PAIR OF OCCIDENTAL RACKETERS ADVANCE

Two Occidental varsity tennis stars advanced another notch on the ranking ladder yesterday when results of two challenge matches showed Frank Gove a victor over Lee Osborne at 6-0, 6-3, and Yasu Maeno a winner over Dale Robinson, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Gove, then No. 4, becomes No. 3 man, changing places with Osborne, and meets Arthur Kuaman for second position tomorrow afternoon. Maeno is now No. 5 and Robinson No. 6, and Maeno meets Lee Osborne for No. 4 position tomorrow also.

OXY FRESHMEN TO TAKE ON BULLDOGS

The Occidental peagreen basketball quintet will play its second conference tilt of the year on the home court Saturday evening when the Tiger babes tangle with the crack Bulldog frosh at Redlands in a preliminary to the varsity engagement between these two institutions at 7:15 o'clock. The Oxy freshmen just did nose out the La Verne first yearmen last Saturday evening after an exceptionally long and close battle. Redlands is reputed to have one of the best frosh fives in the circuit.

TURF ENTRY WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Edward B. McLean, turfman and publisher of the Washington Post, announced tonight that his brown colt, Jock, would not be a starter in the Coffroth Handicap at Tia Juana. He also said that his colt, Neddie, by Colin, out of Black Flag, is critically ill with double pneumonia.

ESPINOSA DISCUSSES GOLF

BY AL ESPINOSA

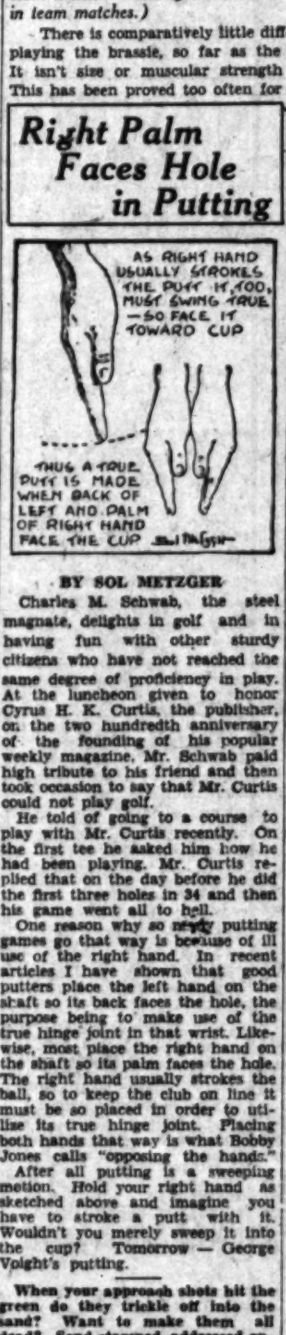
There is comparatively little difference between playing the drive and playing the brassie, so far as the actual mechanics of the stroke go. It isn't size or muscular strength that gets distance with the wood. This has been proved too often for further comment.

Right Palm Faces Hole in Putting



AS RIGHT HAND USUALLY STROKES THE PUTT IT, TOO, MUST SWING TRUE —SO FACE IT TOWARD CUP
THUS A TRUE PUTT IS MADE WHEN BACK OF LEFT AND PALM OF RIGHT HAND FACE THE CUP

The pivot and wrist-lash combined with proper timing are responsible for length. Cyril Tolley is a huge fellow who must weigh close to 250. Nobody hits them any farther than he. But in the open championship at Oakland Hills a few years ago, played over a course 6880 yards long, little Cyril Walker, who scaled 118, hit his shots as far as anyone.

AL ESPINOSA

I'm not such a big fellow myself, but I can keep up with most. Without seeking to ballyhoo myself I'll have to name a shot of mine as the best wood shot I ever saw. It was made on the 535-yard eighteenth hole at the Pasadena Country Club in 1926, when I was playing with Tommy Armour in the Florida West Coast open championship.

I needed a birdie 4 for a 71. There is a canal paralleling the fairway on the right, and in pressing to get all the distance I could I banged my tee shot into the canal. It looked as though all hope was gone, but I slapped one 275 yards down the fairway, straight as a string.

There was still a long distance between me and the green, but I hammered a brassie with all my strength, and it covered the pin all the way.

"You've laid it stone dead," said Tommy.

Then the gallery broke into a storm of applause, and I found that I had holed out.

Of course it was luck, but the shot had been hit just right. It had to be to get there.

With the modern far-flying ball there is little use for the brassie among the leading amateurs and professionals, probably not more than once or twice around. We face few holes that cannot be reached with a second shot with a number one or two iron at most. For the average run of golfer, though, the wood is a frequently used club, not only off the tee but through the green.

The best advice that can be given is: Keep the head down and hit the ball. If you do that consistently you're sure to get there or thereabouts.

FEG MURRAY'S SPORT SKETCH

pennant for the St. Louis team, instilling so much pep into the Cardinals' drive for the flag that the Pirates nearly lost out.

A year later, Ernie, now an experienced Rickey farm-hand, came in again to harvest the September hay and his coolness, dash, and courage once more helped greatly, and the Cards came through, as all the world knows. Orsatti hit .304 in twenty-seven games in 1928, as against .315 in twenty-eight games in 1927. In the much-lamented world series, the popular Italian worked as a pinch-hitter and center fielder, going to bat seven times in the four games and getting one run and two hits, for an average of .286.

One of Orsatti's bingles was a double, however, which was quite appropriate, as Ernie got into baseball through his job as a double for Buster Keaton. Buster is an ardent ball fan and, impressed with Ernie's work on the semipro lots around Hollywood, encouraged him to enter professional baseball. He was soon purchased by the Cards from the Pacific Coast League and sent to Houston, and last year played with Minneapolis until time for the annual SOS.

PHOENIX TO BOAST NEW BASEBALL PARK

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 15.—A new baseball park and amusement center, to cost $150,000, will be built within the next few months by an association of Phoenix men. The park is to be headquarters for the State baseball league and is to be used, according to definite announcement, by the Detroit American League team for spring training. At a cost of $50,000, has been secured a forty-two acre tract on East Washington Boulevard at Twenty-fourth street, close to the present terminus of the municipal rail system. B. H. McAhren is at the head of the promoting organization.

ling, Sr., father of one of the principals signing the contract.

The contract gives the Georgia pugilist 20 per cent of the gross gate receipts but no guarantee. The Garden Corporation takes an option on Stribling for his succeeding fight.

Inasmuch as Jack Sharkey, the ex-gob from Boston, signed through his manager last week, with $100,000 as his stipulation, the fight is considered a certainty for this resort city.

Stribling, Sr., said, "We are elated to get anything for the fight. We would fight Sharkey for nothing. I know my boy will go on to the title."

Dempsey, in the role of successor to his friend, the late George L. Rickard, will confer with John Levy, Garden Corporation seating expert, who will supervise the erection of stands to handle a crowd of approximately 30,000 spectators. The arena will be around the Rickard Kennel Club oval, near the beach.

Another task Dempsey was called upon to handle was the tentative selection of training camps for the fighters, whose contracts call for them to begin work here February 1.

GREENLEAF WINNER IN CUE TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Ralph Greenleaf won both blocks of his 1500-point pocket billiard match with Charles Seaback today and now leads his rival by more than 150 points. The point score stands: Greenleaf, 503; Seaback, 345.

The afternoon block was 119 to 73 in seven innings. Greenleaf's high run was 51; Seaback's, 25.

Tonight Greenleaf crushed his rival, 126 to 26, closing out the block with an unfinished run of 93 in the fourth inning. Seaback's best effort was a cluster of 18.

CYCLIST TAKES SPILL

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The first bad spill of the forty-sixth international six-day bicycle race at the Kingsbridge Armory took Palmero Mori out of the grind tonight. Mori fell with a resounding crash on a high bank of the wooden saucer, just before the night sprints started. He suffered a broken collar bone. His partner, Fred Taylor, was given until 1:20 o'clock tomorrow morning to find a new co-rider or withdraw from the race.

COLIMA FOR WINNER OF LEGION GO

Sheridan or Gill to Get Shot at Bert if Manager Wants Bout

The winner of the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night, Sailor Colima just as soon as the latter wants to sign articles. Either Sheridan and Eddie Gill both won the shot and as Colima has never fought either of these middleweights, the fight fans are assured.

Homer Sheridan has had to one hurdle that stands between him and a shot at Colima. He has beaten every good middleweight that he has met in Hollywood. His final fight at the stadium was with Colima stablemate Mike Hester and flattened Mike in short order. Colima fought Ray Moore in the main event on the same card and instead of taking a slumber and getting dressed, Sheridan took a seat in the ring at the stadium and watched the fight. From that night to today he has been convinced he can beat Colima.

This is the third and last go for the Sheridan-Gill fight. The Sheridan has forced a postponement until fight men were beginning to believe that he didn't want the bout. It has looked as if Gill worked with Sheridan when Homer had only been in town a few days and Eddie gave them a good whaling, even having him down with his gloves on. The boxing men claim, is one of the reasons Sheridan has been hesitant about meeting Gill.

Another fighter on the card that is causing comment is Carmen Tessalino, the Italian welterweight who fights Tony Bero in the special. Tussalino was a member of the American Olympic team in summer and in two professional fights has scored two knockouts. The boy looks like a comer.

TRACK DROPPED OFF CLUB CARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP) — The Chicago Athletic Association, for more than thirty years one of the country's leaders in competitive track and field athletics, has dismissed its team and will give up the sport, Sheldon Clark, chairman of the athletic committee, announced today. Basketball and ice hockey will be continued at present, Clark said, but there will be no more track due to the lack of interest on the part of the members.

South open champion, who pushed himself clear out of the picture with 41-39—80.

Among those who barely got in are Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., 39-38—77; Ed Dudley of Hollywood, 39-37—76; Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., 36-40—76, and Henry Ciuci of Bridgeport, Ct., 38-38—76.

FIELD CUT

Smith's 69 won't do him much good today, however, as the prizes will be awarded on the basis of thirty-six-hole scores. The entire thirty-six will be played today, with the first round in the morning and final round in the afternoon. A field of 165, which teed off yesterday, was cut to low sixty-four and ties following the qualifying round. Scores of 77 and under qualified.

Smith looks "hot" to collect that first-place purse of $1000. He was out yesterday with a 34, two under par, with three consecutive birdies on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes. He took a 4 on the par 3 eighth. Coming in he scored a birdie 3 on the eleventh and took four strokes on the short seventeenth to equal par.

Von Elm had five birdies in his round, going out in 35 and coming back in 34.

The cards:

Par (Out)	444	445 434—36
Smith	444	434 344—34
Von Elm	543	434 543—35
Par (In)	444	345 434—35
Smith	434	345 444—35—69
Von Elm	344	345 434—34—69

Armour wasn't scoring sevens yesterday, but he did let a 6 slip in on the 445-yard, par 4 third hole. Four birdies made up for his slip and he came home one under with a 34 to score his 70. Stevens had a fine round. Equalling par figures going out, he had one birdie and eight pars coming in for his 70.

The cards:

Armour (Out)	346	434 444—36
Stevens	445	344 345—36
Armour (In)	444	335 434—34—70
Stevens	444	344 434—34—70

JELLIFFE HAS 72

Walter Hagen, British open champion, had a pretty card going out with a 3 to start and eight consecutive 4's for a 35, one under par. He took a 38 coming in for a 72.

Bill Jelliffe of the Girard Country Club was second low amateur with 36-36—72. He tied for fourth place with Harry Pressler, San Gabriel Country Club professional, who shot the same, 36-36—72.

Jules Blanton, who came in with a 39-35—74, scored an eagle 2 on the 442-yard eleventh hole. His No. 3 iron shot rolled into the bucket.

Other noted professionals who will battle today are Al Espinosa of Chicago, who qualified with 38-37—75; Joe Kirkwood, 36-39—75; Harry Cooper of Buffalo, 38-37—75; Abe Espinosa of Chicago, 36-37—73; Al Watrous of Detroit, 37-36—73; Johnny Golden of Paterson, N. J., 37-37—74, and Danny Williams of Shackamaxon, N. J., 37-37—74.

Conditions at Pasadena are not the best. The fairways are still too new to be in the best of shape and the greens are a bit bumpy, so the sixty-nine shot by Smith and Von Elm can be considered very suerior golf. Several broken clubheads were numbered among the casualties due to stones in the fairway.

The handling of the tournament, however, leaves nothing to be desired. Jack Malley, Annandale Country Club professional, is in charge of the tournament, and the qualifying round was well handled by "Ollie" Painter.

A. K. Bourne, prominent Pasadena sportsman who, with John H. Eagle, put up the $4000 purse, was not on hand due to a cold.

TOMMY ARMOUR MAY "PRO" AT RIVIERA

Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., now unattached, has been offered the job of professional at the Riviera Country Club, according to an announcement made yesterday. Tommy, however, has asked a guarantee of $15,000 a year, which is more than Riviera desires to pay. While Armour is still being considered for the position, it is understood that he will have to come down in his price.

Armour has suggested Harry Cooper, former Buffalo (N. Y.) pro for the job. Riviera would like to secure Armour at a lower figure in preference to any other professional, however. Negotiations have been going on for the past month.

STANFORD CAGE SQUAD IS GOOD

by last Saturday night in the U.C.L.A. game. Not only is it more effective as a system of guarding, but also it is much less tiring on the men than the individual man defense, which the Bruins used. Stanford was fresh and going great guns at the end of the game when the Uclans were dragging about in a state of semiexhaustion.

TROJANS PREPARE FOR STANFORD

Endeavoring to make a comeback that will still keep them in the running despite their pair of defeats at the hands of California last Friday and Saturday, University of Southern California's basketeers are taking long and strenuous workouts this week in preparation for Stanford's Cardinal five, which comes to the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles Saturday, for a battle with the Trojans.

The contest will be the first of a three-game series which will be completed at Palo Alto February 15 and 16.

Basket shooting and then shooting baskets are the orders for the Trojan cagers this week. Repeated opportunities to sink the ball both on free throws and field goals were blown by the S.C. men in the California series and Coach Leo Calland is trying to get his men's eyes on the hoop so that similar chances in the Stanford game may not also be lost.

HERRERA TO BATTLE LEONARD SATURDAY

Aurelio Herrera, a young Mexican welterweight, whom Carlo Curtis, manager of the Main Street Athletic Club, believes will soon prove as great a drawing card with his clientele as Joe Peregrina, was signed today to appear in the semi-wind-up of next Saturday night's program. Herrera's opponent will be Frank Leonard, a durable and hard-punching youngster. Two weeks ago Herrera knocked out Boilermaker Jones in two rounds.

WOODBURYS TO PLAY VARSITY

The Woodbury Warriors, the 100 per cent victorious basketball aggregation of Woodbury College, will battle with the varsity five Friday night at Franklin High.

VALLEY MOGULS GATHER

WILLOWS (Cal.) Jan. 15. (AP)—Directors of the Sacramento Valley Baseball League will gather here tomorrow night to plan a schedule for the approaching season.

TROJANS ENTER SOCCER LOOP

Soccer interest has been revived at the University of Southern California, according to Secretary Ernest Brooks of the Los Angeles City League. Plans are now going through for the staging of exhibition games between the dentistry school at the Trojan seat of learning and teams in the Los Angeles loop and the outcome should lead to the U.S.C. entering a team in the City League before this season ends. Games have been played with U.S.C. in past years but the plan is being worked out on a bigger basis than before and should lead to intercollegiate soccer activities.

Secretary Brooks has announced the games for the semi-final round of the California Cup competition. The draw was made in the San Francisco headquarters of the C.F.A. Magyars clash with L.A.A.C. and Hollywood meet the Scots. The local finals will follow the semi-final tilts, with the Los Angeles winner meeting the victors in the Bay City series.

Sunday's games promise some interesting battles with the teams resuming their fight for the league lead. Magyars meet Vikings in the 1 p.m. game at Loyola Field with Hollywood and L.A.A.C. coming together in the nightcap affair on the Venice Boulevard grounds. Richfield Oil tackles Scots in the Rose Bowl opener with Sons and Pasadena playing in the second game at Pasadena.

EDDIE PALMER SIGNS TO BOSS DENVER CLUB

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Milt Anfinger, president of the Denver baseball club, who is out here looking for players, announced today that he had signed Eddie Palmer as manager to succeed Jack Knight. Palmer is a second baseman, and has had long experience in the western league. Last year he was manager of the Monroe (La.) club.

MINOR LOOP PLANS CONFAB

OGDEN (Utah) Jan. 15. (AP)—Directors of the Utah-Idaho Baseball League will meet here Saturday night to discuss plans for the 1929 season, President Fred M. Nye announced today.

JACKIE FIELDS TAKES ON McCARTHY IN EAST

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Jackie Fields, Los Angeles contender for the welterweight championship, has been signed to meet Jack McCarthy, elusive Chicago puncher, in a ten-round match here, the 28th inst. Mique Malloy is promoting the match.

RYERSON BEATS WEST

MIAMI (Fla.) Jan. 15. (AP)—J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., today continued his brilliant start in the Miami midwinter amateur tournament when he defeated J. W. West, Atlanta star, in a scheduled 18-hole match that went two holes extra. Ryerson yesterday led the qualifiers in the medal round with a 73 over a 71 par course.

Kirkwood in Exhibition for Fraser

Joe Kirkwood, noted professional and trick shot artist, will give an exhibition at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Pasadena Municipal golf course. A collection will be taken up for the benefit of Chick Fraser, former Midwick Country Club pro. Fraser, one of the most popular professionals in Southern California, is in grave danger of having a leg amputated, and pro golfers are generously coming to his aid. Walter Hagen started a collection among the pros Monday night which netted $250, and two exhibition matches are planned, the proceeds to go to Fraser. Jack Malley of the Annandale Country Club, who was assistant professional under Fraser, plans an exhibition at Annandale with Hagen and three other famous paid-to-play golfers.

MILLER SIGNS FOR FLOWERS

DETROIT, Jan. 15. (AP)—Ray Miller, leading contender for the lightweight crown of Sammy Mandell, who scored a knockout over Tommy Grogan Friday night, yesterday signed a contract to meet Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle negro, here the 25th inst.

BEAR CREWS START WORK

BERKELEY, Jan. 15. (AP)—With six members of the University of California's world champion crew back for practice, the 1929 workouts of the varsity and freshman boats started today on the Oakland Estuary.

The two members of last years' eight missing were Don Blessing, coxswain, and Marvin Stalder, bowman. Vincent Mullins, jayvee cox for the past two years, was out today ready to step into Blessing's seat, and Ward Von Tillow, two letter man in crew but out of school last year, was prepared to take Stalder's place at bow.

Two races have been lined up for the Bears this year, one against the University of Washington eight on the Oakland estuary, and the other in the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Mercury Five Takes Contest

Coach Stan Joseph's L.A.A.C. cagers walloped the Alhambra Athletic Club five last night, 42-21, in a hard-fought game played on the Mercury court. Goeglin and Jones did most of the shooting for the Mercury five, Goeglin hitting the hoop for fourteen points, while his teammate registered thirteen digits.

Christensen of the Alhambra team led his teammates in scoring, chalking up six points. The Alhambra team was slightly handicapped due to the fact that their captain, Jimmy Cross was unable to play, being in bed with influenza.

The line-up:

Alhambra—Christensen (6,) Treanor (3,) Carran (2,) David (4,) Nuthall, forwards; Fox (3,) Walt, centers; Wolford (1,) Mata (2,) Campbell, guards.

L.A.A.C.—Ketchum (6,) Alman (2,) Goeglin (14,) forwards; Jones (13,) Olney, centers; Lewis, McBurnie, Parker (6,) Staples, guards.

L.A.A.C.	20	22—42
Alhambra	12	9—21

Officials—Referee, Dempsey; umpire, Arezs.

Mrs. Hurd in Medal Victory

BILOXI (Miss.) Jan. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, veteran of the golf links of several nations, today won medalist honors in the qualifying round of the second annual Pan-American women's amatur golf tournament on the Edgewater golf course with a card of 83.

Mrs. Hurd, former American, British and Canadian champion, shot a brilliant 18 holes. Her drives were long and her greens playing accurate.

Mrs. Hurd, whose former home is Philadelphia, is entered from the Gulf Hills Country Club, Ocean Springs, Miss.

Miss Marion Turpie, New Orleans, southern champion, turned in the next lowest score, an 89, and Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, third, made the round in 91.

Mrs. Jack Vilas, Hot Springs, Ark., shot a 97. Her total was duplicated by Mrs. Jack Arends, Evanston, Ill.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely affairs of the week was the luncheon with which Miss Ellen Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Andrews of Lafayette Park Place, entertained at the Los Angeles Country clubhouse yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edward Ortion (Eleanor Moses) of Paris, France, who has come to make a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong Moses, at their home on Oxford avenue and who is being much entertained by her many friends of the Southland.

The table was arranged in the new green room of the clubhouse and the decorations were attractively carried out in early spring flowers, with yellow predominating, the yellow candles resting in garlands of yellow flowers and ferns and the place cards were charming Italian scenes which Miss Andrews gathered during her recent trip abroad.

Covers were arranged for some twenty guests, all intimate friends of the honor guest.

Many other affairs are being planned in honor of Mrs. Ortion for the near future. Mrs. Moses giving a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic Club tomorrow afternoon, the guests being older matrons, and the decorations will be carried out in the yellow and lavender tones with a profusion of greenery and covers arranged in the yellow room for Mrs. Moses, Mrs. Ortion, Mrs. Seeley W. Mudd, Mrs. Walter H. Fisher, Mrs. Judson Claudius Rives, Mrs. Nicholas Rice, Mrs. Lewis W. Andrews, Mrs. Willits J. Hole, Mrs. Ernest W. Clark, Mrs. William L. Stewart, Mrs. Dunning, Mrs. O. W. Jenkins, Mrs. Beverly Scott, Mrs. Oscar Trippet, Mrs. Oliver S. Hershman, Mrs. John M. Rugg, Mrs. Ben Givens, Mrs. Nichols Milbank, Mrs. Erasmus Wilson, Mrs. Scott Brown of Chicago, Mrs. G. A. Scott of Paris, Mrs. Mark Baldwin Lewis, Mrs. William Irving Hollingsworth, Mrs. Rufus Bernard Von KleinSmid, Mrs. Charles Seaman, Miss Jean Hill, Mrs. Eli P. Clark, Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, Mrs. Edwin Grant Howard, Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, Miss Aline Barrett Greenwood and Mrs. Mary Anne Barrett.

Later in the month Mr. and Mrs. Moses are giving an informal intimate dancing party for the younger set at the Wilshire Country clubhouse. Among the hostesses who are planning affairs for Mrs. Ortion are Mrs. Nicholas Rice, who is giving a dinner at home on Occidental Boulevard Saturday evening, while Mrs. Seaman is giving a luncheon for her the 25th inst., Mrs. Samuel Knight Rindge a luncheon and bridge Wednesday afternoon, the 23rd inst., and Mrs. and Mrs. Judson Claudius Rives a dinner on the 29th inst. at their home on Westchester Place.

Cards Issued

Invitations are being issued by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henneberger of 627 South Irving Boulevard for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Genevieve Henneberger, to Roy Munger Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Eaton of Los Feliz Heights, the ceremony to take place in St. John's Church Thursday evening, February 7, at 8:30 o'clock.

A reception at the Biltmore immediately will follow the ceremony and after their return from the wedding trip, March 1, Mr. Eaton and his bride will be at home to their friends at 439½ North Stanley avenue.

Miss Henneberger has chosen her sister, Miss Vera Henneberger, to assist as maid of honor at the ceremony, while other attendants will include Mrs. John Hyde Braly, Mrs. William Neff, Miss Louise Janss and Miss Harriet Huntington. George Kimball of Honolulu will serve Mr. Eaton as best man and little Barbara Henneberger, small sister of the bride, will be flower girl.

Intimate Luncheon

One of the enjoyable affairs of the near future will be the luncheon with which Mrs. R. B. Shepherd of Sycamore avenue, Hollywood, is entertaining at the Biltmore Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Aline Barrett Greenwood, immediately following Miss Greenwood's talk on current events in the music room of the Biltmore, the guests including a small group of intimate friends of Miss Greenwood.

Miss Greenwood will give the first of her pair of talks in the theater of the Ambassador tomorrow morning.

Wintering Here

Among the eastern visitors whose coming has been the occasion for much entertaining by her many friends of the Southland is Mrs. Paul Hoffman, who several years ago went with Mr. Hoffman to make their home in South Bend, Ind., when Mr. Hoffman was elected vice-president of the Studebaker company.

Mrs. Hoffman has taken a house in Pasadena and will be joined there early next month by Mr. Hoffman.

Honoring the visitor, Mrs. Ellen Andrews entertained with an informal luncheon last Friday afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club and, while there will be a number of small affairs given for Mrs. Hoffman, most of her friends are awaiting Mr. Hoffman's arrival before giving their larger parties.

Smart Affair

A beautifully appointed luncheon was given by Mrs. Forrest F. Vrooman and Mrs. Harry Gunn yesterday in honor of Mrs. Charlotte Querrilo, national vice-president of the Children of the Daughters of America, just prior to her sailing on a trip around the world.

Mrs. Querrilo has been extensively entertained with bon voyage parties and expects to be abroad for about a year, returning by way of New York and Washington, D. C.

Alpha Chi Omega

Mrs. Fred H. Breylinger (Bernardine Johantgen) is entertaining Sunday, the 20th inst., in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. Albert Webb, Jr., of Long Beach, and a bride-elect, Miss Helen Hawkins of Hollywood. The hostess and honor guests are members of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority at the University of Southern California.

Junior League Exhibition

One of the most interesting exhibitions in our midst this week is that showing at the Pasadena Junior League clubroom, 338 East Green street, in the Crown City, from Tuesday to Friday, in the nature of a Russian shop, under the direction of Countess Pushkin, sponsored by Mrs. Frederick H. Stevens and her daughter, Mrs. George W. H. Allen, and including embroideries, embroidered dresses, coats and fancy articles, all made in France by Russian refugees.

Entertain at Bel-Air

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bettner Melroth have been entertaining with a series of informal dances at their new home, Glen Marold, in Bel-Air. A dinner-bridge and a children's party of fourteen guests for Marion Louise and Master Harold, Jr., were also given. Mr. and Mrs. Melroth are planning a formal housewarming in the near future.

Honor Initiates

Members of Phi Omega Pi entertained with a banquet in honor of three new initiates, Misses Maxine Morrison, Margaret Morrison and Cynthia Kurden, at the Mary Louise, West Seventh street, Saturday, the 12th inst. Stella Andrews Cox, national vice-president of the organization, was also an honoree. Decorations were carried out in blue and white, with blue candles in crystal holders and multicolored crystal on the tables.

Following the banquet the members returned to the chapter house for a homecoming to all aluhnae and their friends.

The Right Powder Doesn't Show On Your Skin!

The art of powdering is not to look powdered! The professional beauty who lives by her looks knows better than to powder carelessly. She uses a subtle illusion powder—Pussywillow—in the exact skin-perfect tones of her own complexion, which instantly blends with her natural flesh tints and can't be detected. Its exquisite rosepetal effect clings softly and becomingly for hours. Get a box of Pussywillow today in the correct shade for your skin—it comes in five skin-perfect tones and white.

NOODLES CHOW MEIN

Cook one package of noodles in boiling water, until tender; drain and keep hot, one-half a pound of lean pork, one-half a pound of veal, three-quarters of a cupful of boiled ham, one cupful of celery, cut in strips, one cupful of sliced onions, one-quarter of a pound of dried mushrooms. One hard-boiled egg, one and one-half cupfuls of white stock. Cut the meat in small pieces and brown in shortening, add the celery, onions, and stock and cook slowly until tender. Add the boiled ham and mushrooms which have been soaked in hot water for one hour. Thicken the gravy slightly, season with soyu sauce and gravy. Brown the noodles in hot shortening, place them on a serving dish, cover with the meat sauce, garnish with hard-boiled eggs.

SWISS PUDDING

One and one-half cupfuls of bread crumbs, one pound of apples, four tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, the grated rind of one lemon, peel and core the apples, and slice them thin; butter a pudding dish well with butter, cover with a layer of the apples, sprinkle over with sugar, add a little of the grated rind, sprinkle with lemon, dot with butter, cover the bread crumbs, and bake until the dish is full, adding a little. Use the crumbs in layer and dot well with butter. Bake in a moderate oven until the apples are soft, with a boiled custard.

BOILED STUFFED LEG OF LAMB

Have the butcher bone the leg of lamb, make a pocket in one half a pound of the meat that have been cleaned and cut in small pieces, one cupful of chopped, boiled ham, one half a cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, seasoning of salt, pepper, one half a teaspoonful of poultry seasoning, stuff the lamb with the dressing, place in a cloth, cover with boiling water, and add to the water the juice of half a lemon, one onion, one scraped carrot, branches of parsley and one bay leaf. When ready to serve put to a hot serving platter and serve with a current jelly.

CREAMED KOHL RABI

Peel and slice the kohl rabi, boil until nearly tender, put a layer of it in a well-buttered dish and cover it with a sauce made with two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one cupful of milk and one cupful of salt and pepper. Put a little butter in a saucepan, add the flour, cream well, then add the milk, season, and cook until the sauce, a layer of kohl rabi, and if liked some grated cheese, continue until the dish is full.

ALIMONY CUP GOES TO DURANT

Writ Asks Sportsman to Remit $28,000 Covering Eighteen Years' Arrearage

What is said to be the largest amount of back alimony demanded in local courts recently is asked of R. C. (Cliff) Durant, millionaire sportsman, in a petition for a writ of execution granted in a San Francisco court yesterday.

The writ, filed by Attorney Hahn for Mrs. Pearl Durant, former wife of the ex-race driver, seeks to collect $18,000 in back alimony said to have accrued at the rate of $75 a month since 1910, and nearly $10,000 in interest. Before Judge Conlan of San Francisco, Attorney Hahn asserted that no payments were ever made.

Durant's automobile plant in Oakland, and his palatial home at 1466 Kingsley Drive, are subject to the execution under the writ, it is said. Mrs. Durant, according to the attorney, is in Chicago.

At Durant's home, it was said he is in Los Angeles, but no comment regarding the suit against him was forthcoming.

PROTEST HEARING CONTINUED

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, enema outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stys and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HOW MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN MEETS PROBLEMS

Mrs. W. M. writes: "Being the mother of seven healthy, lively children I have been interested in your column for a long time. I know most of your views, I think, by heart.

"My eldest daughter is 9, second 7, twin boys of 5, daughter 4, boy 19 months and boy 4 months. You can see that I have plenty of problems, especially as I do my own work. It certainly is a help to have good babies; I don't see how I could manage if they weren't.

"The boy of 19 months weighs twenty-six pounds, has all his teeth, walks, is happy from morning to night, has a regular nap and sleeps soundly at night. None of my children eat between meals and I have never had any trouble getting them to eat what was offered. Things they cannot have I keep out of sight.

"The baby is doing fine. Weighed nine pounds at birth, breast fed, weighs seventeen now and has never had a drop of medicine. He is on the four-hour schedule. Has two teeth almost through, wants to raise up from the bed and takes two good naps a day and sleeps all night.

"I am writing this to let you know one mother's result with regular habits and proper feeding. Except for washing and necessary attention I hardly know I have two babies.

"My babies do not have colic. I always raise them up after eating and pat the gas up before putting them down. Now I have to admit that sometimes I spank. Never a baby, but older children who deliberately go ahead and misbehave. I know your views, but I have explained and it does no good. Perhaps I am wrong. I certainly hate to spank and I try to understand my children. There are no two alike. I am afraid by the time I understand seven dispositions I shall find them grown.

"I never go anywhere but I read and depend upon the column to keep me in touch with current events. I will make up for it when they are grown. I will not ask for having done my work, but not intend that we shall drift through life. Thank you for your column; it certainly helps."

ANSWER

There is no doubt about it but you will be repaid for your kindness and devotion. But I think mothers make a mistake in thinking that there are no punishments but spanking. You said you "I think they ought to be spanked." You are quite right. The way to devise some means that will suit the child without resorting to such methods. How about withholding of a treat; of going home with friends; of listening on the radio; of task? Those are punishments. You mustn't get to hate them by heart, because I don't approve of statistics. I hope I am not wrong in understanding your children, too. It is a big task.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Sewing Basket

Use a small paint brush with a long handle when cleaning the mechanism of the sewing machine. It will make easy a somewhat difficult job.

Change the Pillows

If tables and bed linen are changed occasionally and laundered at home, change the cases occasionally and iron them on different folds. It means longer life.

Bitter Soap

Don't economize on your manicures. One-third of your money spent in bed and a good comfortable mattress, level springs and correct coverings means a step toward a restful sleep.

Home Economics

If you make all your own clothes, it is well to cut and fit a dress pensive cambric that you will use most. Then you will know exactly and are in no danger of getting torn with frequent washings.

The Jagged Tear

Nothing will darn the tear so well in the good dress that has come from the material in the hem or patches from the dress that is to ravel out enough thread to use for darning. The darning will scarcely show if matched.

Penny Wise

There is no excuse for a child who has such a messy appearance in the room as a very dirty face. A few quinsite in a pocket handkerchief.

Not Wasteful

When having hot biscuits or muffins for supper save some of the dough for dessert and with a little sugar, your favorite cookie or pastry dessert will be ready.

Lamb Chops

Too Delicious for Words

OH SO easy to see why this special brand of lamb chops surpasses words in deliciousness. The very finest of specially fed table lambs are selected. From these choicest in all the country only one out of nine finally grades high enough to win the W-B mark of quality. And then the meat is aged in proper seasoning temperatures until it is "just right" for the broiler. You sear the chops quickly on both sides to seal in the generous supply of juices and the delicate individual flavor gained through special feeding of milk and grains. So tender any blunt silver knife will do. The taste is beyond our description. But your palate will tell you the difference readily. The important point to remember: ask for them by name, W-B Diamond Brand. Your market carries this extra select lamb or can get it. By the way, we have a very fine lamb cook book. A postal or phone call will start a copy to you.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him in care of The Los Angeles Times. Letters stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

FOOD MAN'S GOUT

Many people consider that gout is a rich man's disease, but as important how many one has in the bank is the poison he has in his blood, usually preceded by years of disorders of the digestive or nervous systems. An attack of gout may appear without any previous local disorder. The patient may retire feeling well, but be awakened early morning by an excruciating pain in some of the small joints of the body, usually in the great toe. This intense pain is accompanied by shivering followed by a fever which may run to 102 deg. or 103 deg. Fahrenheit.

The onset of a gouty attack is sudden, and feels as if the joints were being pulled apart by a vise. The affected joint usually and assumes a dull red color. The skin is hot, tense, and has a shiny surface. After a time the pain lessens, the patient gradually and falls into a restful sleep. The pain returns with its severity every night with the continuance of the affection may last for nine or ten days. Then the symptoms of pain in the joint disappear, and will all go upon being pressed with the finger.

When the attack is over, the patient may feel unusually well, but there is a saying that once gouty, always gouty. This is true unless proper dietetic measures are taken to clear the system of the uric acid poison. When the disease is controlled by dietetic measures it is not chronic, and the first attack is always followed by recurrences, each more severe than the last.

Deposits of chalk stones or "tophi" may form around the affected joints and may even be ulcerated through the skin. These tophi consist principally of bi-urate of soda. If left to themselves, they become infected and cause a stiffening and crippling of joints. The hands are most commonly affected. Usually these tophi can be seen with the eyes, and are one of the characteristic indications of gout. The disease seems to be largely caused by the retention in the blood and other purin bodies which are combined with soda and deposited in the tissues of the body. To free the blood as much as possible of the excess of purins, your treatment is to eliminate them by a three days' fast, except large quantities of distilled water to flush out of the said fruit juices may be added. In this way, no uric acid will be taken into the system, and the body will begin to dissolve that which has been deposited in the tissues and eliminate it through the kidneys and the skin.

Many diagnostic errors become manifest during the first few days of the fast, while the uric acid is being eliminated, but this disappears in a few days. After a time of starving the tophi become softened and can be made to disappear entirely. The pain ceases almost immediately. In some cases it is necessary to repeat a ten-day fast, as I have described, at intervals of about a month apart. During the fasting periods the diet is especially rich in vegetables containing large quantities of mineral salts and potassium. Here is a list of the sodium foods: Celery, spinach, strawberries, asparagus, carrots, lettuce, white of egg, and milk.

ANSWERS AND ANSWERS

WEARING FEET

C. W. asks: "Does the condition of the feet indicate ill health? Am I run down in health? And what else can I do simply than besides wearing shoes?"

Answer: If you will take at least one tub or shower bath daily, and find that it will cut down the sweating of your feet, as well as other parts of the body, you will be able to do their proper work. A pimply face is caused by the blood not being properly purified by the eliminative organs. For example, if the kidneys are not working properly, the skin will try to do their work, and pimples will appear. PRACTICAL HEALTH every Tuesday.—All letters answered by A. E. Winter.

BANANAS

Question: E. I. J. asks: "Will you give the right way of combining bananas with other foods?"

Answer: Bananas should be used as a starchy food and so combine well with the nonstarchy vegetables. The best way to use bananas is baked. Then use two or three as the principal part of a meal, adding any of the cooked and raw greens.

DIPHTHERIA

Question: D. M. writes: "I would like to have your opinion on treatment they are giving for diphtheria."

Answer: There are many treatments for diphtheria, some based upon the theory that the disease can be prevented or arrested through the use of antitoxin. The method I advocate is for the patient to stop eating at once at the first symptoms of a sore throat, go to bed and induce a copious sweat, using frequent sponge baths and no gargles. This "grandmother" method has been highly successful, and seems to be the only treatment necessary in the majority of cases.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

REWARDS

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Rewards wisely given are good for children. They help build up in the child's mind pleasant associations between a right action and a sense of well-being.

A reward may be anything from a lollypop to parental approval. It may be a coveted privilege such as a ride on the merry-go-round or being allowed to sit at the family dinner table. The sensitive child in harmony with his environment responds to all. Although it is better to work for the reward of love and approval rather than for the more carnal satisfactions, it is well to bear in mind that with a four-year-old an ice-cream cone may be as good a means of grace as any other.

It is right to reward the child whenever he makes an effort to do some uncongenial task which is not a matter of routine. A good many useful habits which later become automatic may thus be initiated pleasantly.

The child never should be rewarded for refraining from something which is naughty. The child who screams in public and is bribed to stop by the promise of a piece of candy does not learn to stop screaming. On the contrary, he learns that screaming, properly indulged in, brings candy as a reward.

In fixing the goals for which the child is to strive we must be sure that we are asking him to do only that which is well within his powers. The child who is learning to dress himself should not be held accountable for missing a few buttons. The four-year-old should not be expected to pick up all his toys unless he previously has been trained to do it.

We must remember that the little child cannot see far ahead. A week is too long a time to ask him to work for any reward. His reward should be as immediate as his punishment, or in any case not further away than bedtime.

OREGON SCHOOL ORATORS ENTER

Northern State Makes Debut in Constitutional Classic

Early Enthusiasm Promises Many Competitors

Declaration of Independence Drafting Retold

The State of Oregon has entered the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical Contest for the first time in the history of the movement. This completes the blanket of Pacific-Southwest States and brings additional zest to the zone finals, which are to be held in Los Angeles May 10, following The Times grand finals on May 3. Both events will take place at the Shrine Auditorium.

The contest in Oregon is being sponsored by the Portland Oregonian, which "was influenced in considerable measure to take it up by the success of the contest as conducted in California by the Los Angeles Times," according to Editor Horace E. Thomas of the Oregonian. The sister State of Washington is under the sponsorship of the Seattle Times.

It is anticipated that approximately 200 secondary schools in Oregon will participate and entries from fifty-six schools already have been received, although the contest in that State is hardly under way. Eight of the nine Portland high schools have entered and the ninth, the Girls' Polytechnic School, may also enter. Every section of the State is already represented.

The indorsement of the constitutional oratorical contest plan by the American Bar Association led the Oregon Bar Association to become active in the promotion of the contest in that State. W. M. Davis, president of the Oregon Bar Association, has appointed Judge Wallace McCamant chairman of the association's committee in charge of arrangements. Judge McCamant is a prominent figure in patriotic movements and had the distinction of placing Calvin Coolidge in nomination for the Vice-Presidency at the time of his election to that office.

INTEREST ASSURED

Judge McCamant's chairmanship guarantees active interest in the contest by leaders of the bar of Oregon. A prominent lawyer in each district of the State is being appointed to aid in the arrangements and to enlist schools which may be laggard in entering. The extension division of the University of Oregon and the State public-school organization have indorsed the contest plan.

After the local and district eliminations a final contest to determine the State winner will be held in Portland and the successful finalist will have expenses paid to compete in the Pacific-Southwest finals in Los Angeles and will also receive a cash prize offered by the Oregon Bar Association.

James A. Van Osdol continues his suggestions to oratorical contestants with a consideration of the Declaration of Independence and the Continental Congress:

"It has already been pointed out that the British colonists were reluctant to break with the mother country. Petition after petition for redress of their grievances had been presented to the British crown, only to be ignored. The battles of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill already had been fought when the second Continental Congress took the step that immediately resulted in the Declaration of Independence.

"The convention appointed a committee consisting of Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Rodger Sherman and Robert Livingston to prepare a declaration in line with the Lee resolution. The honor of drafting that declaration fell to the lot of Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, then 33 years of age, chairman of the committee and one of the most accomplished writers of the English-speaking world.

"That declaration stands in history as one of the most revolutionary political papers ever written. It did not purport to establish a government; it was a declaration of human rights that is immortal. It contained an indictment of the British government well calculated to excite the wrath of King and Parliament; it appealed to the conscience of the world in justification of the course taken and proclaimed a philosophy of government that was new to the world.

AUTOCRACY CHALLENGED

"In nearly every nation the fountainhead of all power and justice was in a hereditary monarch whose power was absolute, except as it granted immunities and privileges to the people. When in that document the Anglo-Saxon conception of human liberty was expressed in those clear and unequivocal declarations that 'all men are created equal' and that 'governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed' it was realized that a world-wide challenge to monarchy had been given.

"When completed the declaration was read to the convention on June 28 and ordered to lie on the table. Congress then proceeded in committee of the whole to consider it. The debate occupied July 2, 3 and 4. In the afternoon of the 4th it was reported by the committee, agreed to by Congress and signed by all the members except one.

"The news of its adoption spread quickly. The old bell hanging in the belfry of the hall announced that fact and copies were speedily prepared and distributed. The news of the adoption was received with every manifestation of joy throughout the colonies."

various companies is the standardization of the product.

Asked specifically about an agreement among four companies to bid jointly on cement for the San Gabriel dam, he said that there had never been any effort to keep this agreement secret. He pointed out that a copy of it had been filed with the Board of Supervisors and asserted that the sole reason for the companies entering into it was that none of them was able alone to supply all the cement called for in the contract within the time specified.

END OF GAS PRICE WAR SEEN NEAR

Independent Dealers and Major Outfits Exected to Reach Agreement Soon

End of the so-called gasoline "war" is in sight with the expectation of an agreement this week between the independent service stations and the major oil companies as the result of a mass meeting of independents at 4905 South Vermont street last night. Several hundred independent dealers and representatives were on hand.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Independent Service Station Association and the main business discussed pertained to ways and means of establishing a price for gasoline to the consumer. Charges were made that the major oil companies fostered the war between the independents in order to procure new contracts with a smaller margin of profit to the dealer.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the price-cutting tactics asserted to have been started by the lessors of stations formerly owned by the major oil companies. The resolutions stated that unless the prices were stabilized more than half of the independent dealers would be wrecked.

The meeting of the independents resulted in an agreement of those present not to make a further slash of price until the matter has been threshed out by the association officials and representatives of the major oil companies.

Independents who already have cut the price of gasoline were advised to hold that price for several days until a decision has been reached. According to L. W. Sockman the association will endeavor to procure an agreement whereby the profit margin to the small dealers, even though it is decided to lower the price of gasoline.

"We do not oppose a reduction in the price of gasoline," Sockman said in his address to the independents. "We are just as willing to sell for 18 cents a gallon as the consumer is anxious to buy it at that price, but we expect the major companies to come down in the price to us."

Long Beach Man Charged With Molesting Child

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 15.—Henry Buschlen, 66-year-old Long Beach apartment-house owner, was placed in jail here today on suspicion that he feloniously molested an 8-year-old girl.

Buschlen, said to be wealthy, and a leader in religious work in Long Beach, was observed with the girl at the intersection of Ninth street and American avenue by Detective Lieutenant G. E. Chandler of the Los Angeles Police Department who was driving past with his wife and mother.

Lieut. Chandler called a Long Beach officer. Policeman Swanson, who after questioning the little girl and her playmate took Buschlen to jail. The suspect was booked on a charge of "suspicion of violating Section 288 of the Penal Code."

SALES HEAVY IN RADIO SETS

Deals for Last Year Total $650,550,000 in Value

Thirty-five Million Homes Now Form Audience

Electric Instruments Reduce Market for Batteries

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

These figures, released this week, show that total sales of radio sets and parts for 1928 totaled $650,550,000, as against $425,600,000 for 1927.

The radio audience has increased, says the magazine, to a total of 35,000,000 as against 26,000,000 in 1927 and 15,000,000 in 1922.

In 1922 there were approximately 60,000 sets in home use which has increased to 7,500,000 in the year just past.

The survey officials say that there are today 28,061,000 homes in the United States. "Nine million of these will have radio receivers in 1929; 13,000,000 now have phonographs; 17,000,000 have passenger motor cars; 13,000,000 have telephones and 19,012,654 are wired for electricity."

DYERS' WAR ARRESTS NEAR

Police and Grand Jury Action Expected Soon; Union Racketeer Suspect Pleads Not Guilty

More arrests in the cleaners' and dyers' war, with a probability that evidence for a grand jury investigation will be laid before the District Attorney, were promised by the police yesterday. Charles M. Murphy, president of the cleaners' and dyers' union, arrested Monday night by Detective Lieutenant Hynes, pleaded not guilty and demandd a jury trial when arraigned before Judge Reed yesterday.

With Jeff Goodman and James Delaney, Murphy is charged with being the leader in the activities of union sluggers, acid throwers and extortionists who have been terrorizing independent dyers. Murphy, whose organization is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was named in the confessions of several union sluggers as being the pay-off man in the asserted conspiracy to drive independent dyers out of business, or make them pay tribute to union leaders.

SEARCH TWO WEEKS

Police led by Lieut. Hynes searched for two weeks for Murphy and Goodman after they had been named as leaders in the extortion plots which have resulted in the destruction of independent plants by arson, bombs and acid throwing. Evidence being made ready for the District Attorney includes asserted statements that an organized group of cleaners and dyers is in a conspiracy with the union extortionists.

The specific charge upon which Murphy, Goodman and Delaney are to be given jury trials is that of assault to commit murder against Frank Janovich, an independent dyer. Janovich was lured to a vacant house by Delaney, it is charged, and was beaten with an iron pipe.

SUSPECT IDENTIFIED

Delaney was identified by Janovich. Goodman, who has acted as a lieutenant for Murphy, admitted to the police that he drove Delaney to the house where Janovich was assaulted. Murphy, he told the police, was in the car with him and directed him where to drive. Delaney is an ex-convict and has a police record as a highwayman and robber, police reports show. He and Murphy are pals, it is asserted by the police.

The trio will be tried in the court of Judge Sheldon. A date for the jury trial will be set today.

ILLINOIS PICNIC SATURDAY

The picnic rally of Illinoisans of Southern California will be held all day Saturday in Sycamore Grove.

Wilshire Peeper Suspect Taken by County Men

Suspected of being the "Wilshire prowler" that police have been seeking the past week, a man giving his name as A. W. Scruggs of 304 South Westlake street, was arrested by Sheriff's deputies from Substation Nine last night.

Scruggs was taken by Capt. Hanby's men in an alley near 367 North Genesee street Norman Herman and J. M. Adams, who live at that address, identified the suspect as a man they saw peeking in their windows.

Questioned by the officers, Scruggs, who said he is an employee of an ink-manufacturing company, declared he was searching the neighborhood for his wife, who had left him. He was taken to City Jail by detectives from the Hollywood police station, who will confront him with several persons who lately have complained of window-peepers in their yards.

PROTESTS TO BE HEARD

The City Council today will hear protests against the lighting of Sixty Fifth Place between Western avenue and Cimarron street, against the improvement of Third avenue between Pico and Washington streets, and against the confirmation of the assessments for the sewering of Detroit street between Beverly Boulevard and the first alley north of Third street.

WHY

HIGH COMPRESSION

THE greatest strides in automobile motor development have come through high compression. The modern 91.5 inch racing motor which has developed more than 280 horse-power and a speed greater than 164 miles per hour is only one-half the size of the old Model T Ford, which was capable of developing only 25 horse-power. High compression has done it!

Two years ago only 1%, a year ago less than 21%, while today more than 56% of American automobile manufacturers are producing high compression motors! Compression ratios are constantly increasing because with high compression there is less fuel consumption—greater power—greater speed and acceleration, with generally reduced operating costs.

High Compression motors were not commercially practical, however, until a fuel was developed that would function where ordinary gasolines failed. This fuel is Ethyl Gasoline, developed and proved after many years' research and the expenditure of thousands of dollars. Blended with the finest gasolines by 42 of the largest and best known oil companies in the world, it is the only genuine anti-knock fuel for high compression motors.

Because Ethyl Gasoline is dyed to distinguish it from ordinary gasolines, hundreds of imitators have produced dyed or so-called anti-knock gasolines whose chief merit is their many claims. Ethyl Gasoline is the only genuine, anti-knock, high compression fuel; and can be obtained only from authorized distributors of Ethyl Brand of anti-knock compound.

SNETHEN TELLS OF FUND TAKING

State's Traffic Commission Thefts Total $4000

Money Advanced on Salary, ex-Secretary Testifies

Sums Used to Pay Family Expenses, He Asserts

"I took about $4000," declared Clarence R. Snethen, former secretary of the Traffic Commission, on the witness stand yesterday. He had waived preliminary hearing on a charge of grand theft of $300 from the commission and told Judge Valentine that he intends to plead guilty to the charge in Superior Court. Commission estimates place the amount of Snethen's peculations at more than $10,000.

Snethen's statement regarding the case, made some time ago to deputy sheriffs, was made a part of the court records, when he took the witness stand to relate his story. He declared that all of the money taken had been charged by him to salary advances. "I had to have money and just advanced myself some money, thinking to pay it back the next month," he said. "I couldn't pay it back and finally I got so far in the hole that I couldn't face the executive committee, and so I left."

MONEY USED ON FAMILY

The money was used to pay the expenses of himself and family and Vivian Thomas, a film actress, who has figured in the case. He declared that the latter "didn't get much and never knew where the money was coming from," although he admitted writing a letter to her from Salt Lake City after his flight from Los Angeles in which he gave her advice as to how to obtain a position, told her of his trouble, and asked her to burn the letter.

Snethen's stenographer, Mrs. Corrine B. Arnold, knew of the irregularities in his accounts more than a year ago, he declared. She frequently warned him that he would get into trouble and told him that he should borrow money and square up his accounts, he said. He said that he loaned Mrs. Arnold $150 when her mother was sick, of which she later paid back $50.

ONLY WITNESS CALLED

As secretary he was in complete charge of financial matters for the Traffic Commission, Snethen said, in explaining how he was able to use so much money over an extended period of time without discovery. He signed all checks and attended to all banking for the commission in return for his salary of $650 monthly, he declared. He said that he left Los Angeles October 31, last, for San Francisco without telling his wife that he was fleeing and did not return until he was brought back from Louisiana by deputy sheriffs.

Snethen was the only witness called to the stand by Dep. Dist. Atty. Oliver during the preliminary examination. Most of his oral testimony simply corroborated his confession made some time ago. He was represented by MacIntyre Parks as attorney. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Valentine ordered him held under $1500 bail to await trial by Superior Court on the grand theft charge.

Fingerprints Cause Rearrest

Fingerprints of Rud Wilson, 2 years of age, 6043 Third avenue, who was sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard on a Wright Act conviction, were matched with those found on a safe robbed a year ago, as a result of which Detective Lieutenants Savage and Collings of the robbery detail promptly rearrested him on a charge of suspicion of burglary.

Wilson was discharged from the employ of the Foster Printing Company, 129 West Third street, a year ago. On January 21, 1928, the firm's safe was found opened, and $36 had been stolen. Fingerprints found on the safe were photographed and preserved.

WINE REPORTED FOUND

Pair Arrested After Seizure Made in San Pedro House

Scattered in every room of a seven-room house at 228½ North Thirteenth street, San Pedro, Police Sergeant Crane and a squad of officers from the vice division reported finding eleven fifty-five-gallon barrels of wine early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Eddie Williams, 37 years of age, and Tony De Marco, 45, were taken into custody as the owners of the illicit liquor.

Screen Actress Granted Divorce from Mate on Desertion Charge

Mrs. Margaret Campbell Swickard, known on the stage and screen as Margaret Campbell, was granted a decree of divorce yesterday by Superior Judge Fleming separating her from Joseph P. Swickard, actor.

The married romance of the couple lasted less than two years, according to the testimony of Mrs. Swickard.

"He packed up his belongings and left," Mrs. Swickard declared under the questioning of her attorney, Samuel H. London.

Long Beach Area Votes to Stay in Sewer District

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 15.—By a vote of 7168 to 3482 from fifty-one out of fifty-four precincts, the voters of Long Beach, Signal Hill and a section lying between these cities today voted at a special election to remain in the Metropolitan Sewer district. Less than 15 per cent of the registered voters balloted, although this special election was the culmination of a bitter factional fight.

By their votes the electorate repudiated the acts of the city councils of both Long Beach and of Signal Hill which had legislated to withdraw from the sewer district.

The proposition submitted to referendum was whether or not District No. 3 should be dissolved and the cities of Long Beach and Signal Hill have their own separated sewer systems.

Arbuckle Cafe Exonerated on Charges Laid

Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle's Plantation Cafe will not be padlocked, the City Council of Culver City decided yesterday. After reviewing testimony presented Monday night to show that the place should be closed as a public nuisance, the Councilmen dismissed the charges. However, they instructed the police to keep closer supervision on all the night clubs along Washington Boulevard.

In dismissing the charges the Councilman held that there had been no violation of the 2:30 a.m. closing ordinance and no boisterous conduct. The officials told the police to watch the grounds surrounding night clubs after the closing hour and see that all revelers are cleared out. This measure was aimed at petters who retire to shady nooks on the cafe grounds.

She Calls Mate Then Kills Self

After telephoning farewell to her estranged husband, Mrs. Goines, 25 years of age, drank poison in her apartment at 2208 Aaron street, and died last night in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. The woman had been separated from her husband for several months. Yesterday she called him up by telephone and announced she was going to commit suicide, the police report.

She was found dying in her apartment, and was rushed to the hospital where Dr. Kirkpatrick worked over her. The husband did not appear at the hospital, the police added. Mrs. Goines also was known as Mrs. Elizabeth Thornburg.

Punching a time clock daily at the same factory for nearly thirty-five years is a record of Mrs. Nettie West of Newark, N. Y. She is now past 80 years of age and was the factory's first woman employee.

WHEELER WILL BATTLE LOOMS

Two Conflicting Documents Filed for Probate

Validity Test Expected in Local Litigation

Estimates of Estate Go from $100,000 to $600,000

That there will be a spirited legal controversy over the estate of the late Col. E. G. Wheeler, wealthy Nevada mining man, who died the 13th inst., was indicated yesterday when two wills executed on different dates were filed for probate in Superior Court. One was filed by one set of contestants in the morning and the other by another set of contestants in the afternoon.

The first will was filed by Attorney George Acret representing legatees named in the instrument, which was dated August 28, 1926. It states that the estate is valued at $600,000.

The second will was filed by Attorney James Degnan for another set of legatees. This instrument was executed in April, 1928.

VALUE LEFT IN DOUBT

The second will gives no intimation of the value of the estate, but Attorney Degnan, who, with Victor H. Rosetti, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, is named executor, asserts that because of so much litigation in which Col. Wheeler engaged during the closing years of his life the value of his properties will not exceed $100,000.

Among the legatees named in the first will that was filed yesterday are C. H. Zabriskie, New York City, a friend, who is left $10,000 in bonds. To Corra H. Granger, 1259 Branden avenue, Norfolk, Va., is left $15,000 in bonds.

This will was executed on August 28, 1926, prior to the time of the estrangement between Col. Wheeler and Mrs. Klein which resulted in the aged financier bringing suit against Mrs. Klein for $25,000 damages on a promissory note. Mrs. Klein filed an action against Wheeler in a cross-complaint demanding $180,000 from him on the grounds this amount was due her for services. The action is pending on an appeal in the State Supreme Court.

TERMS REVEALED

The second will, the one filed late yesterday, was executed in April, 1928. It gives $5000 to Mrs. Frederick Bryan, 1423 Kenilworth avenue, Rogers Park, Chicago, a sister.

Another legatee under the terms of this will is Mrs. Anna Turner, 1433 Albany street, Los Angeles, the sum of $15,000. She is the widow of a brother of Col. Wheeler who has remarried.

The remainder of the estate is divided equally between Mrs. Cora H. Granger, named in the first will, and Victor H. Rosetti.

It is the contention of the contestants who filed the second instrument that Col. Wheeler revoked his first will, therefore it is invalid; that the only valid will of the financier is the one he made in 1928.

CEMENT PARTS BOOSTER GROUP

pagandizing various neighborhood improvement associations and other organizations with a view of rushing them into some sort of an expression in favor of the project. Those opposing the heavy industrial encroachment upon a fine residential district, such as would be the case in the cement plant project, point out that if city officials permit it in this case no residence district will be safe after the precedent is established.

Further discussion of the cement plant proposal was had before the municipal and county affairs committee of the City Club yesterday but, unwittingly on the part of the management of the section, the luncheon fell into a sort of testimonial meeting for the project. One or more opponents of the cement manufacturing scheme who had been counted upon were not on hand to talk.

SEES NO OBJECTION

C. T. Leeds, engineer for an oil company, said he could not see why the pipe line project to carry the solution of powdered limestone to tankers would not be feasible. If any trouble should develop he expressed the opinion that additional pumps and agitators could be installed.

S. A. Jubb, consulting engineer, gave it as his opinion that the project was feasible and that a rock quarry and grinding mill under the plans could be operated without detriment to the district.

will sail on June 18 for a fortnight's "good-will" visit to San Francisco, sailing July 1 for assigned Fourth of July ports and thence to Puget Sound for the annual summer cruise, returning to Los Angeles Harbor August 27 for the regular fall gunnery program. The aircraft squadrons, including the carriers Saratoga, Lexington and Langley, will not go north with the fleet next summer, but will remain here for tactical training.

Major units of the fleet sailing for Panama yesterday included the aircraft carriers Saratoga, Lexington and Langley, the battleships California, West Virginia, Colorado, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Arizona, New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho, the light cruiser Omaha, thirty-nine destroyers, eleven submarines and nineteen auxiliaries.

IMPROVEMENT VOTED

The final ordinance for the improvement of Sheldon avenue between Mulholland street and Mansfield avenue was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

FIRST NATIONAL STAR TO TRAVEL

F.B.O. Borrows Karl Dane to Fill Big Role in Feature; Universal Will Make First Yiddish Talking Film; Mary Astor Has Lead in "Woman from Hell"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Corinne Griffith is going abroad April 1, following the completion of her next First National picture, "Prisoners," from Ferenc Molnar's play of that name, which William Seiter will direct, and which will be a talker.

Miss Griffith will visit not only England, Italy and France, but she expects also to continue on to the Orient, lingering in Japan and China, with the possibility of a look-in at India.

When she returns, the star will start work under her new First National contract. She is negotiating for a Broadway success, which we venture the guess may be Ethel Barrymore's current "The Kingdom of God."

Miss Griffith's leading man for "Prisoners" has been chosen. He is Ian Keith, who appeared with her in "The Divine Lady," and did so well that First National has engaged him for the new picture. He is at present playing on the stage in Kansas City, but will hop a train the latter part of the week for Hollywood, arriving here Monday.

UNIVERSAL MAKING YIDDISH TALKER

For the first time in the history of pictures there is to be given to the world a Yiddish talking picture. Universal will make it, Carl Laemmle, Jr., announced yesterday.

The picture will be a two-reeler, adapted from Abraham S. Schomer's full-length stage play, "The Green Millionaire," which proved a big success in New York's Yiddish Theater, and which Schomer himself has come west to direct. Schomer and Sherman Long are writing the adaptation.

Rudolph Schildkraut will probably play the lead, although so far no one has been definitely named.

Karl Dane With F.B.O.

For the first time, I think, since his association with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Karl Dane has been loaned to another studio. F.B.O. has signed him to fill one of the three principal male roles in the picture, "The Voice of the Storm."

Martha Sleeper

Hugh Allan will play the juvenile, and Theodore Von Eltz has the other principal male part. Allan has been forging ahead steadily of late. Rumor has it that he may soon have a lead with Paramount, where he recently took a voice test which turned out most favorably.

Martha Sleeper, formerly with Hal Roach, but who recently took a lead for F.B.O. has been brought back to play the feminine lead in "The Voice of the Storm."

Leota Lorraine will have the heavy role, and Lynn Shores will direct.

William Seiter's New Contract

Such an excellent piece of work did William Seiter do in directing the talking sequences for Corinne Griffith's "Saturday's Children," that First National has torn up his previous contract, and has given him a new long-term contract to direct Vitaphone talkers for that company.

WILLIAM A. SEITER

After completing Miss Griffith's next picture, "Prisoners," Seiter will direct Colleen Moore in "Early to Bed."

Both will be all-talking features.

Mary Astor Plays Lead

Everybody has been very interested to find out who would play the lead in "From Hell Came a Lady" over at the Fox studio.

MARY ASTOR

It was decided yesterday that Mary Astor will have the role which Mae Busch created in the stage version.

Robert Armstrong has the male lead and John Erickson will direct the picture, which will, of course, be a talker.

The title of the picture has been changed to "The Woman From Hell," which, it seems to us, takes all the ginger and originality out of it.

Lasky Director Seeks Boxer

William Wellman, who is to direct Richard Arlen in his next film play, "The Man I Love," is looking for a rugged middleweight boxer to take Richard in hand daily for the next few weeks and train the actor for the ring, since the picture is to be a prize fight yarn.

"Arlen is a good boxer and has settled a lot of arguments with his fists," said Wellman, "but in this picture he is a man who earns his living with them and he has to be good."

Ray Griffith With Fox

Fox Films, we learned yesterday, has signed Raymond Griffith to play the leading male role in a mystery picture tentatively titled "Murder Will Out."

Griffith has just finished a talking role in a Christie comedy.

Lupe's Little Brother, Too

Not all the acting talent in Lupe Velez's family is confined to that young lady, it would appear.

At any rate Lupe's young brother, Emilio, is to have a test at the Fox studio, we learn. He is taking the screen name of Emilio Rey.

Young Velez has been going to school, but spending his vacations on a ranch, where he learned to do all sorts of difficult trick riding. This will undoubtedly help him to get work in the pictures.

Edward Montagne Returning.

Edward Montagne, head of Universal's story department, returns from New York tomorrow. While nothing definite has yet been learned, it is understood that he has bought the rights to a couple of Broadway pieces to be made into talkers by Universal.

A wire received at the studio from Montagne intimates that few of New York's present plays are good film material, even for talkers.

Poland's Plans

Joseph Franklin Poland, who yesterday denied his reported intention of rejoining Universal, is to assist William M. Conselman in the preparation of Alan Hale's first Pathe starring vehicle of 1929. This will be "Ladies Prefer Brutes," based on a title suggested by Edmund Goulding and being developed by Conselman and Poland.

It is reported that Poland will later on join F.B.O. as associate producer.

CHASE ENDS IN CAPTURE OF SUSPECT

Brothers Report Disarming Youth in Attempt to Rob Gas Station

Two citizens, unaided by police and without weapons of any kind, chased and captured a bandit suspect early yesterday morning a few minutes after the latter had attempted, according to a police report, to hold them up in their gas station at Fifty-first street and Normandie avenue. The citizens are George and Lowell Andrews. The suspect gave the name of Mortimer Carley, 19 years of age, of 1580 Wilcox avenue.

According to the gas station proprietors, Carley drove into the station and levelled a revolver at George Andrews, demanding money. Disregarding the threat, George knocked the revolver out of the man's hand. It fell on the floor of the car. Carley, they said, then attempted to flee. As the car lunged ahead, George leaped on the running board and made an effort to force carley to stop.

Lowell jumped in his automobile and followed, chasing Carley to Forty-eighth street and Normandie avenue, where he forced him to the curb. The two brothers then held the suspect until the arrival of police officers.

Carley was booked on charges of suspicion of robbery and grand theft of an automobile, reported stolen in Dalhart, Tex., on the 9th inst.

THOMSON GUARDIAN MOVE FILED

Widow of Actor Asks to be Legal Protector of Young Son

A petition was filed yesterday in the Probate Court by Mrs. Frances, Marion Thomson, widow of the late Fred Thomson, motion-picture star, who died recently, asking that the court appoint her the legal guardian of Fred Thomson, Jr., only son of the deceased.

Mrs. Thompson sets up in her petition that Fred, Jr., has inherited a one-half interest in the $25,000 estate of his late father, and 1000 shares of stock in the Thomson Corporation. She further asserts that the boy has no legal guardian and asks that she be appointed to look after his interests.

The only heirs of the child, now 3 years of age, aside from his mother, are his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Frances Thomson and two uncles, Henry Thomson and Len D. Owens.

The petition was filed for Mrs. Thomson by Attorney W. G. Van Pelt.

Book Alteration Guilt Admitted

G. O. Leuschner, former secretary of the Superior Manufacturing Company, yesterday pleaded guilty in Judge Wood's court to two of thirteen counts of making false entries in the corporation's books with intent to defraud the company.

Leuschner filed application for probation and the court continued the case to the 31st inst. for hearing. The remaining eleven counts were ordered off calendar. Entries asserted to have been made by Leuschner are said to have been fictitious orders for merchandise handled by the manufacturing company.

Word Received of Mrs. Rapp's Death in East

Word was received here yesterday of the death in New York last Friday of Mrs. William Jourdan Rapp, As Mollie Price Cook, former wife of George Cram Cook, novelist, Mrs. Rapp was known to a host of friends in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles.

After the death of George Cram Cook in Athens four years ago, Mrs. Cook was married to Mr. Rapp, himself a writer and publisher of New York City, where they resided with her son, Hari Cook, and daughter, Nilla. The latter now is married and living in Greece.

Mrs. Rapp spent several years between 1913 and 1919 in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, where she was engaged in literary and educational work. She returned East some years ago to continue her work in New York and at her former home, with Dr. James Rapid physician and author.

Interment took place in New York Sunday.

GUIBERSON IS GIFTED BARITONE

Concert Debut Reveals Sincerity and Dramatic Power

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Richard Guiberson, baritone, in recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium last evening, drew a large audience and held its rapt attention by the sincerity and dramatic power of his interpretations. Demonstrating his versatility, he sang an opening group of classical Italian, a French group in which he seemed most at home, a series of lieder, and concluded in English. Excellent support in this exacting program was given by Mrs. Hennion Robinson at the piano.

Mr. Guiberson is now a Los Angeles resident, having come here from Tulsa, Okla. Heretofore he has contented himself with very occasional public appearances, being busy with his very successful pursuit of money in which to indulge in a career of music. He graduated last night from the gifted amateur class into a concert singer, and proved beyond a doubt that he has the mind and the heart for moving portrayal of the masterpieces of song.

The subtleties of the French composers, Aubert, Alin, Hahn and Mourdrain, suit his gift especially well, although his singing of Schumann and Brahms was creditable, if not outstanding.

His voice filled the auditorium in ringing fortissimi, and his softer passage were appealingly sensitive. He is essentially a man of strong feelings, at least his performance last evening would indicate this. His repression of years seems to be released in song, and when he has achieved a truly joyous freedom in his singing, he will have reached his ultimate goal.

The program could have been lightened without detraction.

Lane Features Special Events

A series of special nights for playgoers in Burbank, Pasadena, Santa Monica, and other near-by towns has been arranged for the Music Box Revue, in which Lupino Lane, Doris Eaton, and the Garden of Eden chorus are being featured at the Hollywood Music Box.

Tonight is Burbank Night, and civic officials, service clubs, and women's organizations from this community will attend the performance. A new Burbank song will be introduced by the ensemble during the show.

Thursday will be Pasadena Night, with the honor guests from that city including the leaders of the various service clubs.

Santa Monica theatergoers will attend Friday night, when a new bathing beach number will be staged.

Ingenue Sought for Film Roles

Gay Seabrook, the ingenue, who plays Ann Weaver in "Take My Advice," is, according to rumor, the latest recruit for talking pictures. Two companies have made offers to Miss Seabrook for films with sound sequences as a result of her work here in "Pigs," "Two Girls Wanted," "Tommy" and "Take My Advice."

"The only thing that would frighten me would be the microphone," says Miss Seabrook. "I'd rather play before the hardest-boiled and most critical audience in the world. I have done some radio work but I always was terrified to death the while."

Miss Seabrook is planning a special matinee of a dramatization of Dickens's "The Old Curiosity Shop," by Emerson Treacy, during the run of "Take My Advice."

Lessons Taught by Humor Best

"The wise playwright is the man who knows how to convey a lesson in terms of humor," says Edmund Breese, who acts his original role of Hiram Draper, Sr., in the Henry Duffy Players production of "So This Is London" at El Capitan. "Cohan, for instance, has shown us the folly of misjudging our British cousins by giving a picture of their misunderstanding of us," says the actor. "'So This Is London' has a very definite lesson, although it is a comedy. I believe a play of this type promotes a better understanding between nations, as it makes us realize that our customs and manners are as much the object of ridicule in other lands as those of foreigners to us."

BURBANK POLICY EFFECTIVE

The Burbank reopened with its new policy of burlesque on Sunday. The title of the opening production is "Gaieties of 1929" and it introduces to Los Angeles theatergoers quite a number of new players. The entertainers making bows include Sam Weston and Charles Goldie, featured comedians, Emily Clark and Estelle Nack, soubrettes; Ann Myers, prima donna; and Will (Styles) Kraemer, juvenile. One of the features of the show is the singing ability of its forty-five chorus girls.

Loew's Dancing Star Due Friday

Lina Basquette

Remembered for her stage and screen work, will be the scintillating feature of the new Fanchon and Marco idea at the State. The film to be introduced simultaneously is "Let's Make Whoopee," Raymond Cannon's production for Fox.

Criterion Lists Baxter for Bow

Warner Baxter, the handsome and daring Cisco Kid of "In Old Arizona," will make a personal appearance at the Criterion Theater tonight, marking the third consecutive appearance of the stars in this Fox talking drama.

It is his role of the daring bandit in "In Old Arizona," now showing in its fourth week at the house, that has made Baxter "come back" to the screen with a vengeance. As a result of his characterization in this one picture alone, Baxter was signed up by Fox with a long-term contract.

Before entering on his screen career, he had an enviable record of successes as a dramatic stock actor, notably with Morosco productions here on the Coast.

Tonight's occasion will be attended by Baxter's close friends and colleagues of the Fox studios, it is reported.

Riffs Prove to Be Real Nomads

When Lillian Albertson's Riff operetta, "The Desert Song," opens at the Mayan Sunday night for its farewell engagement in Los Angeles, it will begin its thirty-sixth week in this city and will have played in four different theaters here during that time.

"The Desert Song" opened at the Windsor Square two weeks before Christmas of 1927, moved downtown to the Mason, thence to the Majestic and now to the Mayan. It is probably the most-moved theatrical production in existence. The operetta has a cast of 100, headed by Perry Askam as the Red Shadow, and Elvira Tanzi as Margot Bonvalet.

Now playing at the Spreckels in San Diego, "The Desert Song" is reported by Lee Parvin, manager, to be sold out completely for the week, grossing more than $22,000 or full capacity for that theater.

GOLF WIDOW SEEN AS ENGAGING CHARACTER

Dorothy Blackburn, who plays the leading feminine role in "The Nineteenth Hole," Frank Craven's comedy, now playing at the Biltmore Theater, is very acceptable as the golf widow. In fact, it is the most engaging part ever taken by Miss Blackburn and she has been in many well-known plays, a story relates.

In this play, opposite Craven, she has a chance to display her talents. Miss Blackburn, it would seem, can be nothing else ever but the wife of Vernon Chase, a writer and lecturer who has moved to the country for the summer and has happened to locate close to a golf course. The course meant nothing at first, except that it provided a park-like spot with rare scenery.

As a real honest-to-goodness wife and a helpmate, the lady has her husband's interest at stake first, last and all the time. She knows too much golf is not good; and she comes to realize in the end that too little golf or no golf at all is much worse.

MISS DILLON AT ROOSEVELT

Contracts just signed, name Josephine Dillon, as supervisor of play readings and social director for the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, according to announcement just made by Eugene Stark, managing director.

HOLT WESTERN BOOKED

"The Water Hole," Jack Holt's latest Paramount feature, from the pen of Zane Grey, opens at the Westlake Theater tomorrow for a three-day showing. Nancy Carroll plays opposite Holt in this story of how a "westerner" kidnaps a society belle of New York. On the same bill, the Westlake will offer a Lupino Lane comedy and Fox Movietone News. Tonight marks the final showings of "Lilac Time," starring Colleen Moore.

BALLET TO APPEAR AT ORPHEUM

Pavley-Oukrainsky Troupe Will Head Bill Coming to Variety House

Direct from seven years as the dance section of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, the Pavley-Oukrainsky Ballet, internationally famous concert and operatic group, will arrive here Sunday for a week's engagement headlining the Orpheum Theater program.

More than twenty terpischorean stars, including Miles. Milar, Compton, Arlova and Sana Rayya, comprise the offering, which will be presented with special scenic embellishments and music under the personal direction of Adolf Schmid.

Included in the repertoire will be the Bacchanale from "Samson and Delilah," Czardas, Pizzicato, "The Priestesses," "The Dutch Peasant Girl and Her Doll," "The Temple Dance" and many others. Special costumes for the aggregation have been created by Eudoxia Mironova.

'La Golondrina' to Be Offered by McGroarty

John Steven McGroarty announces that a performance of his second California play, "La Golondrina" ("The Swallow,") will be given in the Mission Playhouse at San Gabriel the 25th inst.

This will be the only performance of "La Golondrina" to be given this winter. There has already been a large sale of seats, and it would be well for those who desire to see this beautiful love drama of the golden age of California to make reservations without delay.

"WHY WOMEN CHEAT"

"Why Women Cheat," drama of "modern womanhood," opens at the Lincoln Theater on Friday night, with the colored Lafayette Players. It comes to the Lincoln following "The Man Who Came Back." "Little Jessie James," musical comedy, will come after "Why Women Cheat" to the Lincoln stage.

"SYNTHETIC SIN" BOOKED

First National's ace comedienne, and a favorite of audiences throughout the world, Colleen Moore, comes to the Metropolitan Theater in "Synthetic Sin" Friday.

"Synthetic Sin" is the filmization of Frederic and Fanny Hatton's stage success which was seen on the local boards last season. It gives Colleen a characterization of a good little girl with a huge sense of humor trying to be "bad" in a big way. She goes in search of "experience" in the underworld to obtain a dramatic background which will enable her to become a great actress. Her hilarious and melodramatic ventures are interwoven with an unusual romance.

Antonio Moreno plays opposite Miss Moore, and the supporting cast includes Montagu Love, Gertrude Astor, Edythe Chapman and Kathryn McGuire. William Seiter, long known as a director of comedies, made "Synthetic Sin."

Milton Charles, organist from Chicago, who is known nationally for his phonograph records, will begin his engagement at the Metropolitan Friday, when "Synthetic Sin" opens. He will give an organ concert at each de luxe show.

"Synthetic Sin" will be the last film to be shown at the Sixth and Hill street house while the theater still retains the name of Metropolitan. The picture will have a six-day run, and the new Thursday opening-day policy will take effect when the theater becomes known as the Paramount, the 24th inst.

GROUP INDORSES INSANITY BILLS

California Association Acts on Three Measures

Plan for Handling Insane Patients Held Vital

Proposal Covers Hospital in Southern California

Three proposed measures now before the State Legislature for consideration were heartily indorsed at the first meeting of the year of the Psychopathic Association of California held yesterday.

During the course of the meeting it was agreed by all present that every effort should be made to have the measures written into the laws of California. The measures are as follows:

A bill requiring all applicants for marriage licenses to secure certificates of health, or to make affidavits that they are in good health before being granted a license to marry.

"All of the measures are of vital importance, especially the one relative to the handling of insane persons," declared Superior Judge Gould, president of the Association, following the meeting. Judge Gould also presides over the psychopathic department of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county.

Judge Gould pointed out that a new State hospital for the insane for Southern California is absolutely necessary. In the northern part of the State, he said, there is a hospital bed for every 100 voters of the area, and in the southern part of the State there is only one bed for every 200 registered voters.

The measure relative to the handling of insane persons provides, Judge Gould said, for sending trained nurses with them instead of deputy sheriffs, when taken to hospitals. It also provides for doing away with jury trials for patients. Instead of having jury trials, he said, a hearing before a different commission than the first that presided, consisting of a judge and several doctors, will be given the patient asking for the trial.

HOSTESS OF TENNIS STAR LEAVES BED

Mrs. Baldwin Recovering; Son and Mlle. Lenglen in Double Disappearance

Mrs. Anita Baldwin, heiress to the "Lucky" Baldwin millions, who was reported prostrated at her palatial Arcadia home following the simultaneous departure from under her roof of her famous guest, Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, and her son, Baldwin M. Baldwin, has recovered sufficiently to be up and about, it was learned at the Baldwin home yesterday.

The famous French sportswoman and young Baldwin, her one-time manager, are reported to have left these parts. The star's last word to newspaper men was denial that her leaving the Baldwin home for a downtown hotel was precipitated by a "row" with her hostess.

"It wasn't a row," W. E. Merrington, representative for Mrs. Baldwin said. "The fast is, they just up and let't suddenly."

Upon partial recovery from her prostration of Monday, Mrs. Baldwin's concern yesterday was for her son and his whereabouts. He disappeared from his club, to which he had retired on leaving his mother's house, at the same time Mlle. Lenglen left her hotz'.

Whether he will remain with his mother or continue to hitch his wagon to the star was subject of some speculation among friends yesterday.

The Lenglen-Baldwin sports team has appeared in many places here and abroad and sometimes romance has been reported attached to their business connection but this always was denied by the two.

So far as could be learned, Baldwin has not visited his wife and twins here since he and the French woman arrived more than a month ago.

Mounted Scouts to Meet Monday

The first meeting of the Boy Scouts of America Mounted Troop will be held at Urban Military Academy next Monday at 7 p.m. One hundred and fifty boys have enlisted for the series of twenty equitation drills to be given under the auspices of the Bridle Path Association of California. Preliminary drills will be directed by Col. Chotesu Loring, U.S.A., detailed to the academy.

This will be the commencement of a movement to develop three or more mounted troops of Boy Scouts in the Los Angeles area. The Boy Scouts' merit badge of horsemanship is held by eight of the 6000 Scouts in this city.

The equitation course provided by the Bridle Path Association is expected to increase the number of medal holders greatly.

Ninety-two in Chiropractor Examinations

Ninety-two applicants for admission to practice as chiropractors in California took a written examination yesterday before the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners at Forresters' Hall. The tests will be finished today. Tomorrow the board will hear the cases of a number of practitioners who have been cited to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

Writs of prohibition obtained from the Superior Court by eleven cited to appear before the board tomorrow were served on the board members yesterday, restraining action pending a hearing, the 24th inst. The board will proceed with the other cases.

TRAVELER THRILLED BY TOUR OF WORLD

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman

WOMAN IN CITY AFTER LONG TRIP

Mrs. Rodman Visits Many Queer Corners of World on 60,000-Mile Journey

After a period of two years' travel, during which she covered 60,000 miles, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman is back in the city again, staying with her mother, Mrs. Clifford Page, at 2623 Orchard avenue.

Mrs. Rodman, in commenting on her tour, said that it was one of the most thrilling and interesting of her many travels to the far corners of the earth. When she set out, traveling alone, she stopped at Honolulu and Suva, then dropped down to Australia and New Zealand, then to Java, Singapore, Ceylon and Capetown. She was the first woman to be booked alone on the Cape-to-Cairo trip—the journey taking her through portions of the continent not frequently traveled by tourists. She was six months on that trip, from September to January.

Her itinerary also took her to Jerusalem, Arabia, Transylvania, the Hejaz, and from Syria to Bagdad. There was a five weeks' trip into Persia, traveling in all sorts of conveyances, from automobiles to camels; back to Bagdad and to Mesopotamia and Beirut, stopping on the way at Baalbek. From Beirut Mrs. Rodman sailed to Cyprus, then the Island of Rhodes, then to Athens, Italy, Sicily, Barcelona, and through Spain and France. Two months were spent in Paris, then to London, where she attended many affairs and was invited to the opening of Parliament. She then came home by way of New York, spending the last two months visiting there and in the South with relatives and friends.

DECLINE IN AIR DEATHS EXPLAINED

Los Angeles' Adoption of Federal Safety Provisions Held to be Responsible

In a letter to Roy A. Knox, director of the city's Bureau of Budget and Efficiency, W. F. Parkin, supervising inspector in this district for the aeronautical division of the United States Department of Commerce, yesterday attributed a striking decrease in aeronautical fatalities in this city to the passage last April of a city ordinance incorporating the safety provisions of the Federal department's regulations.

Prior to the passage of this ordinance there were from two to four deaths per month caused by the use of defective parachutes which were used to make exhibition jumps from aircraft. Since the first of May, 1926, there has not been a single death from this cause in the city limits of Los Angeles.

Prior to May, when unlicensed, uninspected aircraft were permitted to operate with incompetent pilots and permitted to be maintained by incompetent mechanics, there were on an average from one to five deaths per month caused in this local district by the operation of aircraft with inexperienced personnel. Since the requirement of licensed aircraft operated and maintained by licensed personnel has been in effect, there has not been a single death in any aircraft operating from a Los Angeles city airport.

Since there is more flying in the vicinity of Los Angeles than perhaps any other place in the world, this is indeed an enviable record and one of which the Honorable Council and your bureau may be justly proud.

Second Charge Develops in Jail

"Finding the woman" didn't have to do with the life of John Adamson, who was arrested in Los Angeles recently on the prosaic charge of stealing a pair of handcuffs and a badge from a government officer. After his arrest yesterday Federal officers began investigation of assertions that resulted in a Mann Act charge being filed against him for the bringing of Fay La Rue from Cleveland to Los Angeles. Adamson is being held pending removal proceedings.

SPECIAL AIR CACHET FOR NEW MAIL ROUTE

Of interest to philatelists and collectors of first-flight air mail covers is the announcement yesterday by Postmaster O'Brien that the air-mail service between Houston, Tex., and New Orleans will be opened on the 23rd inst. A special air-mail cachet will be used on mail dispatched on the first flights.

PROTEST ON AIR FIELD IN PARK MADE

Griffith Playgrounds for Public Pleasure, Citizens Remind Cryer in Message

A special committee of prominent citizens sent a telegram to Mayor Cryer yesterday protesting against the proposed use of 150 acres of Griffith Park as an aviation landing field. The telegram calls the Mayor's attention to the recent action of the City Council, which ordered the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance declaring aviation to be a public utility and another to permit the establishment of the airport.

The telegram, signed by G. E. Nagel, president of Silverwood's; Marco H. Hellman, vice-president, Bank of America; Harrold English, president of English & Lauer, mechanical engineers; Clifford Gillespie, president, Dickinson & Gillespie, real estate dealers; Dr. Rex Duncan, cancer specialist; W. R. Campbell, realty man, and Oscar C. Mueller, declared that the park property should be used solely for the recreational purposes for which it was acquired and also protested against the establishment of a "dangerous technical precedent which may later be applied to our entire park system, to the great detriment of the people of our beloved State of California."

AVON'S BARD SOON TO BE INTRODUCED

Shakespeare's Life Will Be Intertwined With Plays in Theater Mart Series

Shakespeare is about to be introduced to his friends and admirers in Los Angeles in an entirely different fashion from the usual acquaintance across the footlights. Not only his plays, but the man himself, is to be brought out of the shadow of the wings and presented to his followers in a series of fortnightly "Evenings with Shakespeare" to begin the 22nd inst., at the Theater Mart, 605 Juanita avenue at 8:30 p.m.

The series of ten evenings will be conducted by R. D. MacLean and Thomas G. Patten, who have worked out an unusual method of combining their separate fields of study of the life and works of the Bard of Avon. As Mr. Patten gives his talk on the life of Shakespeare and the incidents and origins of he plays, Mr. MacLean will embellish and complement the lecture with extracts from the various characters of the plays. He will be assisted from time to time by other well-known artists.

Mrs. R. D. Shepherd and Mrs. Thomas Patten are directing the staging of the events.

Each evening will have its hostesses, who will receive the guests before a large open fireplace.

Mr. MacLean is known here principally through his long association as Father Junipero Serra in the Mission Play. He has done many tragic Shakespearean roles on the Coast. Mr. Patten came here from Washington, D. C., where he has been a prominent figure in political life. At one time he was appointed postmaster-general of New York City.

The program will include "Julius Caesar" for the opening night, the 22nd inst., to be followed at regular fortnightly intervals by "The Merchant of Venice," "Macbeth," "Romeo and Juliet," "Othello," "Taming of the Shrew," "Hamlet," "As You Like It" and a final resume to conclude the series.

Court Orders Rehearing of Divorce Case

There will be another airing of the marital woes of W. Dwight Hammond, Hollywood auctioneer, and his pretty wife, Mrs. Pearl Hammond, for yesterday Superior Judge Guerin granted the motion of the wife for a rehearing of the contest, which resulted in the husband obtaining a decree of divorce on June 11, last.

The motion made by Attorney M. A. Rosenstein, counsel for the wife, to set aside the decree given Hammond, was granted on the grounds of newly discovered evidence supported by affidavits signed by Mrs. Hammond and filed in court several days ago.

At the hearing in June, the auctioneer, represented by Attorney W. S. Mitchell, accused his wife of acts of cruelty, one of them being that she interfered with auction sales he was conducting. Another accusation made by Hammond was that his wife killed a number of pet mallard ducks he owned, baked them and served them for dinner, later telling him they were his pets he had eaten.

KIWANIS PLANS FEATURE

Because of the extraordinary feature in the program of the Kiwanis Club, the meeting today will be held in the Sala de Oro of the Biltmore. Perry W. Widener, president of the United States National Bank, will be chairman. Lieut.-Col. LeRoy F. Smith, U.S.A., retired, will speak on "Raw Deals and Square Deals." He is head of the speakers' bureau of the Better America Federation of California. Carl A. Bundy, president, will speak on "Twenty-four Hours of Ben Franklin's Time in Five Minutes." His talk will be in commemoration of Franklin's birthday, January 17, 1706.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

At a meeting of the Los Angeles League of the Hard of Hearing Club held at the club, 276 South Rampart Boulevard, newly elected officers of the organization were installed for 1929. They are Mrs. Mary R. Miller, president; Mrs. Jane K. Bigelow and Mrs. G. Gillette, vice-presidents; Miss Mary A. Rice, recording secretary, and Miss Helen Meredith, corresponding secretary. Theo Koetzli was installed as treasurer. The new directors of the league are Miss Lucy Case, Miss Florence Messner, Mrs. A. Bardeen, Miss Etta Edgar and L. F. Pimes.

KIDNAPED GIRL MAKES ESCAPE

Lass Says She Was Held in House by Couple

Found in Venice After Night of Imprisonment

Newsboy Declares He Saw Motorist Take Her

Recounting a tale of having been forcibly kidnaped by a man in Los Angeles, taken in an automobile to a house on the outskirts of Venice and there held prisoner through the night by her kidnaper and a woman, Ione Nowell, 15 years of age, of 5050 South Van Ness avenue, was questioned by El Segundo police late yesterday.

The girl disappeared at noon Monday, according to a report made to local police by her father, W. E. Nowell. A newsboy acquaintance of the girl, Herbert Hansford, told police he saw a man abduct Ione in front of his home at Fifty-ninth street and Second avenue.

According to Officer Cummings of El Segundo, the girl was found in Venice by Tobin Morrison of 817 Tenth street, El Segundo. He said she walked over to his automobile when she failed to catch a street car and told him the story of her kidnaping. He offered to take her home or to the Venice police station, Cummings reported, but the girl said she did not want to go to either place. As she acted as though dazed, Morrison said he humored her whim and took her to El Segundo police.

Ione said she made her escape from the house in Venice by running away when she was sent out to get an armful of wood.

TWO BOYS KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

One Victim With Sister Hit by Auto on Own Sidewalk; Latter's Condition Serious

Two small boys died of automobile accident injuries received as they were playing in front of their homes yesterday and a little girl, victim of one of the accidents, is in a critical condition.

Jimmie Esco, 3 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Esco of 1223 East Sixth street, died in the Georgia street Receiving Hospital from a fractured skull suffered when he and his sister, Viola, 4, were crushed by the automobile of H. J. Meedom of 4416 Lica street on Monday afternoon.

Viola, who also suffered a skull fracture, was transferred from the Receiving Hospital to the California Lutheran Hospital in a serious condition.

The children were playing on the sidewalk in front of their home when Elmer Woodruff, a neighbor, turned his automobile into the driveway between the two houses. Meeden, according to his explanation to the police, was forced to drive his car into the sidewalk to avoid a collision with Woodduff, and in doing so struck the children. The Sheriff's office is investigating.

Struck down by an automobile in front of his home at 2023 City View avenue, Jack Jeffee, 2½ years of age, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the General Hospital. The car was driven by Bidal Jiminez of 528 South Gless street, who was held pending an investigation. Witnesses said the boy apparently had stepped off the curb in front of the car.

Film Actress's Brother Held in Check Case

Located by police officers after he is asserted to have indorsed a government pay check, Ray Robertson, brother of Mary Nolan, the former Imogene Wilson, film actress, was taken before Municipal Judge Gibbs yesterday for arraignment on two forgery charges. Robertson had been sought by police since last May.

He was ordered held under $1000 bail to await preliminary hearing, which was set for the 25th inst. The bail was furnished.

Robertson, who resides at 438 South Catalina street, is accused by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holland of forging two checks, one for $50 and the other for $49.75, and signing the name of Don Saunders, trustee, to each. Saunders, whose address is 625 South Western avenue, is named as a witness, as is Mrs. M. E. Firman, 803 California Building, to whom one of the checks was made payable. The other named the Regina Corporation as payee, according to Holland.

QUESTION BARNES DIVORCE

Circus Man's Reno Decrees Pivot of Battle in Wife's Maintenance Suit

Maybe the hearing of the separate maintenance suit brought by Mrs. Sarah Jane Barnes Stonehouse against Al G. Barnes Stonehouse, circus owner, will proceed and maybe it will not.

Whether the trial of the contested suit will continue all depends on Superior Judge Dooling, who, before the trial of the case can go on, must decide the legal status of two Nevada divorce decrees.

Mrs. Al G. Barnes

This was revealed yesterday when the circus man and his attorneys appeared before Judge Dooling to contest the suit for separate maintenance brought by Mrs. Stonehouse, who was present with her attorneys ready to press her claims for an allowance.

And also present was Carlotta Bricker, named as co-respondent in the case by Mrs. Stonehouse. Miss Bricker was there with her attorney to look after her interests in the controversy.

TANGLED TALE

Intermingled in the Nevada divorce decree snarl was a horse-whipping incident wherein Mrs. Stonehouse flourished the lash and Stonehouse bore the brunt; a perjury case against the circus owner, also an action under the Mann Act against him.

At the hearing Stonehouse is represented by Attorney Ward Chapman, his wife by Frank P. Doherty, and Miss Bricker by John S. Fraser.

Stonehouse married Dolly Stonehouse in 1900. In 1920 he filed a suit for divorce in Los Angeles and the decree was denied. Then followed a perjury charge which was dismissed. The charge was brought by Sarah Jane Hardigan. Then the Mann Act charge was brought against him for bringing Miss Hardigan into California. In 1921 he went to Nevada and divorced Dolly Stonehouse. At once he married Miss Hardigan and then divorced her a year later, again in Nevada.

The attorneys, after explaining this situation yesterday to Judge Dooling, then raised the following questions:

BURNING QUESTIONS

If the Sarah Jane Stonehouse divorce in 1922 is legal.

It was pointed out that if the first divorce in Nevada was not legal, then the second Mrs. Stonehouse never was legally married to the circus man. Also, that if the first was legal then the second also is legal, and the case cannot be tried again.

The plaintiff contends that no matter what happens, Mrs. Stonehouse No. 2 was married legally to Stonehouse and divorced illegally in Nevada.

Judge Dooling will decide the matter today after hearing testimony concerning the divorces, marriages and residences of the litigants.

Stonehouse was the first witness called yesterday in the effort of the court and attorneys to clear up the snarl around the Nevada decrees.

RELATES FLOGGING

Almost immediately he began telling of a time when Sarah Jane Stonehouse horsewhipped him at St. Louis at the circus before a large concourse of people. This was in 1922, he said.

"I had to climb up into a wagon to get away from her," Stonehouse asserted. "I knew that if I tried to stop her she would kill me."

Mrs. Stonehouse was formerly the star equestrienne in his circus. She asserts that the community property is valued at $2,500,000, consisting of the circus and stock in various enterprises. She asks for an allowance of $2500 a month and $50,000 attorney fees.

Attorneys for Stonehouse declare the community property value is greatly overestimated.

ORCHESTRA CLASSES SOON

Orchestra classes will be held at the Los Angeles High School Monday and Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. The classes will be under the direction of N. L. Ridderhof, who said yesterday that he needs cornet horn, 'cello, bass and drum players. The orchestra furnishes the 'cello and bass instruments, drums, bells and tympani.

TWO WOMEN LOSE LIVES ON STREETS

Both Killed Instantly When Struck by Autos; Police Detain Drivers

Two women were killed by automobiles late yesterday. Mrs. Jean M. Berry, 27 years of age, of 166 East Thirty-sixth street, was struck at Vermont avenue and Thirty-sixth street by a car driven by Harry A. Davis, 22, of 2816 Ellendale Place. She was killed instantly. Davis was held at the University police station on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter.

Mrs. Emma Eberhardt, 50, of 1935 Hill Drive, while crossing at Maywood avenue and Colorado street was killed instantly by a car. D. F. Mahoney of 7423 Sunset Boulevard, the driver, was held by the Highland Park police for investigation.

Trial Deputy of City Prosecutor Resigns Office

John M. Concannon, chief trial deputy in the City Prosecutor's office, yesterday submitted his resignation to City Prosecutor Nix, shortly after the latter formally assumed office. Concannon, who has been connected with the prosecutor's office since June, 1919, intends to take a vacation of several months and then enter private practice here, he said.

Concannon has been chief trial deputy since August, 1923. He is a native Angeleno, a graduate of Polytechnic High School and of Santa Clara College, from which he obtained his law degree.

City Prosecutor Nix, it is understood, will accept the resignation. He declared yesterday that he would make no great changes in the policy established by his predecessor, Municipal Judge Lickley, and that virtually all deputies in the office would be retained.

Assistant City Prosecutor Krowl yesterday declared that he has not resigned and that he has no present intention of doing so.

WOMEN TO LEARN BANKING

A ten weeks' course in practical banking for women was announced yesterday by the extension division of the University of California, to be held on Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to noon, beginning tomorrow. The class is under the supervision of Miss Grace S. Stoermer, director of the women's banking department of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association. This is the third year a class of this kind has been sponsored by the University of California under the direction of Miss Stoermer.

SPONSOR OF EDUCATIONAL TOURS FOR BOYS VISITOR HERE

George E. Buchanan, Detroit millionaire bachelor and philanthropist, believes that travel is the best means means of education. He believes this of education. He believes a travel tour which takes 150 American and Canadian boys all over Alaska every year.

His purpose and plan were explained yesterday at the Biltmore, where he is a guest for a few days pending his departure for San Francisco. There he will meet an Australian philanthropist, who has a similar plan and is bringing 150 boys to the United States for a visit.

"Every boy should earn, travel and learn," the philanthropist said. "When I was a poor boy I wanted to travel but could not save enough money to go to Europe. A shipmaster helped me and I toured the continent. On that trip I learned the principles which made my later business life a success.

"I have always remembered that experience and now that I have money and time I have found it absorbingly interesting to assist boys in acquiring the same training.

"Any boy between the ages of 9 and 17 who will earn one-third the cost of the trip to Alaska can go if his parents will contribute another third. I will advance the remainder of the cost with the understanding that the boy pay it back to me when he reaches adult life. The money thus returned to me is placed in a fund to assist other boys in making the trip."

Buchanan himself always accompanies the boys on the trip and takes a physician along to look after their health, he said. Alaska was chosen for the tour because of its natural beauty and because it is free from large centers of population where the boys might acquire bad habits.

CULVER TO START LONG AERIAL TRIP

President-elect of Realty Boards to Visit 650 Cities During Year of Travel

Harry H. Culver, president-elect of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, leaves tomorrow on what is believed to be the longest airplane tour ever planned by a private individual, and probably the longest air tour ever contemplated by the administrative head of a civic organization.

Accompanied by his wife and his pilot, Lieut. Dickson, Mr. Culver will fly to Birmingham, Ala., where he will be installed as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The convention convenes on the 22nd inst. From Birmingham Mr. Culver and his party will fly to New Orleans, where they will take a steamer for Havana and the Canal Zone for a short vacation.

Returning, Mrs. Culver will entrain for her home in Culver City, while Mr. Culver will begin his tour of 650 cities in the United States as a speaker under the auspices of the real estate boards and other community building organizations. In order to permit of this, it was explained yesterday, the year has been divided into five parts, or five separate tours, although on this first trip Mr. Culver will fly as far north as Washington for the inauguration of President-elect Hoover on March 4, and as far southwest as Corpus Christi, Tex., from which point he will fly to Mexico City.

From Mexico City Mr. Culver will return to California and in the seventeen days following his return he is scheduled to deliver addresses to thirty-five organizations in this State, returning to Los Angeles on April 10. The second of the five tours will begin soon after his return.

NEW PAVING BID METHOD SUGGESTED

Randall Thinks Council Can Obtain Competition in Street Projects

Another resolution recommending a means of obtaining competitive bidding between different types of paving for street improvement projects was introduced in the City Council yesterday by Councilman Randall.

A week ago Councilman Colden introduced a resolution recommending that the State Legislature be asked to amend the improvement acts to permit competitive bidding among different types of paving material. Councilman Randall's resolution, which was referred to the Public Works Committee, asserts this objective can be attained by the Council without any amendment of the improvement acts.

Under the procedure outlined in Randall's resolution, in every street-improvement project involving paving, the Council would direct the City Engineer and the City Attorney to present, simultaneously, two ordinances, one of them specifying cement concrete pavement and the other asphaltic concrete pavement, the specifications in all respects to be identical.

Furthermore, if the Council should approve a petition for any type of patented paving, the engineer and attorney would be directed to present an ordinance specifying the patented paving also.

In the event the separate ordinances are finally adopted, the Board of Public Works would be directed by the Council to receive bids upon the various types and award the contract to the lowest bidder. The proceedings under the ordinances providing for the other types would then be formally abandoned by the Council.

STEEL INNOVATIONS SLOW

Metal Men Hear of Ten-Year Search for Just One New Variety for Oil Well Use

A story of how ten years of experimentation in the metallurgical laboratory had been devoted to production of just one new variety in steel was told informally yesterday to delegates at the Western Metal Congress in Shrine Auritorium, where a great array of metallurgically scientific instruments and machines is on display.

H. A. Pardee of Syracuse, N. Y., declared that arrival of high-temperature requirements for metals in the oil field prompted the long search for a product which would resist scaling propensities and rust, especially when heated to the high point of 1700 or more degrees, Fahrenheit.

SEARCH SUCCEEDS

"Chemicals, oils and alkalis seem to have waged war on oil-field equipment from the start," Pardee said. "The metallurgical laboratory with which I am connected detailed experts repeatedly to take up the work of combatting these influences, where others left off. Only recently has a new alloy, specially heat treated, been evolved, which gives us assurance that the search is over."

Steel of high tensile strength and high ductility, thereby obviating brittleness, be described as another new discovery. It is obtained, according to Pardee, by an alloy of chrome molybdenum and chrome nickel.

Nelson B. Nelson, Chicago engineer, forecast use of ball bearings on almost everything from rail trains to the dining-room table. Cheaper transportation looms thereby, he said, coupled with great facility. Brake makers, however, will profit, he added, for even the dining table and grandfather's cozy chair must be equipped with appliances to prevent rolling when motion isn't wanted.

SENSITIVE CELL

A huge machine, making six-inch pipe at the rate of 1500 feet a day by an electric welding process, held considerable attention of the delegates. It was demonstrated by Oliver P. Stewart, 2440 East Fifteenth street.

One of the apparently miraculous displays at the congress is a photo-electric cell so sensitive it turned on and off the switch of an electric motor, merely from the influence of a shadow. The shadow of a pencil or a human hand served equally well to set the motor in motion, and when the shadow was removed the motor slowed to a stop.

Registration mounted greatly yesterday with more than 2500 names recorded, according to C. A. Stiles, registration chairman.

Delegates today will hear programs arranged by the California division of the American Petroleum Institute and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. The programs tomorrow are to be sponsored by the Pacific Gas Association and the Pacific Coast Electrical Association.

Industrial plants in and around Los Angeles claimed the attention of hundreds of delegates yesterday. One thing particularly elicited comment on such trips of visitation, the newness and modernity of the machines and methods employed in the plants.

DELEGATES TO SEE VAIL FIELD EQUIPMENT

Next Friday morning delegates to the western metal congress, in session here, will pay a visit to Vail Field as a part of their program of inspection trips. They will be guests of Western Air Express. Hal Shields, general passenger agent of the transport company, will be guide and lecturer.

Demonstration, consisting of a wing overhaul job on one of the Fokker monoplanes, will be put on for the benefit of the visitors, who also will be taken through the machine shops, hangars and passenger station. Shields will give a lecture on the meteorological service maintained at the field for the benefit of all aviators.

That Your Kidneys Are Equally Important

If the function of the kidneys is not properly performed, poisons are retained in the system and cause harm. Also the complexion becomes muddy.

If your kidneys are deranged, Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets should be taken. They are a mild corrective diuretic to the kidneys and will help to flush out body poisons. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice.

One who has used Anuric says: "I do not think there is anything as good for the kidneys as Dr. Pierce's Anuric. I took just four boxes of the tablets and my kidneys are normal and I have had no more trouble since taking them."—Mrs. Effie Ashley, 1020 Truxtun St., Bakersfield, Calif.
